BANK MANAGER FOILS ROBBERS' ATTEMPT

New Money To Reduce Canada's Debt Advocated

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Addressing Commons, Suggests $430,000,000 Be Issued; Challenges Government on Measures to End Unemployment

His Motion Brings On Test Division

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Retirement of a large block of Canada's national debt by a gigantic issue of new money to the possible extent of $430,000,000 is a suggestion before the House of Commons to-day, advanced by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal member for Vancouver Centre. Leading off an opposition attack on the government on the score of its alleged failure to deal with unemployment, Mr. Mackenzie yesterday evening threw out a series of suggestions which he believed might lead Canada out of its economic difficulties.

Several more speakers will likely participate in the debate, which may prove one of the hottest of the session.

SAYS POLICY LACKING

In advancing his proposals, Mr. Mackenzie said he spoke for himself and not necessarily for his party, but he did profess to speak for his party when he denounced Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and his ministers for failure to elaborate a satisfactory policy on unemployment. Mr. Mackenzie was supported by Ross W. Gray, Liberal, West Lambton, Ont., who ascribed the sweatshop conditions revealed by the mass buying inquiry to the government's high tariff policy.

Sir George Perley, veteran parliamentarian, who was leading the government at the time, in the absence of Premier Bennett because of a slight illness, said the Liberal spokesman had told the same old story the Liberals had been telling for years.

MACKENZIE'S MOTION

Mr. Mackenzie launched his attack by way of an amendment to the government motion to go into committee of supply. His move was, in effect, a motion of want of confidence.

Death Sentence Given In Ontario

Judge Sets May 2 For the Execution of Harold W. Vermilyea

Canadian Press

Belleville, Ont., Feb. 26.—Harold W. Vermilyea, convicted of the murder of his mother, Mrs. Aurelia Vermilyea, to-day was sentenced by Mr. Justice Nicol Jeffrey to be hanged May 2.

The stoical calm and unconcern that had marked Vermilyea's bearing throughout ten days of the trial wavered when he stood before the judge this forenoon. While sentence was being pronounced the prisoner's usual slight pallor became ashen. He rubbed his hands nervously together and shifted them from pocket to pocket. At the end of the sentence he turned quickly, grabbed the air cushion he had used throughout the long trial, and was taken under close guard quickly to his cell.

NO INSANITY VERDICT

The assize court jury yesterday evening brought in its verdict of guilty after 4 hours and 31 minutes' deliberation. The verdict disregarded the defence plea of insanity at the time of the slaying of seventy-nine-year-old Mrs. Aurelia Vermilyea last October 4. There was no recommendation of mercy for the former Ontario, California, fruit exchange employee.

Toronto Man Wounded But Two Bandits Flee Without Loot From Bank

B. B. Vale, Imperial Branch Manager, Refuses to Throw Hands Up and Is Shot in Hand and Thigh

Police Seek To Trace Motorcar

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Basil B. Vale, bank manager, was shot in the thigh and hand to-day when he frustrated an attempt to hold up the Pape and Sammo Avenues branch of the Imperial Bank in the eastern section of Toronto, just outside the city limits.

Two men who attempted the hold-up made their escape in a black sedan, traveling towards downtown Toronto.

The men entered the bank and ordered: "Hands up." Manager Vale made a sudden motion and was fired on by both men, who then fled.

Mr. Vale took the license number of the car, but a check showed the numbers probably had been changed.

Mr. Vale's injuries were not serious. He was treated by a physician at the bank and later taken to a hospital.

RUTH SIGNS WITH BRAVES

New York, Feb. 26—Babe Ruth, for twenty-one years brightest star of the American League, to-day was given his release by New York Yankees and immediately signed a three-year contract with Boston Braves of the rival National League as vice-president and assistant manager.

M'GEER ASKS COMMISSIONER

Vancouver Should Not Go Under Sheriff If It Defaults, Says Mayor

Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., of Vancouver, told the private bills committee of the Legislature this morning that "the time has come for a receivership" in Vancouver.

Mayor McGeer proposed the Vancouver charter should be amended to provide that the provincial government could appoint a commissioner in the event of bondholders suing for non-payment of interest.

At the present time Vancouver does not come under the general provisions of the Municipal Act and should the bondholders apply to the courts if interest is not paid, it would mean putting in the sheriff, who could exact a tax levy to pay the interest.

"Should this take place, it means we will be in the hands of the receivers and in a condition of chaos by the end of the year," Mayor McGeer declared.

The Vancouver mayor also applied for power to cut the interest on the entire civic debt to 5 per cent and the right to suspend sinking fund instalments for five years at least.

He delivered a ultimatum that he would not be a party to passing sinking funds without authority. This amounted to misappropriation and fraud, for which members of the council could be held personally liable, he declared.

"That law must be changed. You're not going to put me in jail," he said.

"If the law is not changed, we are going to set aside the funds and when our money is gone, we will just shut up shop," he added.

Mayor McGeer cited a long list of figures to show the decline in property values, the inability to meet payments and in other words, the city's "complete bankruptcy."

He explained that Thomas Bradshaw, eastern financial expert, is now surveying Vancouver's finances, and hoped Mr. Bradshaw's report would be available for the committee in time for its next meeting.

VANCOUVER TO BE SUED BY TWO

Ex-clerk and Ex-city Solicitor Want Court Ruling on Dismissals

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Charles Jones and J. B. Williams, dismissed as city clerk and city solicitor of Vancouver respectively, will sue the city, alleging wrongful dismissal and demanding repayment of their salaries for February and March, they said to-day.

The city council yesterday failed to give the necessary two-thirds majority to a resolution calling for an investigation of the case by a commission of inquiry headed by a Supreme Court judge.

"Of course I shall sue," Mr. Williams said. "I intend to show there was no just reason for my dismissal."

"I certainly propose to pursue the course of action suggested to me by my solicitor in clearing myself of unjust implications and obtaining the proper redress," Mr. Jones said.

Asked if that statement was tantamount to an intention to sue," he said "Yes."

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—The city council yesterday rejected a request that the recent dismissals of City Clerk Charles Jones and City Solicitor J. B. Williams be investigated by a Supreme Court judge.

Presbytery Arises Against Beer, Wine

Vigorous Opposition to Any Legislation Which Would Permit Consumption in Hotels and Restaurants; Legislators to Be Handed Resolution

Any attempt to introduce legislation which would provide for the serving of beer and light wines in restaurants and hotels of British Columbia will be vigorously protested, it was decided at the opening session of the Victoria Presbytery of the United Church in the Metropolitan United schoolrooms.

The subject was introduced by Rev. Dr. G. B. Switzer, Oak Bay United Church, in presenting the report of the committee on evangelism and social service and brought several speakers to their feet strongly supporting the resolution which Dr. Switzer presented.

The Presbytery protest will be forwarded immediately to all members of the Legislature and it is planned that next Sunday all ministers of the Presbytery will preach on the evils of such a move, basing their sermons on material to be furnished from Presbytery headquarters.

W. T. Straith said the chief argument in favor of beer and light wines was that it should be supplied with meals for tourists. He had recently returned from a trip to California and while on the boat he had a wine card at his table for all meals except breakfast.

DO NOT NEED LIQUOR

With the exception of New Year's Eve, Mr. Straith said he had seen no one make use of the wine card and this he used to substantiate his contention that the tourists did not need liquor supplied to any greater extent than at present.

The greatest pressure to have this measure introduced was being brought to bear from interests directly interested in revenue from the sale of liquor, Mr. Straith continued. It was the Victoria brewers, he said, who were active in attempting to bring about the change in the law.

Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, First United Church, stated the government was now throwing out "feelers" in an attempt to find how public opinion

SIMON MAY VISIT MOSCOW

Russians Invite British Foreign Secretary, Who Is to Visit Berlin

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 26.—The likelihood of a visit by British diplomats to Moscow loomed larger to-day while plans went forward for Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, to discuss European security proposals with Chancellor Adolf Hitler in Berlin next month.

The Havas agency said it had learned authoritatively that Russia had invited Sir John to Moscow in order to discuss the future of the Anglo-French security plans. The invitation was said to have suggested a "full diplomatic mission to discuss with the Soviet government at Moscow the issues arising in the Anglo-French proposals."

The Foreign Secretary, in announcing to the House of Commons yesterday his forthcoming trip to Berlin, said Germany had expressed willingness to discuss all the points mentioned in the Anglo-French communique of February 3.

Canadian Press from Havas

Berlin, Feb. 26.—German political circles were jubilant to-day at London reports that Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, and Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, will visit Berlin to confer on the Anglo-French peace plan.

The Berliner Tageblatt said: "It is considered in Berlin that contact between the leaders of Great Britain's foreign policy and German statesmen, especially the Chancellor (Adolf Hitler), will not only benefit German-British relations but also will pave the way for a general solution of the problems set forth in the London communique."

The Hamburger Fremdenblatt said: "It would be impossible to over-estimate the importance of this visit. For the first time in a long while the Reich capital will hail within her walls, in the person of Sir John Simon, a British Foreign Secretary. Sir John's statement certainly is partly explained by a desire for a personal meeting with the Chancellor, who is responsible for Germany's destiny."

ITALIAN QUOTAS ARE PROTESTED

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 26. — The British ambassador at Rome was instructed to-day to make representations to the Italian government against injustice to the United Kingdom and Dominion traders of new Italian quota regulations.

The representations will include the question of contracts for goods that were not shipped when the new quotas were imposed.

Associated Press

Rome, Feb. 26.—Three liners churned through the storm-lashed Mediterranean Sea to-day conveying Italian troops and equipment to East Africa.

Telegraphic advices from Massaua, Eritrea, said the St. Gangs had arrived with two battalions of blackshirts who embarked at Naples February 18. Their arrival brought to about 3,000 the troops already landed in East Africa as a result of the strained Italo-Ethiopian relations.

King Journeys To South Coast

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Feb. 26.—Despite inclement weather in some areas, bright touches of spring were seen here and there in the south as the King and Queen to-day traveled from London to Eastbourne, on the south coast, by motor car.

They are to spend some weeks on holiday at Compton Place, the residence of the Duke of Devonshire, former Governor-General of Canada, resting up for the arduous programme in connection with the King's silver jubilee opening in May.

In obedience to His Majesty's request, there was no official reception. Eastbourne was determined to do its best to ensure the royal visitors all possible privacy. The King will continue to transact business of state while there and may receive a few official visitors. The Queen will return to London on occasion to fulfill a variety of engagements.

MAYORS TO HEAR PRINCE OF WALES

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 26.—More than 850 lord mayors, provosts and other civic chiefs of the United Kingdom have responded to the invitation of the Prince of Wales to meet him at St. James Palace next Friday, when he will reveal his scheme for a national thankoffering in connection with the King's silver jubilee.

Practically the only absentees are a few provosts in the more remote districts in the far north of Scotland who find the distance to London an insuperable obstacle.

The Prince is expected to return from the continent on Wednesday.

TRIBUTE PAID TO CANADIAN ACTOR

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 26.—George M. Cohan, who has written dozens of plays, owned theatres, barnstormed and stood Broadway on its ear, to-day said he believed Walter Houston, a Torontonian, is the finest actor in America.

Mr. Cohan, appearing here in Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness," has himself been nominated by critics for that honor; but without reservation, in an interview, he said the distinction belongs to Mr. Houston, currently appearing in "Dodsworth," dramatization of the novel by Sinclair Lewis.

Helen Hayes, he said, was the best of all American actresses.

Changes In Insurance Rules Are Discussed

Added Protection For Policy Holders Proposed By G. G. Coote Debated By Commons Banking Committee

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Amendments to the insurance statutes introduced by G. G. Coote, U.F.A., MacLeod, were taken up to-day by the House banking and commerce committee.

Mr. Coote's bills were aimed at protecting life policy holders from losing their equity when unable to meet premiums when due, and to fix 4 per cent as the maximum interest rate companies may charge policyholders on loans and overdue premiums.

Mr. Coote would have it statutory that until the cash surrender value became exhausted a life policy would not lapse because of non-payment of premium. The alternative provision

BURNING PLANE MYSTERY SOLVED

Associated Press

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Feb. 26.—The mystery of a "burning airplane" reported last Friday off Sabae in the Dutch Islands was cleared up to-day by the revelation that planes of a British squadron had been practising bombing near here. Someone apparently saw a bomb explode in mid-air and thought a plane had blown up.

New Control Plan Urged For Companies

B.C. Young Liberals, Meeting in Vancouver, Suggest Government Board to Pass on Financial Changes

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Establishment of a governmental board of control to pass on all changes in financial structure of existing public companies was urged today in a resolution passed by Young Liberals of British Columbia in session here.

Introduced by Roy H. Campbell, chairman of the resolution committee, the resolution also urges legislation to tax excess profits of incorporated companies based on true capital value, and requests establishment of a provincial public utilities board.

The action greed of certain capitalists had resulted in over-capitalization of many Canadian companies and in strangulation of the economic life of the country, Mr. Campbell said. Consolidations had stifled competition and closed many plants, throwing men out of work, he declared.

The preamble refers to a resolution passed by the British Columbia Liberal Association in 1932, favoring appointment of a public utilities commission, and draws the attention of Premier T. D. Pattullo and his cabinet to that resolution.

LAW IN BRITAIN

Alan Chambers of Victoria, in moving an amendment calling for legislation to tax excess profits, above a fair amount computed on a government valuation of the company's capital structure, pointed to the effect of such legislation in England.

Employees had benefited by higher wages rather than directors getting big bonuses, he said. It was not worth while for companies to make big profits under such legislation he said.

THREE HUNTED IN MYSTERY

Young Men Loafed at London Station Where Men's Legs Found

London, Feb. 26.—Three young men who lounged mysteriously in the railroad station at suburban Hounslow to-day entered Scotland Yard's latest dismemberment sensation—the finding of a pair of human legs.

The stationmaster at Hounslow reported that the three men, one of whom was red-haired, lounged in the station and that the red-haired one later entered the Waterloo train.

A bundle of bandages and cotton were found in a carriage sidetracked at Hounslow and were given to the police.

SENTENCE OF DEATH FOR THREE

Bedham, Mass., Feb. 26.—The Millen brothers, Irving and Murton, and Abraham Faber, convicted killers of a Needham, Mass., policeman, were sentenced to-day to die in the electric chair at the Charlestown state prison during the week of April 28.

The sentence was pronounced by Judge Relsen P. Brown, in Norfolk county courthouse, where the three were convicted last summer of slaying Patrolman Forbes McLeod, formerly of Goshen, N.S., during the robbery of the Needham Trust Company.

The killing was done on February 2, 1934, as the officer responded to an alarm set off during the robbery of the bank. The trio escaped with about $14,000 in bank funds. As they drove out of Needham they shot and killed a second policeman who sought to halt their speeding automobile, and wounded a Needham fireman.

B.N.A. Act Changes Studied At Ottawa

Committee of Commons Hears Deputy Minister of Justice Say Dominion Already Has Desired Powers

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26—In matters considered national in scope, parliament should legislate and, if the legislation were questioned by any province, it could be referred for decision and interpretation to the courts, W. Stuart Edwards, deputy minister of justice, to-day told the House of Commons committee on the British North America Act.

The Dominion already exercised jurisdiction over national affairs, leaving to the provinces only those matters arising only within their own boundaries, he said.

While it was true the provinces were competent to legislate on property and civil rights, it had to be remembered they did not enjoy the exclusive right to do so, particularly where these were national in scope, he added.

Ottawa, Feb. 26—Members of the special House of Commons committee assigned to study the British North America Act with a view to agreeing

Hauptmann Appeal Fund Is $7,500

Associated Press

Trenton, N.J., Feb. 26. — Bruno Hauptmann's counsel began to-day the preparation of reasons for asking the New Jersey Court of Appeals for a reversal of his conviction in the Lindbergh kidnap murder case.

The appeal is being perfected from a complete copy of the trial record obtained late yesterday from the attorney-general's office.

Hauptmann, confined to the death house in the New Jersey state prison, was cheered by word from C. Lloyd Fisher, one of his attorneys, that about $7,500 had been pledged for his defence fund.

Statement Soon On Lumber Contract

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 26.—The 1935 contract for sale of Russian timber once again was the subject of questions in the House of Commons this afternoon. Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, parried numerous queries with the reply that although he would make a statement at the earliest possible moment, he was not yet able to do so. The board now has the contract under consideration along with a protest from Canada.

DR. TELFORD AT NANAIMO

C.C.F. Members Says Burden of Supporting Insurance Falls on Worker

Nanaimo, Feb. 25.—Dr. Lyle Telford, addressing a meeting of 1,500 in the Pygmy pavilion here, assailed the policies of the Bennett and Pattullo governments. Dealing with Mr. Bennett's unemployment insurance scheme, he said the burden of supporting it would fall upon the worker, who would have to pay increased prices for the necessities of life.

Dr. Telford said the reason they could not sell coal was because the coal companies wanted too big a price for the product to pay interest to bondholders on watered stock.

The best marketing act that Mr. Bennett could pass, he said, would be to put purchasing power in the hands of the workers.

J. F. Taylor, C.C.F. candidate for the Nanaimo federal riding, assured his hearers that they had nothing to fear from Socialism, and the socialisation included in the C.C.F. manifesto could only be brought about by the application of the workers' intelligence.

on amendments which would vest greater power in the Dominion Government met to-day. At a previous organization meeting F. W. Turnbull, K.C., (Conservative, Regina) had been elected chairman.

W. Stuart Edwards, Deputy Minister of Justice, was the first witness. The resolution of the House was in somewhat narrow terms, he said. It set forth the committee should examine how the act might be amended so that while safeguarding racial and religious minorities and provincial autonomy, it might give the Dominion greater power to deal with urgent economic problems of national scope.

POWER EXISTS, HE SAYS

He believed the act contained such power now. The Fathers of Confederation had framed it to ensure that residuary authority to deal with national matters rested with the Dominion.

Matters of purely personal provincial concern came within competence of the provinces. While property and civil rights were within the jurisdiction of the provinces, the Fathers of Confederation had been careful to say that was so only as relating to property and civil rights within the provinces.

Throughout Confederation both Dominion and provinces had proceeded on the principle that anything not essentially provincial came within the competence of the Dominion. In seeking amendments to the act this assumption had always been acted on. Anything relating to peace, order and good government was in the jurisdiction of the Dominion.

POSSIBLE INVASION

Henri Bourassa, Independent, Labelle, Que., suggested this might be abused and that in legislating on peace, order and good government the rights of the provinces might be infringed.

Mr. Edwards declared Parliament would not so act without first consulting the provinces.

"Would not, or should not?" interposed Mr. Bourassa.

"Would not."

Mr. Edwards did not think that in matters relating to all provinces opposition from some would mean they were not entitled to a separate voice in London or Ottawa—or wherever the constitution was being amended.

APPEALS TO LONDON

He believed the Privy Council in London should continue as last court of appeal on matters in conflict between the Dominion and provinces, bearing in mind the Dominion had the same right of amendment that existed now.

Whether a matter was national in scope could always be left for the courts to determine. Parliament should act on the assumption that such matters as might come within the scope of peace, order and good government were within its competence, and so legislate. If this was opposed, the courts could decide.

D. J. Cowan (Conservative, Port Arthur, Ont.,) declared he was not in favor of courts adjudicating anything of economic or political import.

They would decide the question on facts, said Mr. Edwards, and would not base their interpretation on grounds of political expediency but on those of law. The Privy Council would interpret the B.N.A. Act in the light of present conditions and not of those in 1867.

DUAL JURISDICTION

The question of dual jurisdiction between the Dominion and provinces was a common one that had arisen in the past.

Mr. Ewards discussed the opinion that to have the constitution in its present form was a denial of Canada's status as a sovereign nation. He agreed with the view of Hon. Ernest Lapointe, voiced in 1931, that retention of authority in London to amend the Canadian constitution had been made at the specific request of Canada. Any amendment desired by Canada would be granted because Canada was a sovereign nation and not in spite of that fact.

He believed those dominions having the constitutional right to amend their constitutions did not enjoy any particular advantage. On the other hand, in view of the complexities involved, this right, as shown by experience, was rather a burden.

TRANSPORTATION

Chairman Turnbull raised the point of transportation. This was within the Dominion's jurisdiction. Railways, except those operating exclusively within a province, were under the federal government, but trucking was not. It was now a question whether in view of the interprovincial character of highway transportation this should not also come under the Dominion, particularly since trucking competed directly with railways.

James S. Woodsworth, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation leader, said he would like to hear suggestions from Mr. Edwards on how the B.N.A. Act should be amended. Parliament had debated by resolution that this should be the committee's work.

Mr. Edwards said the committee would have to make an exhaustive survey on general conditions and opinion in the provinces. It would have to decide the basis on which any representations for the right to amend the constitution should be argued. It might be by a vote of two-thirds of the entire population or by a majority vote of the provinces. In any case, that would have to be decided before any action could be taken.

The committee adjourned to meet again at the call of the chair.

spectators many women sat and knitted patiently.

Vermilyea entered the courtroom in a neatly-pressed brown suit. His closecut iron-grey hair was slicked down. He appeared more composed than the three powerful police guards who had hurried him through the corridors.

Before passing sentence, Mr. Justice Jeffrey said:

"Vermilyea, after a fair trial and a long consideration of your case by the jury, they have found you guilty. It would serve no good purpose for me to say anything to you about the nature of the act which you committed. If at the present time you feel no remorse for the commission of the crime, no words of mine can make you appreciate it. I do earnestly beseech you to seek the consolation that your religion affords you.

"It was developed in evidence that you were a good father. You cared for your children and looked after their spiritual welfare. You can ask forgiveness for your sins and forgiveness will not be denied you."

After the jury had brought in its verdict shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday evening, he whistled as he was reutrned to his cell.

SLEPT WELL

The prisoner spent the night in unbroken sleep. At 7 o'clock this morning he breakfasted heartily on the prison fare, milk, porridge and bread.

As a precautionary measure an extra guard has been placed in Vermilyea's cell.

Refusing to avail himself of any spiritual assistance offered by Belleville clergy, Vermilyea during the last few days has chatted freely with Adjutant A. W. Martin of the Salvation Army. The adjutant was seated close to the prisoner throughout the trial.

When the jury filed out yesterday afternoon Vermilyea was returned to his cell to await the verdict.

"What do you think I'll get?" he asked a guard.

"Oh, possibly the padded cell."

"I don't want it," said Vermilyea.

Vermilyea's brothers, Arthur and Clarence, expressed their opinion he had received a fair trial.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Montreal, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press)—Judge Amedee Monet yesterday ordered Clarence A. Fairchild, stock broker, to stand trial before the Court of King's Bench on charges of conspiracy to defraud the public of $350,000 through "rigging the market" on Bathurst Gold Mines shares. Bail of $15,000 was continued pending trial.

New Money to Cut Canada's Debt Advocated

His motion read:

"This House regrets that, notwithstanding the specific promises made prior to the election of 1930, and many times since reiterated, and despite the fact that extraordinary powers to deal with unemployment have been repeatedly secured from Parliament, the present administration, after nearly five years of office, has not yet submitted to Parliament any definite or effective policy to deal with the widespread actual unemployment or distress which continues to be Canada's most urgent national problem."

MANY ON RELIEF

Figures supplied by the government showed a total of 1,307,545 persons were receiving relief in Canada, said Mr. Mackenzie. This alone was such an appalling situation as to justify him in starting a discussion in the House.

"They have no policy whatever as a government for dealing with the problem of 1,307,545 people on relief in this country," said the member, pointing at the government benches. He said Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, had admitted the government's policy for the next year would be based "largely" on requests for aid from the provinces. This was no policy for a national government at the present time. It was charged with responsibility and should lead, not follow, the provinces.

TRADE RESTRICTIONS

It was agreed, said Mr. Mackenzie, that the unprecedented increase in unemployment in recent years was due to artificial restrictions on international trade by means of tariffs, quotas and other methods. The worst offender in this respect was the Conservative Party of Canada with its narrow, vicious, uneconomical policy of "Canada first."

Quotas, embargoes, subsidies, manipulation of exchange rates—all were practiced by the government to the detriment of Canada, continued the Vancouver Liberal. "The government sowed the wind and the Canadian people are reaping the whirlwind."

GUARANTEES GIVEN

In the last five years, said Mr. Mackenzie, the government made guarantees to banks, raised tariffs and increased the strength of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, but had not solved unemployment.

The Vancouver Liberal claimed the government had spent $400,000,000 in five years and, despite this, the numbers of persons drawing relief had increased sixfold.

Unemployment insurance, direct doles and construction programmes were acceptable, but other policies were required, continued Mr. Mackenzie. "The main thing is that new employment and new purchasing power can be created by encouraging business enterprise in an expansion of production and distribution of goods and services.

NEW BASIS

"Business itself must be willing to outlaw those forms of competition which are socially destructive and it must give due share to labor, the consumer and capital," he said. "It must be content with business profits and not search unduly after illusory and unsocial gains. It must be willing to endure the minimum of government control which the general interest requires. In short, there must be a new partnership for the sake of the common man. Business and politics must form that new partnership. The government needs the assistance of constructive business and I think business needs the guidance and co-operation of governments, not bludgeoning, dragooning, conscripting, but in a real alliance, responsive to the promptings of social conscience."

WRONG KIND

Ross W. Gray, Liberal, Lambton West, Ont., said everyone admitted Mr. Bennett had courage, but it was like the courage of a bull moose which charged a locomotive. It was not accompanied by judgment.

In 1930, said Mr. Gray, Conservatives placed their trust in high tariffs. They had voted $30,000,000 for unemployment relief as a smoke screen for high tariffs. Instead of providing more employment, the tariffs had given rise to the sweatshop conditions which had been revealed in the inquiry into price spreads and mass buying.

Mr. Gray had not finished his speech when the House adjourned.

WOULD SHELVE OTHER QUESTIONS

Saying more than one for every ten persons in the country was receiving direct relief, the British Columbia Liberal demanded the government show some action in presenting a definite policy.

"We are prepared," promised Mr. Mackenzie, referring to the Liberals, "to shelve all other questions which are before this House or may be presented, to discuss this emergent condition."

He claimed none of the government's bills would relieve the distress of any unemployed man.

OFFERS SUGGESTIONS

Mr. Mackenzie outlined several proposals of his own to remedy conditions. Among them was the suggestion to inflate the currency by $430,000,000 to be applied to the national debt; a national conversion loan to bring down to 2½ per cent all Dominion obligations; a census of the unemployed, public works on a limited scale and a balanced budget and land settlement.

SIR G. PERLEY SPEAKS

Sir George Perley, acting as government leader, offered congratulations to "this Lochinvar from the west who has come here as the new leader of the Liberal party."

"I say and I claim," said Sir George, "that this country has come through the depression better than any other country in the world."

The government had not been idle, he said. It had taken steps to deal with unemployment.

The Liberals suggested a national commission, but he could not see how such a commission could operate except through the local authorities. Relief was a matter for the provincial and municipal authorities, and when the federal government offered to take over and administer the drought area in Saskatchewan the provincial government had refused. If the Liberals wanted a national commission they should first sell the idea to the provinces.

NEW BILLS

The government already had presented some reform legislation to Parliament, said Sir George. More would follow, because the administration was alive to conditions and determined to set them right.

He believed there was no member of the House who did not admire Mr. Bennett's courage in grappling with the economic problems and difficulties which confronted the government.

The government could not accept the Mackenzie motion, said Sir George, as it was not based on facts, and he asked the House to reject it.

AUSTRIANS SAY GAINS MADE

Associated Press

London, Feb. 26.—"We are going away entirely satisfied with Great Britain's attitude," declared Austrian Foreign Minister Egon Berger-Waldenegg as the Anglo-Austrian conversations neared their end to-day. The Austrian delegation left for home at 4.50 p.m.

The Foreign Minister ended speculation on the exact subject matter of the talks by declaring "discussion of the Rome proposals occupied nearly all our time in London."

He referred also to the proposed pact for maintenance of the integrity of Austria formulated in talks at Rome last year, to which Austria's neighbors are invited to adhere.

Expressing his satisfaction with the British stand, he added, "She desires permanent establishment of a peace in Central Europe as strongly as we do."

He emphatically denied reports that Chancellor Schuschnigg had issued "a warning to Germany to stop the Anschluss talk."

NO CHANGES WITH GERMANY

Berger-Waldenegg declared there had been no exchanges with Germany and insisted reports that Germany had offered Austria a new plan for a separate agreement to end Austro-German difficulties were untrue.

"We can carry on no negotiations with Germany," he said, "until the Rome accords have been completed. After that is done there may be further mutual agreements between Austria and separate neighboring countries. This, of course, means we might then talk with Germany."

NO RESTORATION

Prior to the interview, both Chancellor Schuschnigg and Berger-Waldenegg addressed a press conference at the Austrian legation. The Chancellor disposed of rumors the Hapsburg restoration question had been discussed.

"Journalists like to speak sometimes of the restoration in Austria," he said. "We have pointed out that our main concern lies quite in another direction. One restoration of greater importance to us is the restoration of our economic situation."

Berger-Waldenegg, supporting this declaration, later said: "As both Premier Mussolini of Italy and Premier Julius Gomboes of Hungary oppose the Hapsburg restoration, and as Austria is on the most friendly terms with these statesmen, how could Austria contemplate the restoration?"

Paris, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press from Havas)—The French cabinet to-day approved Foreign Minister Pierre Laval's share in the present reorganization of the peace of Europe.

The recent Franco-Italian accords ceding colonial territory to Italy and establishing the status of Italian nationals in Tunis, were approved and then signed by President Albert Lebrun preparatory to their presentation to Parliament.

VANCOUVER TO BE SUED BY TWO

The members voted 6-4 in favor of acceding to the request, but Mayor G. G. McGeer ruled such action would be equivalent to reopening a decision already made by the council and this would require a two-thirds majority.

Before the council adjourned, Alderman J. J. McRae presented a resolution asking that Mr. Jones be reinstated. It was defeated when it also failed to get the two-thirds majority by a single vote.

The request for an investigation was contained in a letter from R. T. Maitland, K.C., counsel for the dismissed officials.

ELECTION UPSET

Mr. Jones and Mr. Williams were dismissed following the recent aldermanic election in Ward Four, when papers by R. B. Pettipiece were declared out of order. Mr. Pettipiece claimed he was not advised of the error in the papers until too late to do anything about it and he was consequently unable to run for office.

"Both reports of the investigating committee agreed there had been negligence," Mayor McGeer declared. "If we have an inquiry now we are starting an interminable procedure."

"I have been told Mr. Pettipiece was to have run as one of your supporters," Ald. A. G. Harvey said to the mayor, "and that his nomination papers were prepared partially in your office. If this is true, I question whether your worship is sufficiently disinterested to take action."

"I have no interest whatever in Mr. Pettipiece's election," the mayor replied, "except that I am a friend of his and was associated with him when I was a member of the Trades and Labor Council."

B. F. FELL ENDS LIFE AT REGINA

Regina, Feb. 26.—B. F. Fell, well-known Regina restaurant man, was found dead at his home yesterday with a bullet wound from a .38 calibre revolver in his head.

Mr. Fell, who celebrated his sixtieth birthday Saturday, had been in ill health for some time.

Mr. Fell was born in Orc, near Orillia, Ont., in 1876, of United Empire Loyalist stock, and was interested in mining areas of northern Ontario around 1900. He arrived in Vancouver in 1902 and with a party rode the 600 miles to Dawson City on a bicycle in eight days.

He is survived by the widow and seven daughters and one son.

SHIP CAPTAIN LOSES LICENSE

W. F. Warms of Morro Castle Will Not Command Any Other U.S. Vessel

Associated Press

Washington, Feb. 26.—The master's license of Capt. William F. Warms, who was acting captain of the Ward liner Morro Castle when it was destroyed by fire off the New Jersey coast, has been revoked, the United States Commerce Department has been advised by its local inspectors in New Haven, Conn.

Capt. Warms was tried before two United States steamboat inspectors recently in New York in connection with the disaster.

Under the law, he may apply for a chief mate's license at the end of ninety days.

The New Haven inspectors also suspended Eben S. Abbott, Morro Castle chief engineer, formerly of Yarmouth, N.S., for ninety days, beginning February 25, and Antonio R. Bujia, first assistant engineer for thirty days beginning February 25.

At the end of the suspension periods in the latter two cases they automatically regain their papers unless some other action is taken.

NEW PATENT LAW PROPOSED

Senate Committee Hears Suggestions From Goodyear Tire Company Head

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—A new set-up of Canadian patent law administration as a means of abolishing serious difficulties of the present was proposed to-day by C. H. Carlisle, head of the Goodyear Rubber and Tire Company of Canada, before the banking and commerce committee of the Senate. The committee had before it a measure amending the Patent Act.

The patent office, Mr. Carlisle advocated, should be split into two divisions, operating and judiciary. The judiciary division would adjudicate on all patent law suits.

"I see no reason why we should not get as high efficiency from a judiciary in the patent office as the highest court in the land," Mr. Carlisle said.

CLEAR TITLE

Patents issued in Canada should be final and give a torrance, or clear, title as in real property to safeguard the inventor and the hundreds of thousands of dollars spent in developing and manufacturing the invention, he proposed. Only in cases of fraud should patents be subject to review.

Inventors and manufacturers under the present law, said Mr. Carlisle, were always in gravest danger they might be faced with large law suits for damages because of innocent infringement.

Numerous cases existed where the manufacturer had to pay out heavy damages after he had the article on the market for years, he said. There should be an estoppel as to how far back a patentee might go in claiming damages.

"I have never been able to see why the torrance title system should not be introduced into the patent laws," said Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government leader in the Senate.

ELASTICITY SUGGESTED

Some elasticity of authority, continued Mr. Carlisle, should be invested in the patent office so that all patents would not be held down to a maximum life of eighteen years where their merit entitled them to a longer term.

It had taken Thomas Edison, for instance, seventeen years to complete his invention of the incandescent light, he said.

Secretary of State C. H. Cahan said he was willing to have a fair compromise in the bill. There was a great difference, he said, between Canadian and foreign companies holding patents and he felt "commercial manufacture within Canada" and within three years after the date of a patent should be provided.

"Foreign combinations which seek to control our domestic market in Canada should be restricted," said the minister.

The committee was called to meet again later to-day.

Changes In Insurance Rules Are Discussed

would enable the policyholder to take his cash surrender value at once if unable to pay further premiums.

Mr. Coote could see no reason why insurance companies should be permitted to charge higher rates of interest on loans than any other company. He had been charged 8 per cent interest on an insurance loan, he said.

FOR LONG TERMS

John T. Hackett, Conservative, Stanstead, Que., took up the cudgels for insurance companies. They made their contracts for long terms and to legislate a fixed rate of interest to cover their operations might involve them in tremendous losses.

The very class Mr. Coote wished to help might be most hurt if his proposals were adopted. The difference between the amount paid by the insured and benefits the insurance company must be prepared to pay had to be earned. If the interest rate were cut from 6 to 4 per cent he would think, Mr. Hackett said, the benefits might be reduced 33 per cent.

He believed if a provision were put in the act to guarantee non-forfeiture as long as the cash surrender value was sufficient to cover the outstanding premium Parliament would have gone far enough.

LENGTHY LITIGATION

Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., Toronto, represented the Canadian Life Officers' Association which, he said, comprised 97 per cent of the insurance business in Canada. He referred to protracted litigation running back thirty years over the question of Dominion jurisdiction in regulating conduct of a particular business. The Privy Council in London had consistently held this jurisdiction was exclusively that of the provinces.

The life insurance companies represented were anxious to be within Dominion jurisdiction, Mr. Rowell said, believing uniform legislation and regulations with a central authority were in the best interests of all concerned.

Amendments to the act in 1933 had been accepted and welcomed, but to insert these proposed amendments would be to invite litigation, with the likelihood the Privy Council would again find the Dominion act ultra vires. Apart from all other considerations he would oppose the amendments for that reason.

The amendments proposed, apart from that respecting interest, had been in previous acts declared ultra vires, Mr. Rowell said. The very provisions aimed at were substantially contained in practically all insurance policies, he said in reply to questions. It was true of all Canadian companies.

STEAMSHIPS IN TROUBLE AIDED

Several in European Storm-lashed Seas Towed; Word Awaited From Others

Associated Press

London, Feb. 26.—Three ships in distress during the last three days reported to the Land's End wireless station to-day they had reached comparative safety as a storm of vast proportions held others on the Atlantic and Mediterranean in the spell of danger.

The Italian steamship Caterina Madre was reported under tow by the steamer Moedic.

The owners of the Greek steam Eftychia Vergotti reported that vessel being towed toward Brest by a tug.

The British steamer Ottinge arrived yesterday evening at Brest Roads and entered port this morning.

The Greek steamer Adimantios J. Pithis, bound from the Rio Plata to Londonderry, sent a wireless message that she was hove to in a strong gale which had damaged her steering gear. She gave her position as latitude 48.30 north, longitude 11.40 west.

Earlier dispatches told how the 3,248-ton British freighter Bereby had reported its steering gear had been carried away off the coast of Portugal while it was en route from Liverpool to West Africa.

The British steamer Hillcroft, shorn of its propeller, was hove to in the same section awaiting the arrival of rescue craft.

EUROPA AIDED

The 2,190-ton German steamer Europa, which sent out an SOS yesterday evening while off the Spanish coast near Viliand, rolled helplessly in the seas while a tug plodded to its aid. The Danish steamer Svithiod was standing by.

The salvage vessel Seafalfa had the Greek freighter Delphoi in tow and was headed for Corunna, Spain.

Nothing had been heard for several hours from the Italian steamer San Pietro, the Belgian steamer Syrie and the British freighter San Melio.

"Come as near as possible," the San Pietro urged in a wireless message last night to the German steamer Schlesien, which was speeding to its assistance. The United States steamer Liberty was on its way to stand by the Syrie.

MISSING MAN RETURNS HOME

M. H. Gulesian, Ex-millionaire, Back at Newton, Mass.; Amnesia Victim

Associated Press

Newton, Mass, Feb. 26. — Moses H. Gulesian, seventy-one, former millionaire Boston and Newton real estate dealer, missing since last Tuesday, returned safely to his Newton home to-day after being located yesterday evening in the Bowery Mission, New York, where he was given his first shelter on his arrival in this country as an immigrant fifty-two years ago.

Gulesian, whose son-in-law, James L. Beck of Newton, said he was obviously a victim of amnesia, "found himself" after hearing a pianist at the mission play a piece entitled "Washington," composed by his wife.

On regaining his memory, Beck said, Gulesian gave his name to officials of the mission, who got in touch with his wife. A description, furnished by her, definitely established his identity, and he was placed aboard a Boston-bound train. His wife, Mrs. Grace W. Gulesian; his daughter, and his son-in-law, accompanied by U.S. Department of Justice agents, met the train and whisked him away in an automobile to his home.

Beck said his father-in-law was in a weakened condition, had a heavy growth of beard, and was not as tidy in appearance as usual. A physician was called to the Guelesian home to make an examination, but Beck said his condition apparently was not serious.

ROBBED TWICE IN VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Two visits to Vancouver proved expensive for Wah Lee of Victoria, according to his stories to police.

Ten days ago he reported he had been overpowered and robbed of a small sum of money here. On his return to Vancouver from the capital city yesterday he said he was again victimized by thugs, who alighted from an automobile, overpowered him and robbed him of $8.

EMPIRE SERVICE AT CANTERBURY

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 26.—Plans have been announced for a great empire service at Canterbury Cathedral, to which all the dominion premiers visiting London for the King's silver jubilee will be invited.

The festival week this year, beginning June 12, will open with this service, it is said. On that occasion a piece of cathedral stone, carved in the shape of a Canterbury cross, will be dedicated for the chief cathedral, in all parts of the empire.

Reindeer Cross MacKenzie River

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—In the lone white waste of Canada's far north "Tisk" was being written to-day to an odyssey of hardihood and perseverance which began five and a half years ago on the barren slopes of the Alaska coast.

It will end in a few weeks at a Canadian government station on the Arctic Ocean, east of the Mackenzie River. The story centres on the wanderings of a herd of reindeer guided by a few intrepid men.

A brief message from Aklavik on the Mackenzie delta yesterday told Hon. Thomas G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, that the herd had crossed the river with only a few casualties.

Year in and year out the animals purchased by the Canadian government in the fall of 1929 from the Lomen Brothers' Corporation (with headquarters in New York) have plodded through Arctic blizzards and Arctic sunshine on their way from Kotzebue peninsula in western Alaska towards Kittigazuit, east of the Mackenzie Delta, where their descendants are to be fed for the Eskimos.

Violent storms and predatory animals have exacted toll from the herd in its half-decade migration. Originally 3,000 head started out. From year to year there was a natural increase, but as time went on this was counter-balanced by mortality among the animals.

They were trailed relentlessly by wolves; many of the reindeer deserted the herd and took to the free life, caught in swirling migrations of caribou. At one stage hundreds of animals were separated en bloc from the main body and their fate has not been determined.

But the herdsmen, directed by a veteran Laplander, Andrew Bahr (whose home is in Seattle), stuck to their task. Four days ago their efforts were crowned when, having waited for many weary months to attempt the crossing of the Mackenzie River, the last obstacle in their long journey, they guided what was left of their charges safely across the ice and headed them towards their final destination.

Latest estimates are that 2,200 animals have survived, a number that may be increased in the spring when fawns are born.

DENY SHARE IN MURDER PLOT

Canadian Press from Havas

Marseilles, Feb. 26.—Four hours of cross-examination by the head of the Jugoslav secret police in a star chamber hearing yesterday failed to break the bravado of the three Jugoslav terrorists held as accomplices in the assassination here last October 9 of King Alexander of Jugoslavia and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France.

One of the terrorists, Evonimir Poegitshi, even denied his earlier admission that Ante Pavelich, Croat separatist, was the arch-conspirator behind the assassination, as the Jugoslav government has charged. Pavelich is a fugitive in Italy, and the Italian government has refused to allow his extradition to France.

Presbytery Arises Against Beer, Wine

NOT PUBLICIZED

Rev. Dr. Hugh Dobson of Vancouver, strongly denounced the evils of liquor which, he claimed, were not widely enough publicized in the press. Events which recently had taken place in the United States where numerous deaths had been attributed to poison liquor, had passed unheard of in some cities where the press had ignored them, while papers which had used the items had placed them on inside pages.

"Why aren't these things featured in the press? That's news and the press is after news," Dr. Dobson said.

Dr. Switzer was of the opinion that the ministers should lose no time in placing this question before their congregations and urged that next Sunday be set aside as a special day on which the matter should be dealt with from the pulpit. He thought the Presbytery should spare no expense in having information printed for the benefit of its members to use in their sermons.

RESOLUTION PASSES

The following resolution received the unanimous endorsement of the session:

"Whereas, there are rumors current and statements in the public press that an attempt is being made to increase the facilities for sale and consumption of liquor by amending the B.C. Liquor Act to provide for sale of liquor at meals, in hotels, restaurants, cafes, etc.

"And whereas, the facilities for the sale of liquor in the province are now more than adequate, to say the least, and the consumption of liquor is abnormally high compared with other provinces of Canada and increasing even in the midst of our present poverty.

"And whereas, there being large numbers of youths and many thousands of families on relief, the spreading of places for drinking to public eating places would greatly extend the number of drinking places, and the prevalency of drinking, with accompanying enticement to drink and the depletion of the slender resources of many for daily bread, increasing thereby those on relief.

"And whereas, the change in law would result in extending hours of sale, increasing temptation to youth, making necessary the sale and serving of liquor by a multitude of young women who are now waitresses in said eating places, multiplying law breaking, increasing temptation to drink on the part of youth, increasing drunkenness, broken families, traffic accidents, immorality and poverty.

"And whereas, in such proposed amendment to law the question at issue is not prohibition at all, but whether this province of B.C. is to be flooded with liquor and liquor drinking, to the public detriment and for the advantage of those who wish to make money from liquor sale.

"Therefore be it resolved, that this Victoria Presbytery of the United Church hereby most vigorously protests against the passing of such legislation or of making any provisions looking toward increased facilities or increased drinking in public places."

SERIOUS MENACE

The resolution adds: "We believe it would be a serious menace to the social and moral life of our province and especially to our family life and youth."

Other business of this morning's session included the receiving of the statistical report, presented by Rev. E. B. Hetel.

Embodied in the report presented by Dr. Switzer was a commendation to the motion picture industry for improving the quality of entertainment, and a recommendation that the Presbytery do all it could to "protect the public from indecent and repulsive pictures."

AGE PENSIONS PAID TO MANY

In Canada 86,873 Were Receiving Sums Last March, Commons Informed

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Old-age pensions figured in two answers tabled to-day in the House of Commons by Secretary of State C. H. Cahan yesterday.

A total of 86,873 persons were receiving pensions last March 31, he replied to G. G. Coote, U.F.A., Macleod. The total paid to pensioners under this act in the fiscal year 1933-34 amounted to $16,566,116.

In answer to C. E. Ferland, Liberal, Jollette, Que., the minister gave total contributions as at December 31 last of the federal government with respect to western provinces as: Alberta, $3,381,426; British Columbia, $6,071,795; Manitoba, $6,550,037; Saskatchewan, $6,030,814, and Northwest Territories, $7,774.

Total contributions of each of the provinces at December 31 were: Alberta, $1,678,568; British Columbia, $3,397,760; Manitoba, $3,365,112; Saskatchewan, $3,174,685, and Northwest Territories, nil.

The federal government's share of expenditure was increased from 50 to 75 per cent on November 1, 1931, the answer explained, and the total amount of pensions paid in the Northwest Territories was assumed by the Dominion.

Unemployment Totals Given

At Dec. 31 Last 1,182,123 in Canada on Relief, Commons Is Told

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26. — At the end of December 1,182,123 persons in Canada were receiving direct relief, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Secretary of State C. H. Cahan.

Of that number 1,107,223 came within relief plans administered by the Labor Department; 20,157 were in camps administered by the Department of National Defence; 31,454 pensioners of the Great War or their dependents granted relief under the provisions of legislation covering these cases, and 23,187 were under the jurisdiction of the Department of Indian Affairs.

Ontario's relief recipients totaled 360,000, while those of Quebec numbered 327,000. Saskatchewan had the third highest total with 201,700. There were 83,540 in British Columbia.

JOBLESS IN U.S.

Washington, Feb. 26.—An estimate of the number of unemployed in the United States—the first such compilation since President Roosevelt took office—places at 10,830,000 the number out of work in December, 1934.

This disagrees by 500,000 with the conclusion by the American Federation of Labor that 11,330,000 persons were unemployed at that time.

The figure was released yesterday without public comment as part of a report on the operation of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Claims B.C. Is C.C.F. Spearhead

Mrs. D. G. Steeves, M.P.P., Says Socialism Could "Go It Alone" in Province

"We are inclined to try to find a scapegoat for our troubles instead of going to the root of the question—the profit system," declared Mrs. D. G. Steeves, M.P.P., before a capacity audience at the Temperance Hall, Keating, on Saturday. "To-day we have a class owning the natural resources and tools of production. The laboring class owns nothing except its labor power. The worker is not paid sufficient to buy back his product.

"Surplus goods the workers at home could not buy used to be sent to foreign markets. There is hardly a foreign market left. The world market is just as large as the purchasing power of the workers of the world. Capitalism engages in war to protect the system and get foreign markets," she said.

"Every reform will be paid for by the workers double and treble. The state's duty to profit is greater than the state's duty to the workers," Mrs. Steeves asserted. "The New Deal in United States raised prices 20 to 30 per cent, but wages only 7 to 10 per cent. The worker is no better off than before.

"Dr. Weir did not say tax sales are confiscation, but if we took undue profits of exploitation, the minister calls that confiscation," Mrs. Steeves pointed out. "Many mothers entitled to pensions are not getting them, and as many as possible are cut off.

"By producing for use we could produce all the goods our people could use. For the first time we will get satisfaction out of life. Those who say men will not work under Socialism are parasites who do not work now," she said.

"The C.C.F. plan is being drawn up by our planning commission. British Columbia with its progressive masses is the spearhead of the C.C.F. Socialism could work in British Columbia before other provinces adopted it," Mrs. Steeves said. "If Ottawa tried to stop us we could 'go it alone'."

The next meeting in this series will be held at St. Michael's Hall, Royal Oak, shortly.

SAYS CANADA SHOULD HELP

Dominion Should Build Warship, Brigadier Sutherland Brown Says

"The Dominion of Canada could come to the rescue of the Empire by producing a few warships," stated Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, former commanding officer at Work Point Barracks, in an impromptu address at the annual meeting of the Victoria and Island branch of the Navy League of Canada yesterday evening.

"The army of Canada is able to carry along because it is rooted in the soil," Brigadier Brown said. "It is not getting nearly enough, however. But the navy is being starved to death.

"GIANT OCTUPUS"

"Canada has done a wonderful job by maintaining itself during all these years, while that giant octopus of 150,000,000 people to the south has been trying to strangle us. We ought to be proud of ourselves.

"We haven't done enough, however, in defence matters. This talk of hard times and no money is all bunkum. I would rather see them build one good ship and equip it and put good men on it than erect a useless public building, which has no value except to get votes."

Brigadier Brown stated 50 per cent of Canada's population was British born. The French-Canadian population, he said, had no interest in a navy.

"They are very good people if properly led," he stated, referring to the French-Canadian people in the Dominion.

GIRL CLEARED OF MURDER CHARGE

Portland, Ore., Feb. 26.—The county grand jury here yesterday returned a not-true bill, clearing Margaret Beckett, seventeen, of a murder charge which had been filed against her after her stepfather had died from a bullet wound.

The man, Norman Earl Schroeder, engineer for the police harbor patrol, died a week after he had been shot through the back at his home. Police said the girl told them she had shot Schroeder when he attempted to choke her mother. Mrs. Schroeder had fled to her room and had locked herself in. Schroeder was shot as he attempted to crash the door down.

He admitted he was drunk, police said, and refused to sign a complaint against the girl. The district attorney filed the murder charge, however, but the grand jury yesterday refused to entertain it.

TAX STRIKE SUGGESTED

Esquimalt Ratepayers Hold Protest Meeting on Steps of Municipal Hall

A suggestion for the organization of a tax strike in the municipality of Esquimalt, voiced yesterday evening by Councillor T. Harry Hodgson, was loudly acclaimed by a protest meeting of members of the Ratepayers' Association who gathered on the steps of the Municipal Hall following the regular session of the municipal council.

The protest meeting followed the shelving by the Esquimalt Council and School Board of petitions for large cuts in the 1935 estimates of both bodies.

The council yesterday evening approved the setting aside of the petition until the estimates came up for consideration. The school board has taken similar action, and will review the letter at its meeting next Thursday.

"TWICE SNUBBED"

"We have been twice snubbed," said Bishop G. E. Lloyd, president of the Ratepayers' Association, who, standing on the bottom step of the flight at the main entrance to the hall, was virtual chairman of the meeting.

Councillor Hodgson also explained at length two motions which he proposed, seconded by Councillor F. G. Eaton, at yesterday evening's meeting of the council, and which were set aside for consideration at the same time as the estimates. The motions ask the abolition of the position of municipal relief officer and the assumption of his duties by the municipal clerk, and the placing of the municipal engineer on a part-time basis

RENT FOR HALL

Further fuel was added to the ratepayers' indignation by the decision of the council that in future a nominal rent would be charged the association for the use of the Municipal Hall for its regular meetings, to cover cost of lighting, heating and janitor work.

Members of the Ratepayers' Association among an audience of fifty-five who attended the session of the council were reprimanded by Reeve Lockley when they tittered loudly when the motion imposing the fee was carried.

"We'll come down here as usual for our meeting on Wednesday, March 20," Bishop Lloyd told the members at the protest meeting outside the hall, "and if they turn us out we'll move in the street. If they chase us from there we'll go into one of those lots across the way."

VOTING ON MOTIONS

When the petition from the ratepayers' association came before the council yesterday evening, Councilor Eaton moved that it be read. He was seconded by Councillor Hodgson. An amendment proposed by Councillor Albert Heald, and seconded by Councillor David A. Henry, that the petition be considered at the same time as the estimates, consistently with the efficient administration of the cunicipality, was carried, Councillors Heald, Henry and Philip S. Going voting in favor and Councillors Eaton and Hodgson contrary. Councillor Thomas Hadfield was prevented by illness from attending the meeting.

The deferment of the consideration of Councillor Hodgson's plan for the elimination of the municipal relief officer and the placing of the municipal engineer on a part-time basis followed amendments to Councillor Hodgson's original motions, proposed in both cases by Councillor Heald, and carried unanimously.

A motion by Councillor Hodgson, seconded by Councillor Eaton, that the use of the hall be granted to the ratepayers' association free was defeated, the other three councillors present at the meeting voting contrary.

LAND GRANT IS ATTACKED

E. Bakewell Says E. and N. Lands Should Be Returned to Government

Shawnigan Lake, Feb. 26.—E. Bakewell, member for the Mackenzie Riding, addressed a meeting in the S.L.A.A. Hall, Saturday evening. H. Webber, Shawnigan, occupied the chair, and outlined the platform of the C.C.F. movement. Mr. Bakewell gave a very informative description of the riding he represents, which includes the pulp and paper industry, mining and logging. He described the waste of the high-lead and skyline logging methods, and advocated selective logging and intensive forestation, suggesting a start be made by the government with selective logging in the valley of Bella Coola. He vigorously attacked the E. and N. land grant, and stated that the C.C.F. would insist on it being returned to the government, and would take expropriation methods to secure the return if necessary.

Mrs. D. G. Steeves, member for North Vancouver, will visit Shawnigan March 9 to address an afternoon meeting.

NEW BEARDED WHEAT FOUND

"Canus" Variety Developed By University Has Needed Qualities

Canadian Press

Calgary, Feb. 26.—After experiments and practical field tests, embracing a fourteen-year period, a new type of bearded wheat, offering a solution to some of the grain-growing problems of the prairies, has been developed at the University of Saskatchewan, according to a report issued here by the Alberta Wheat Pool.

The new variety, developed by Professor O. A. Aamodt of the University of Alberta, who conducted the experiments and tests in Saskatchewan, embraces the better features of Marquis and spring wheat and Kanred, most popular of United States winter wheat. It has been named "Canus"—derived from Canada-United States.

"Canus," it is stated, would be especially suitable for southern Alberta areas, offering a greater resistance to drought than the Marquis, and greater yield. It is said to be of high milling quality.

WILL BE GROWN

Edmonton, Feb. 26.—Ten bushels of the newly developed Canus wheat will be distributed among farmers of central and southern Alberta this year, according to Dr. O. S. Aamodt, University of Alberta, originator of Canus. It will be the first time the wheat, on which Dr. Aamodt has worked fourteen years, has been given to farmers for seed.

Dr. Aamodt does not claim remarkable drought-resisting strength for his new grain. It is mainly useful in its strength against smut and foot-rot, he declares. The National Research Council, Ottawa, financed his experimentations.

Another high grade wheat, said to be equal in quality to Reward and with possibly greater yield, and having strong drought resistance, is in the process of development by Dr. Aamodt and may be available in five years.

FIVE-YEAR JAIL TERM FOR MAN

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 26. — William Pitchford, twenty-seven, alias Jacques Pitchford, who pleaded guilty to a robbery charge, was sentenced by Judge C. J. Lennox in county court yesterday to five years in the New Westminster penitentiary.

He was charged with holding up Harold Dryer, proprietor of a confectionery store on Denman Street on the early morning of December 1, and of robbing him of $3.10 at the point of a toy pistol.

Pitchford served a little more than three years of a five-year to life sentence in San Quentin penitentiary, Calif., for first degree robbery at San Bernardino.

Municipal Bank Now Proposed

Vancouver Council Endorses Mayor's Move For Savings Institution

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Mayor G. G. McGeer's proposal that the city seek statutory authority to establish a municipal bank was endorsed by the city council yesterday.

The resolution provides for the city to seek a charter amendment authorizing it to ask the Dominion Government for a municipal bank charter.

An amendment, sponsored by Aldermen A. G. Harvey and W. J. Lembke, urging postponement of action pending a report from Thomas Bradshaw of Toronto, who is here to make an investigation into the city's financial and taxation problems, was defeated.

In opposing the resolution Alderman Harvey said:

"I can't see why, if our financial position is as bad as it has been described, the city should go into the banking business. If a bankrupt person were to go into the banking business we would be amazed, but if a leader of a government or municipality proposes such a plan we regard him as a great leader and reformer."

TELEPHONES ON MALAHAT

Necessity in an Emergency, Malahat Board of Trade Urges

Shawnigan Lake, Feb. 26.—Malahat Board of Trade had a busy session at their monthly meeting in the S.L.A.A. Hall, William Mudge, president, was in the chair. It was decided that Shawnigan would be the regular place of meeting, but invitation to meet at other centres in the district covered by the board could be arranged.

The public works committee offered suggestions for road improvement. The cutting of the broom and second growth on the side of the Malahat Drive would make it safer, also the re-whitening of the guard rails would help night driving and in foggy weather, it was stated.

The committee also recommended that definite action be taken to get telephone communication over the Malahat with pay stations at Cousin's Camp, The Lookout and gasoline stations. This is an urgent necessity and the board decided to take action through the Minister of Public Works. It was suggested that the telephone company be asked to install the line as a goodwill gesture.

The fish and game committee reported that fishing conditions look promising and remind fishermen that the opening date for Shawnigan and Millstream is April 1. The board will apply for 40,000 Kamloops trout fry this year.

The president announced the standing committees for the year as follows: Public works, Col. F. T. Oldham (chairman), F. T. Elford, A. H. Cox, F. M. Gannon, Major R. Lowe, Comdr. P. A. O. Leask, George Prayne and W. J. Maynard; agriculture, W. E. Fraser (chairman), G. A. Cheeke, F. T. Elford, H. E. Hawking, H. E. Fawdry and James Price; membership, L. A. Malleson (chairman), F. M. Malleson, Otto Netzer and Major R. Lowe; finance and by-laws, F. M. Gannon (chairman), G. A. Cheeke, E. M. Walbank, Dr. J. Butler, W. G. Grey and G. Scollard; fish and game, J. C. Policyholders Own the "Assets" of Life Insurance Companies

As a great co-operative enterprise, Life Insurance has built up Assets in Canada totalling, approximately, two billion dollars. Yet these Assets are relatively small when it is realized that they are jointly owned by about 3,500,000 policyholders—one-third of Canada's population.

On the average, each policyholder owns $571 as his share of the total Assets in Life Companies operating in Canada. Obviously, the great majority of policyholders are men and women of ordinary means—thrifty people who, year by year, have entrusted to Life Insurance part of their savings so that they may have financial security against the uncertain future.

These policyholders represent the best type of Canadian citizens. They have sought to preserve their financial independence, and, as thrifty citizens, neither they nor their dependants are ever likely to become charges upon government or municipal relief.

To protect the interests of these 3,500,000 Canadian policyholders, Life Insurance Companies have invested their Assets in government and municipal bonds—in first mortgages—in public utilities and industrial enterprises—and in other authorized securities.

The soundness of the Investment policy of the Companies has been tried and proven during periods of severe financial stress. Governing and corporate bodies in which policyholders' moneys are invested have maintained the integrity of their obligations and made it possible in turn for the companies, in their capacity as trustees for the policyholders, to fulfill every obligation guaranteed by their policies.

A SOUND LIBERAL PROTEST

HON. IAN MACKENZIE, LIBERAL MEMber in the House of Commons at Ottawa for Vancouver Centre, touched acting-Prime Minister Sir George Perley on the raw last night when he moved a want-of-confidence motion, charging the government that it "has not yet submitted to Parliament any definite or effective policy to deal with widespread actual unemployment or distress which continues to be Canada's most urgent national problem." But all Sir George could offer in reply to the motion—asking his fellow Conservatives to vote it down—was merely a denial of the charge, during which he said: "I say, and I claim, that this country has come through the depression better than any other country in the world."

No intelligent person can disagree with the contention advanced by Mr. Mackenzie. For example, in the House yesterday was tabled a report showing that no fewer than 1,182,123 Canadians were in receipt of direct relief on December 31, 1934. We do not charge all this up to the woeful inefficiency of the present government; world conditions have contributed towards it to some extent. We do, however, say that the policies which Mr. Bennett has pursued since he took office in the summer of 1930 have aggravated an economic situation which at that time was not nearly as serious as he made out when he was appealing for sufficient votes on a promise to end unemployment or "perish in the attempt." Approximately 120,000 comprised the idle army of Canada when the election campaign was in progress nearly five years ago. The government's own report tabled yesterday furnishes its own commentary on what has happened in the meantime.

As Mr. Mackenzie notes the speech of the Prime Minister, made in Toronto last Saturday to Young Conservatives, and the objections to his want-of-confidence motion put forth by Sir George Perley he must be wondering how two Canadian statesmen think they can pull the wool over the eyes of Canadian voters. How does Mr. Bennett, for instance, reach the conclusion that if he had instituted, say, in 1931 or 1933, the "reforms" with which he startled the public recently "we could not have survived"? This is what he asked in Toronto.

MANUFACTURING IN CANADA IN 1934

FROM THE LOW LEVEL OF MANUFACturing operations in February, 1933, as indicated by the official index of 58.7, published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, conditions improved until September of that year when the index reached 97. The usual seasonal slackness followed during the winter months but operations expanded with the approach of spring. In May, the volume of production attained the average recorded for the base year, 1926, and later in August stood at 100.7. Some recession followed but during the last eight months of the year production was well maintained, closely approximating the average level for the year 1926.

The importance of manufacturing is shown by the weight given this industry in the index of general employment in Canada, where it accounts for practically 50 per cent of the total. The improvement in manufacturing operations has resulted in a rise of more than 25 per cent in the index of the number reported as employed in manufacturing. From a low of 74.4, recorded in January, 1933 (1926—100), this index reached 94.4 in October last year. The improvement was not shared by the different branches of the industry in equal proportion. Moreover, the time when operations first showed marked improvement has also varied considerably. The low and high figures recorded in the indices for employment in the various branches of manufacturing, together with the dates at which these were attained, are given in the following table. From this it will be seen that employment in automobile manufacturing was at its lowest as early as October, 1932, while the electrical apparatus industry did not reach its nadir until June, 1933. On the other hand, employment in textile mills was greatest in May, 1934, and in the manufacture of non-edible plant products in December of last year.

The heavy industries are usually slow to share in any business revival and feel the results of any depression for a protracted period.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

COMMENTING ON A LETTER FROM a correspondent criticizing the proposal that the Canadian Central Bank should be under government control and operation on the ground that government ownership and operation of railways had been unsuccessful, our columnist yesterday pertinently pointed to the fact that it was the failure of private ownership and operation of railways in Canada which brought the government system into existence. It was the collapse of the Canadian Northern Railway and the financial difficulties of the Grand Trunk Pacific which forced the government of Sir Robert Borden to take them over following the report of the Drayton-Ackworth Commission.

Privately-owned and operated railroads in the United States also generally were in difficulties, some of them having been fairly drowned in oceans of watered stock. Many of them were under receiverships. One of the big problems of the Roosevelt administration to-day is the salvaging of the United States railroad situation. Even in Canada the government has had to go to the aid of the C.P.R.

There is nothing in the record of private industry to justify any attack upon government ownership and operation of railroads or a central bank. The depression itself was largely an indictment of private industry and there has been nothing in economic history so pitiable as the spectacle of the great moguls of finance who in their utter bewilderment finally in a panic ran to the governments for aid to avert in many cases the ruinous consequences of their own folly. However, inefficient governments may be, they have a much clearer sheet than many of the great industrial organizations, notably, as far as Canada is concerned, some of the big eastern power and paper corporations. Government can not water stock or engage in devious and dangerous financial manipulations at the expense of the buying public. The Canadian public has lost many times as much from these manoeuvres than it has on account of its railroad system.

REVERSING THE SCRIPTURES

HERE IS A PRICELESS GEM FROM A speech by Mr. Bennett in Toronto on Saturday, as reported by the Canadian Press dispatch: "With respect to himself, Mr. Bennett said he was glad he was in a little better position to serve than some others, 'because I am independent'." He underscored it with this: "God has been good to me"—referring to his personal success in attaining wealth and position—"I would like to show some sense of gratitude."

This is an astonishing observation. Its inference would appear to be that Mr. Bennett considers a rich man to be better qualified for public office than "many others" who are not rich because he can be more "independent," and particularly so because his wealth stamps him as one of the favorites of Providence.

Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier were outside of this interesting category of qualifications for office, but their achievements in statesmanship will live in the history of Canada long after Mr. Bennett's record has been forgotten. Incidentally, if Providence bestowed wealth upon Mr. Bennett, it had other purposes in view than that of helping him to become Prime Minister of Canada. Otherwise there is no meaning in the parable of the rich man and Lazarus in the Scriptures. And are we not told that it is easier for a camel to thread the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter Heaven? Providence plays no favorites.

There is nothing sacrosanct in old public documents and if the provincial government finds its space cluttered up with an accumulation it should get rid of all of those which have no special historic interest. Some of them in fact never had any sound cause for existence. They would make a fine bonfire as a feature of the next May 24 celebration.

In starting a campaign for funds to install an X-ray equipment at the Solarium, the Royal Oak Women's Institute has established a fine objective. The value of the Solarium as an agency for the treatment of crippled children is now widely recognized, and any useful contribution to its equipment operates for the benefit of these afflicted little ones. The Royal Oak Women's Institute is conducting its campaign with characteristic energy, using every means of publicity at its command, including a radio broadcast from the local station every evening. The organization is to be commended for its fine humanitarian activities.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE LOVED AND LOST
George Eliot

Oh, the anguish of thought, that we can never atone to our dead for the stinted affection we gave them, for the light answers we returned to their plaint and pleadings, for the little reverence we showed to that sacred human soul that lived so close to us, and was the divinest thing God had given us to know.

AN EFFECTIVE WAY
The Border Cities Star

We commented recently on the action taken by several Ottawa citizens, in returning, post collect, all advertising matter thrown on their doorsteps. They were so flooded by material of this kind that they decided that something had to be done about it. We notice now a comment in The Calgary Herald to the effect that the Los Angeles Council is considering the enactment of an anti-handbill ordinance similar to a law already in effect in several other California cities.

THE RIGHT TO KILL IMBECILES
The London Daily Herald

Must it not be right, is it not merciful, it is being asked, to kill peacefully those for whom life is an empty burden, the imbeciles and idiots and the senile weak-minded?

There are two reasons, each of them overwhelming, against any such conception. There is, against the "right to kill," the right of every individual to live, even though relatives or friends believe that death would be a happy release. For who can pierce the mind of the imbecile and say with certainty that life holds nothing for him. In many cases it is demonstrably untrue.

And, secondly, such a permission to kill, whatever the safeguards, would be open to the greatest abuses. For some might kill not for love but for hate. Some might kill to gain. And some might kill just to be rid of trouble and expense. The law is clear. The law is right. And the law should be obeyed.

Across the Bay

The House gets down to business—but not far—the opposition starts to oppose—there are a few gentle opening skirmishes—but they don't amount to much.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

BUSINESS

THE HOUSE got down to business on Monday, but not very far; still, far enough to show that already tempers are beginning to get a little frayed, critics a little more critical and the opposition ready to oppose a good deal more than it did a year ago when it didn't know the game so well.

The government spent a useful afternoon getting its legislation through the opening stages and the opposition, while making clear its disapproval, didn't hinder the process much. At the start of the day Mr. Bakewell, the forestry expert of the C.C.F., and a gentleman with whom the preservation of our forests is a noble passion, made a one-man stand against the new legislation which extends the present timber royalties for another year. He called it a subsidy to the entrepreneurs and the exploitionists, thus introducing the House to the working jargon of the economists, which is well known to the C.C.F. but probably doesn't convey much to the average British Columbia politician.

Anyway, Mr. Bakewell's argument that the lumber industry could afford to pay much more for the right to use up our chief capital asset brought the Premier to his feet for the first speech he has made this session. The Premier said he thought the House knew that he had had some experience in administering the forests of the province, to which the younger Mr. Winch retorted with a bitterness which is not infrequent with him: "We know, all right." Gently rebuking Mr. Winch, as he has done before and will again, the Premier ventured the hope that the young gentleman knew as much as he thought he did, which the Premier gravely doubted. And when Mr. Bakewell muttered something not audible in the galleries, Mr. Pattullo, in a fatherly fashion, suggested that he keep quiet and not get excited.

This was the first little clash between the Premier and the opposition since the House opened, but probably won't be the last.

FIRST DIVISION

MR. PATTULLO went on to tell us about the alienation of our timber under the old Conservative government, starting in 1908, and he argued that the timber industry was paying all it could now. But this didn't satisfy the opposition and Mr. Bakewell forced our first division of the session, which was recorded purely as a matter of information for future generations. Only Mr. Uphill would support the C.C.F. in opposing the royalty legislation and it carried thirty-one to eight.

A good deal of legislative chicken feed followed without the least excitement. The Premier paused briefly to lecture the elder Mr. Winch in a friendly way — the elder Mr. Winch being much more popular with the treasury benches than his more volatile son—about how a member of the Legislature should get information on government legislation. Mr. Gray denied Mr. McGeer's recent suggestion that he had played municipal politics in agreeing to validate the cancellation of Vancouver's tax sale, but Mr. McGeer was not present to hear the denial, nor, for that matter, to go ahead with his resolution condemning the new Central Bank of Canada. Mr. Pooley made his first speech of the year, a brief, polite protest against cluttering up the order paper with two bills relating to Vancouver when the whole job could be done with one—a question which did not rock anyone with emotion.

OUT OF ORDER

MR. SWAILES, of Delta, was the next C.C.F. gentleman to collide with the Premier. He moved for the tabling of all correspondence on the New Westminster Bridge project, but the Premier declared the proposal was out of order since the government had already announced in the Speech from the Throne that it intended to deal with it. The government would give the House all information about the proposed bridge but not all the correspondence, some of which it didn't possess. Mr. Hanna, who was presiding, promptly ruled the Swailes motion out of order.

Young Mr. Winch got no further when he attempted to rescue Colonel Ross Napier's reports on the civil service out of that oblivion from which such documents seldom return. The Premier did not believe it would be in the public interest to table the Napier reports, which might contain statements with which the government did not agree and information possibly casting reflections on worthy persons.

When Mr. Winch demanded who should decide what was in the public interest, he got a prompt and emphatic reply. "The government," Mr. Pattullo said. Mr. Winch doubted that the government had even read the Napier reports which, by the way, were ordered by the Tolmie government, prepared after a prodigy of labor, and completely ignored. In the end, Mr. Hanna ruled that Mr. Winch's motion asking for these mysterious documents was out of order, and that was that.

NIGHT WORK

EVEN THE PREMIER'S innocent-looking motion, asking the House to sit in the evenings after this, annoyed the C.C.F. Mr. Bakewell said the government knew all about the legislation of the session, but the private members had no advance information and needed their evenings to study the government's bills. The opposition—not owning mining companies or bond houses, as he was careful to observe—was prepared to stay in Victoria for 365 days a year and do the job for which it was elected. It had no desire to dash off home. When the Premier interrupted him, it was Mr. Bakewell's turn to retort, with a certain suppressed heat, that his honorable friends would have plenty of time to speak later on. The growing friendship between Mr. Pattullo and Mr. Bakewell becomes quite affecting.

When he got his chance, the Premier retorted that he and his faithful ministers were here not only 365 days but 365 nights a year, and he suggested that, as a member of the House for some twenty years, perhaps he had not always been trying to do his worst for the country and possibly might have attempted sometimes to do his best; and he reminded the House of his opposition days when he used to sit up until 4 a.m. trying to digest the legislation of the Tolmie government, which used to be hurled at him in blizzards, and in this process, one gathered, he had developed a fairly tough digestion, tougher, perhaps, than the less-experienced C.C.F.

However, the Premier denied all intention of rushing anything and said there would be no night sessions this week at least.

A gentler brush between the Premier and Mrs. Steeves followed. Mr. Pattullo suggested that her resolution asking for a special committee on mothers' pensions stand over, since the House was going to quit early to see a movie of oil in the Flathead country. Mrs. Steeves agreed, on the strict condition that her resolution be delayed not more than one day.

A more experienced politician would know that you can't offer conditions to a Prime Minister—not to this one, anyway.

If that was the way the honorable lady felt, said the Premier—and he was sorry she would adopt such an attitude—then there would be no bargain at all. The resolution would go forward forthwith and the movie could wait.

After this little contretemps, Mrs. Steeves made a brief speech demanding investigation into our system of administering mothers' pensions, and she skilfully fought off and slipped through the Premier's suggestion that she was out of order. The Premier did not press the point, and in the end Mrs. Smith adjourned the debate, to continue what is developing into a neat little ladies' duel on the pension question.

All this, of course, is preliminary to the budget, now expected Wednesday. The ponderous motions by which we resolve to go into committee to "consider of ways and means of granting supply to His Majesty" were passed. This makes the House ready for the budget at any moment but, since most of it has been announced in advance, the customary suspense and excitement is notably absent.

WOMAN'S WILES

Time was and not so long ago
She'd clamber on my knee
And just because she wished it so
A willing horse I'd be.
I'd jog along old winding trails
Where'er her fancies led,
Then rest and tell her fairy tales
Till it was time for bed.

Whate'er she wanted, to my chair
That artful little miss
Would slyly come and then and there
Obtain it with a kiss.
Though very young, I'm sure she knew
A winning way she had,
And all she really had to do
Was make a fuss of dad.

Though often to be stern I tried,
And clamber on my knee
And candy mother had denied
She'd wheedle out of me.
Though well I knew some wish she had
Was hidden 'neath her smiles,
I took her kisses, and was glad
To fall for all her wiles.

Now twelve years old she slyly stands
Behind my old arm chair,
And gently with caressing hands
She rumples up my hair.
Just like her mother, artfully
She strokes my silvered brow,
And with her kisses works on me
For spending money now.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
February 26, 1910

(From The Times Files)

To judge by a hint dropped by His Worship Mayor Morley at last evening's meeting of the streets committee of the City Council, the ratepayers at a very early date, possibly before the expiration of the present year, may be called upon to consider the question of the erection of a new city hall.

That the main trunk roads of the city should be taken in hand at once and put in a state of thorough repair as far as the boundaries of the city, was a recommendation made by Mayor Morley at last evening's meeting of the streets committee, and adopted. G. H. Bryson, acting City Engineer, was instructed to go into the matter at once.

A special to The Times from Winnipeg says H. W. Wills, superintendent of C.P.R. Hotels in western Canada, has resigned his position and will quit the service to-night.

The High School sprinters have taken steps to form their track team for the indoor meet on March 12 next and the following entries are arranged for: Under 16, 220 yards and the 440 yards dash, Percy Beasley and P. Wescott; 440 yards, under 18, Beasley and Allen Clark will enter and William Day and Allen Clark will be in the 880 yards dash. Norman Spencer and Charles Brown will look after the shot put.

A large party of Victorians will leave the city this evening on the steamer Ella, bound for Mexico City. Ex-mayor Douglas and wife of Vancouver, with a number of friends, will be joined here by Miss Dunsmuir, Miss Hope, Miss Olive Bryson, Mr. and Mrs. Wise and Mrs. Mullen. The party will visit a number of points along the Mexican coast.

TEMPLE OF HEALTH

To the Editor:—The living body is a temple which ought to be, but rarely is, a temple spiritually and physically clean. An editorial in The Medical World of December 28, 1934, tells us that in Germany an important new departure has been made by medical men who are anxious to cure disease by natural methods and not by those of the laboratory. The government is supporting the movement and Professor Jensen heads the new Health Centre, assisted by Professor Reiter, head of the Federal Bureau of Health. The road to health will lie in the direction of wholesome food and a maximum of fresh air and sunshine. In short the methods of Hippocrates of old are to be employed.

The same issue of The Medical World quotes from a new book by Ellis Barker, "New Lives for Old." "Orthodox medicine is guided by experiments on animals which prove nothing. Students are told by their professors that such and such a medicine has this or that effect upon the muscles of a frog's legs or on the liver of rats, etc., and that it is used for such-and-such diseases. The experiments made on animals are crude and useless. It is, of course, foolish to conclude that if a medicine has a certain effect on guinea-pigs, it will have a similar effect upon human beings." The aforesaid journal comments "With this most of us who are practical men and not merely experimentalists, will cordially agree."

The Medical Times of December last tells us that "some of the wiser among our profession are at last awakening to the fact that animal experiments and laboratory research are hampering progress."

Sir Bruce Bruce-Porter, K.C.B., remarks in New Health—"A fraction of the money which is being expended in chasing the elusive cancer organism would, if used in a real investigation of the food problem of our people, do more to check the spread of cancer than anything else."

Ernest Winterton, former M.P., writes an article in The Teachers' World. He warns teachers against the "army of would-be inoculators who are itching to inject some kind of serum into the bodies of children as a supposed preventive against disease" and suggests that they inquire into the matter themselves before being pressed into service of assisting to poison the bodies of their pupils.

Two letters appear respectively in The Yorkshire Observer and The Birmingham Daily Mail, relative to immunization of children against diphtheria. One parent says "My great regret is that I ever allowed my two children to be immunized." The eldest, aged eleven, died after nearly six weeks in hospital while the younger has never been the same since the injection. Another father says his boy was normally healthy till treated, when he developed mastoid disease requiring urgent operation, and points to other cases of death and disease after immunization.

One might go on registering such complaints and opinions but these may serve to indicate the trend of feeling and substantiate the objections of anti-vivisectionists to methods involving the gross and useless torture of animals, which lead to human experimentation. So long as the public is credulous or selfish, so long will the crude work continue and funds will be administered for prolonging conditions which must lead to physical and spiritual degeneration. "Research" is merely a polite name for vivisection or animal experimentation and it is only beneficial to those who receive the money provided for such contemptible and imbecile proceedings.

LEGISLATION IS APPROVED

Second Reading For Numerous Bills in Legislature

Getting around to its first full session of legislation yesterday afternoon, the British Columbia Legislature cleared the order paper of numerous small bills on second reading. A number of these were minor amendments and went through without opposition.

The Bills of Sale Act, Attorney-General Sloan explained, is being amended to make re-registration of bills of sale necessary every three years, giving greater certainty in cases of search and preventing the records from getting obscure.

Under an amendment to the Police and Prison Regulations Act it is made compulsory for every prisoner going to Oakalla to have a medical certificate to the effect that he is free of contagious diseases.

Premier Pattullo explained the Dolly Varden Mines Right-of-way Act, which forfeits the rights of the mines company in connection with the railway and empowers the government to take over the right-of-way within two years and make provisions for ingress and egress to the mining area of Alice Arm.

To conform with the statute making Boxing Day a provincial holiday, the Interpretation Act is being amended to declare it a "non-juridical" day for the purposes of banking and the courts.

FIXED ASSESSMENTS

A City of Prince George by-law, granting a fixed assessment to a creamery company, is validated in a measure sponsored by Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipal Affairs. The by-law received the assent of the Prince George ratepayers, but before being finally passed by the city council, the powers of the municipality to grant a fixed assessment were withdrawn. Since the creamery company had already spent money on their plant, the validating bill was necessary, the minister explained.

Another municipal bill authorizes the granting of a fixed assessment of $25,000 on land and $100,000 on improvements to the Great Central Sawmills Company at Port Alberni for twenty years. Mr. Gray explained the land in question was purchased by the company for $5,000 and the previous municipal assessment on it was $10,295. The municipal council had voted unanimously for it.

A special bill validating the cancellation of Vancouver's tax sale last year was also given second reading. In explaining this bill, Mr. Gray denied there had been any suggestion of politics in the proposal, as inferred by Mayor McGeer in his recent speech. The sale had been cancelled to save between 900 and 1,000 Vancouver homes from going to tax sale and at the time it was proposed the only candidate in the municipal field in Vancouver was ex-Mayor L. D. Taylor.

The Summary Convictions Act is amended in three main particulars. One sets out an omnibus penalty to cover violation of provincial statutes in which penalties are not specifically provided. This, Attorney-General Sloan explained, corrects a peculiar situation by which such offences now come under the Criminal Code, are classed indictable, and carry jail terms. The act is also amended to give magistrates power to give suspended sentence in cases under provincial statutes and to preserve a person's right of appeal whether he pays his fine under protest or not.

The changes proposed by Hon. George S. Pearson in the male and female Minimum Wage Acts went through without debate. The main alterations in these measures are to bring boys of under eighteen within the act and to limit in certain respects the recovery of back wages for under payment.

FILL CONTRACT IS AWARDED

General Construction Company of Vancouver with a bid of 34 cents a cubic yard, was awarded the contract for making the fill on Marine Drive, Point Grey, where a washout occurred during the January storm.

Letting of the contract was announced yesterday by Hon. P. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works.

The General Construction Company's bid was the lowest of five after Coast Quarries Limited, which bid 25¼ cents, withdrew their tender through inability to carry out the contract, the Minister explained.

The contract calls for a fill of 175,000 cubic yards.

Chas. H. French Again Leader

Re-elected President of Victoria Automobile Club at Annual Meeting

Charles H. French yesterday evening was re-elected president of the Victoria Automobile Club at the annual meeting in the Empress Hotel. The gathering took the form of a dinner and was attended by Mayor Leeming, Hon. Frank M. McPherson, Minister of Public Works, and other civic and provincial dignitaries. Bruce A. McKelvie was the speaker of the evening.

Other officers named were: Colonel James Lightbody, honorary past president; D. D. McTavish, vice-president; Sam M. Armstrong, treasurer; and W. T. Straith, Duncan MacBride, J. V. Johnson, A. D. King and Harold Husband, executive committee members.

ANNUAL REPORT

In presenting the report of the president, T. J. Goodlake, secretary, noted an increase in members from 369 to 415. Expenses had been cut without impairing efficiency and a surplus of over $300 was shown, the report continued. The Vancouver monthly Motor News had now become the official organ of the local body. During the year there had been many subjects discussed by the executive, including traffic control lights, tourist permits, the transcanada highway, and government road expenditures.

There had been many demands for information from the local and outside sources, the report said. Members affiliated had made a total of 934 inquiries. The following calls were made: 2,741 by visitors, and 1,927 by local non-members. There were 564 customs forms issued.

Co-operation with Vancouver had been carried out and the president expressed sincere thanks to all bodies which had assisted the club with its work. He paid tribute to the work of the staff.

The financial statement was also presented by Mr. Goodlake.

FILMS SHOWN

The evening closed with a presentation of three films by J. C. Campbell, director of the national parks of Canada, entitled "Stalking Game in Canada," "Canada's Evergreen Playground," and "Tyee Fishing at Campbell River." Mr. Campbell preceded the pictures with a short address, during which he dwelt upon the necessity of preserving the natural beauty which Canada possessed.

Entertainment was contributed by Arthur Jackman, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Warn, and "Slim" Hunter's Rustlers, a band of local musicians who presented cowboy and hill-billy selections which were well received.

Duncan

An enjoyable entertainment was given in the Capitol Theatre Friday evening, when local artists presented "The Dover Road," a comedy in three acts by A. A. Milne.

R. E. Macbean was the producer, and J. B. Turnbull stage manager. The characters were taken by: R. G. L. Parker, Helen Tisdall, Audrey Mutter, A. J. B. Bailey, A. Hassell, Ronald Macbean, Margaret Wade, A. Hotson, Eleanor Hotson, A. deC. Denny, R. Lendrum and Anne Staples.

The orchestra was composed of B. E. Ryall, piano; A. Gard, violin, and A. N. Westwood, 'cello.

MUCH ROMANCE IN B.C. ROADS

Lure of Provincial Highways Told Auto Club By B. A. McKelvie

"Romance has a definite road value. In California, where there is $250,000,000 a year spent by tourists, all they have is sunshine and romance. We have sunshine and beauties unknown in California but we do not know it and we do not make it possible for the tourist to get them because we do not give him a road, but we give him a long-the-dip," said Bruce A. McKelvie, managing editor of The Colonist, in addressing the Victoria Automobile Club annual meeting in the Empress Hotel, yesterday evening.

Mr. McKelvie, in an entertaining address, spoke on "The Romance of B.C. Roads," which he prefaced with a set of figures illustrating poor government administration in expenditure of road appropriations.

It was unfortunate, Mr. McKelvie said, that no one had written a book on the romance of British Columbia roads. There were some that referred to the Cariboo, but none which dealt with the romance entwined around the highway system of the province.

Mr. McKelvie noted, however, that he had found a book, published by the provincial government, which he described as dealing with the romance of B.C. highways. This, he said, was contained under the unimaginative title of "Public Accounts."

PRODUCE MUCH REVENUE

Quoting from the last edition of the accounts, Mr. McKelvie stated that motorists produced 21.3 per cent of the total revenue of British Columbia, which was only $12,000 short of $6,000,000, or $13,075 a working day.

"We provide enough revenue in a year to lay a Brussels carpet, costing two dollars a square yard, over 375 miles of an eighteen-foot-wide road," he said. This amount, he added, did not include the incidental contributions made by motorists in the form of income and other taxes, but represented solely the revenue from gasoline tax and licenses.

"But we don't want a Brussels carpet on our roads, all we want is a soothing surface," he continued.

Mr. McKelvie proceeded to note figures dealing with the revenue from the gas tax since its imposition in 1923 and regretted that Hon. Frank McPherson, Minister of Public Works, who attended the meeting, had left before hearing them.

When the gas tax was imposed, there had been an understanding it was to be allocated to new roads. Motorists had produced $22,369,000 from the gas tax and in that period $24,885,000 had been spent on roads.

"Who says there is not a mystery and romance in the public accounts? Where's the other $8,000,000?" Mr. McKelvie asked. Like all other thrilling serials the story had recently been provided with a new thrill when it was announced that the gas tax for the next forty years had been hypothecated, he said.

COLORFUL ROMANCE

There was great romance in British Columbia roads which dated back to the foundation of civilization in this country, Mr. McKelvie continued. The greatest road builder of provincial history was Sir James Douglas, he said. He had conceived British Columbia's road policy and during the days of the gold rush had realized that roads had to be constructed to develop the country.

Douglas's first venture had been the Harrison-Lillooet highway, which was built on the toll system. Then had followed the mule trail through the Fraser Canyon which subsequently developed into the Cariboo Highway, and other now well-known highways of the province.

There was great commercial value to romance, he continued, pointing out that romance made travel interesting and had been responsible for attracting visitors to the continent and throughout Great Britain where people traveled to see the homes of poets like Scott and Burns because of the story entwined around them.

Mr. McKelvie then conducted his audience on a verbal trip up the Cariboo Highway, referring to the romantic tales connected with Yale, Lillooet, Lytton, Quesnel and Barkerville. He stressed the fact that the romance of earlier days connected with these centres was fast disappearing in many instances where commercialization had set in, and urged his audience to visit them before it was lost.

HOME OF ROMANCE

"That country (the Cariboo) is the home of romance," Mr. McKelvie said, adding that the value of romance was in knowing the story and reliving the old scenes as one traveled along the new highway.

The romance of Vancouver Island roads was recalled by the speaker as he took a quick word trip from Victoria to Nanaimo, pausing at Goldstream, where there had been a colorful gold rush, Cowichan, Duncan and Chemainus, where many quaint, interesting and picturesque stories of Indian life had originated.

In closing he again referred to the condition of island highways and urged the development of tourist traffic by building "roads with that soothing surface. We'll get the tourists, we'll get the value, and we'll get a great deal of satisfaction," he said.

W. T. Straith moved a vote of thanks.

REPORT WILL NOT BE TABLED

Not in Public Interest to Publish Napier Report on Civil Service Is Ruling

Harold Winch, C.C.F., Vancouver East, and Premier Pattullo clashed in a couple of passages in the Legislature yesterday.

The Premier announced that the government would not accede to a motion calling for the publication of an old investigation of the civil service made by Col. Rose Napier in the early days of the Tolmie administration.

"It is like police and fire marshal reports," he said. "An official makes statements about other people that on investigation are not borne out. It would be most unfair to ordinary officials to have such statements public and is not in the public interest."

"Who is to decide if it is in the public interest?" demanded Mr. Winch.

"The government," said Mr. Pattullo.

"He was paid out of public funds and we have a right to know what he recommended and whether his resolutions were acted upon."

Deputy Speaker L. A. Hanna ended the discussion with a ruling from the chair.

A few minutes later the Premier asked to have some questions of Mr. Winch's ruling out of order inasmuch as they demanded to know if the government "intended to pay the civil servants money that was morally their due," the referring being to salary cuts imposed when salaries were fixed by order.

The Premier said it was a matter of argument whether the money was "morally due" and hence the question could not be asked in that form.

"When are we going to get answers and not excuses?" commented Mr. Winch across the floor.

"The rules are here to keep orderly proceedings and must be obeyed or we would have chaos," replied the Premier and the question was ruled out.

Stories in STAMPS

THE 1-cent and 2-cent stamps of the U.S. Columbian Exposition issued in 1893 provide stamp collectors with one of their brightest jokes.

The lower value carries a copy of a painting showing a young, clean-shaven Columbus on the deck of his flagship, Santa Maria, as he comes in sight of land.

But look at the 2-cent stamp, representing the landing of Columbus only a few hours later. There you see the great navigator appearing much older and with a full-grown beard!

DIVISION ON FOREST BILL

C.C.F. Plan to Enforce Higher Royalties Is Defeated in House

Arguing that higher timber royalties would force the logging industry to adopt more scientific and economic methods of operation, Ernest Bakewell, C.C.F. member for Mackenzie, forced a division in the Legislature Monday on the forest act amendments.

The bill, continuing the present scale of royalties for another year, was approved by the House on a vote of thirty-one to eight. Only Thomas Uphill, Labor, Fernie, voted with the C.C.F. opposition, the Independents supporting the bill.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, stated that the government had increased royalties last year by abolishing the 15 per cent rebate, but considered the condition of the industry did not warrant any further increase this year. The loggers' demand for a reduction had been refused, however.

Premier T. D. Pattullo and Attorney-General Sloan were drawn into the debate by the vigor of Mr. Bakewell's argument.

"The present scale constitutes a direct subsidy to the financial entrepreneurs who control the logging industry," Mr. Bakewell charged. "They are the only people that make anything out of the industry. This scale was granted in 1925 and has remained in operation ever since by annual extensions.

"How can we raise revenues to preserve our capital assets if we yield to the pressure of these exploiters?" he asked. "If this industry does not produce more revenue the mining and agricultural industries will have to bear the load."

Premier Pattullo recalled the bitter struggle of 1925 when the old scale of royalties would have jumped by $5 a thousand. Approximately the present scale had been decided upon as reasonably fair, and although the industry had asked for reductions they had not been granted.

"Why, the mining industry claim they should pay no taxation at all," he exclaimed.

The Premier declared he could not agree the forests were being exploited by financial interests. As a matter of fact they were not making enough money and regretted this because it meant depleting the forest stocks without a sufficient return to the industry.

Replying to Ernest Bakewell's charge that the crude logging methods of the industry resulted in men being maimed and murdered right and left in the woods, Attorney-General Sloan said that an inquest was held on each fatality and if evidence of negligence was adduced a prosecution followed.

WILL RETAIN CHURCH SITE

The First Baptist Church congregation will not change its place of worship to the Shrine Auditorium as decided a short time ago, but will remain in its present building. The building is owned by the Metropolitan United Church board and arrangements had been made to vacate owing to the heavy overhead which burdened the Baptist board. Rev. G. A. Reynolds, pastor, announced yesterday evening occupation would continue in view of the generous offer of the Metropolitan Church board.

Khorassan Dramatic Order Holds Annual Banquet

The Dramatic Order of Knights of Khorassan held a banquet at their temple, 1415 Broad Street, on Saturday night.

The occasion was for the election of officers for the ensuing term. The tables were suitably decorated with the colors of the order. The tiger took command at the head of the table. A full assembly of members were present and enjoyed an excellent repast.

The festive event which took place with all the customary lavish ceremonial was well carried out by Royal Prince W. Carter and Royal Prince A. A. Hockley, with the assistance of other members of the order.

The chair was taken by Royal Prince G. W. Allison, who discharged the function of master of ceremonies in a most efficient manner and who also conducted the election of officers. The function was unquestionably one of the most lavish entertainments of its kind ever held under the auspices of the order.

The evening was brought to a close by "Milking the Camel," an ancient rite, and then followed the smoking concert. Officers who are elected are as follows: Royal vizier, J. Waters; grand emir, F. Shenkespeare; sheik, S. Carter; mahadi, G. Wragg; secretary, A. A. Hockley; assistant secretary, M. H. Barry; treasurer, J. McAllister; satrap, R. Underwood; press correspondent, J. Trenchard-Clark.

The annual daffodil tea, which has been one of their major functions for many years, has been arranged by the King's Daughters for Thursday, April 4. Tentative plans to this end were made at the district meeting held yesterday in the Rest Rooms, Mrs. L. H. Hardie presiding.

A report of the provincial executive meeting, held all day Saturday at the Y.W.C.A., was given by Mrs. Hardie. A full board, consisting of fifteen members, was present, representing New Westminster, Vancouver, Surrey, Cowichan and Victoria. Mrs. C. A. Welsh of New Westminster, the provincial president, was in the chair. Plans for the convention to be held in Victoria on May 8 and 9 were made.

During the month material for layettes was given to the V.O.N. and a donation of gramophone records and books was made to the National Defence Relief Camp. A large number of families were assisted and clothing, food and medicine were supplied. Mrs. James Stewart reported that the Rest Room was open twenty-six days, with 3,121 patrons.

The annual meeting was set for March 25, at 8 p.m., in the Rest Room.

SHAKESPEARE VENTURE PAYS

Katherine Cornell Makes Money Over "Romeo and Juliet" Production

Associated Press

New York, Feb. 26.—Prepared to suffer a loss in her first venture in Shakespeare, Katharine Cornell has ended a twelve-week run on "Romeo and Juliet" with gross receipts comparable to those of a musical comedy success.

"Our final week reached $35,300," said the star, who last night returned to the crinolines of Elizabeth Barrett in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," her money-making romance of the Brownings.

The production of "Romeo and Juliet," which Miss Cornell carried on tour a year ago, was discarded when the play was brought to New York. That brought a preliminary expense of $95,000, believed too great for a drama so uncertain of wide appeal.

"But we drew over a quarter of a million dollars in our twelve weeks," she said, with the satisfaction of a business woman.

Not since John Barrymore's historic 100 nights of "Hamlet" has Shakespearean drama been so profitable, it was pointed out.

Miss Cornell's determination to withdraw "Romeo and Juliet" in favor of "The Barretts" was to conform with her announced plan to do four plays here this season.

Cooke of Winnipeg, gowned in dove grey crepe de chine, trimmed in cream point lace. Mrs. Campbell's corsage bouquet was of Columbia roses and pink bouvardia.

The rooms were decorated with spring flowers, daffodils and smilax being effectively used in decoration and also centring the daintily appointed table, with its wedding cake which was cut by the bride. Prince Visited German Museums

Associated Press

Munich, Germany, Feb. 26.—The Prince of Wales had a schoolboyish time yesterday among perfumes, antiques and world war mementos at the museums of Munich.

Breaking the journey from Budapest to Paris in order to visit places he learned to know in 1912, the British heir spent the hours at the arms museum, the war memorial, the unknown soldier's tomb and the famous German museum. He saw models of two cruisers which the British tried to capture in the Mediterranean during the war.

"Oh, yes, we tried to catch them," he remarked, "but failed."

Dionnes En Route For Callander

Associated Press

Indianapolis, Feb. 26.—Their brief tour of stage appearances at an end, Papa and Mama Oliva Dionne, parents of Canadian's famous quintuplets, to-day were en route to rejoin their other five children in their Callander, Ont., home, and to visit the five little girls in the hospital built for the quintuplets.

They had no comment before their departure on a move by David Croll, Ontario Minister of Welfare, to have guardianship of the babies given to his department.

However, Oliva Dionne reiterated his hope that they might visit their five daughters "not as strangers but as father and mother."

LADIES AID SEA CADETS

Valuable Work Done By Women's Auxiliary and I.O.D.E. Chapters

The members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Navy League and I.O.D.E. played important parts in the activities of the Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps during 1934, it was shown in the reports of the auxiliary and the I.O.D.E. representative, read to the anual meeting of the league yesterday evening by Mrs. George Kirkendale and Mrs. L. A. Genge.

As each cadet left the Victoria corps to follow his calling at sea during the year, the Women's Auxiliary presented him with $10, Mrs. Kirkendale's report showed.

The social functions held by the auxiliary during the year included a St. George's Day tea, at which the sum of $49.75 was realized, and the Trafalgar Day tea, when the general public interested in the work was entertained at a reception.

BOY ADOPTED

The ladies of the auxiliary voted $25 to the purchase of a canvas boat cover, and also paid for the gas plate installed at the Drill Hall. The Auxiliary also looked after the annual tag day in October. A boy was adopted and assisted in the purchase of his uniform.

Much gratification was noted in the recommendation of Admiral W. O. Story to the Montreal ladies that they pattern their activities after the Victoria auxiliary.

I.O.D.E. ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Genge in her report said the various I.O.D.E. chapters in Victoria assisted the cadet corps to the sum of $169. The reserve fund, started in 1933, proved very beneficial, the report stated, chapters donating $124 to it during the year. Nine chapters donated $116 towards equipment and one chapter adopted a boy. The sum of $140 was voted to the league for general expenses of the cadets in the Dominion of Canada.

Manitoba has done good work, the report, stated, several chapters contributing to the fund. Quebec has done excellent work, twelve Montreal chapters voting the sum of $199. The chapers in Canada donated during the year the sum of approximately $2,132.99 to the Navy League, an increase of $294.

The ladies of both bodies were given hearty votes of thanks for the work they had done during the year.

"I do not know what we would have done without the ladies to help us," said Commander C. H. R. Slingsby, R.N., who occupied the chair at the meeting.

FIGHT COLDS THIS SAFE PROVED WAY

If your child has a cold—don't neglect it—and don't experiment! These are days when colds so often lead to grippe and pneumonia.

Play safe—follow the treatment that millions and millions of mothers have proved is best—use Vicks VapoRub. No risks of constant "dosing"—upset digestions and lowered resistance.

Just rubbed on, VapoRub brings quicker, surer relief because of its double direct action. Through the skin it acts direct like a poultice. At the same time, its medicated vapors are inhaled with every breath direct to the inflamed air-passages. FINE CONCERT TO AID CHURCH

St. Mark's Will Be Aided By Many Well-known Local Artists

Jack Trace and Norval Peterson, Victoria's famed comedians, have been secured and will feature their "Wits and Bits" from the Rotary show "Step Lively Go" at a grand concert to be held at the Mount View High School auditorium on Friday, March 8, at 8 p.m., in aid of the funds for St. Mark's Church.

Co-starred on the programme will be William Harkness, dean of magicians of the Pacific Coast, and a list of selected local artists. Mr. Harkness will present two acts, one of rapid-fire sleight-of-hand tricks and the other big illusions of the theatre type, including the famous doll's house illusion performed here by Blackstone and Mr. Harkness at almost simultaneous dates.

Assisting artists will be Stanley James and E. H. Prentice (Pop of Arkansaw), comedians; Ernie Fullerton and Jim Haggart, in an exposition of piano accordion selections and novelties; Percy Mickleburgh, director of the Victoria Meistersingers, in selected bass-baritone songs, and Miss Doreen Daniell, soprano, successful contestant in the 1934 Victoria Musical Festival.

A string orchestra under the able direction of Mrs. Ruby Moore is now rehearsing the many selections it will render at this concert.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1935

Benefic aspects rule to-day, according to astrology. It is a time for confident, determined procedure in love affairs as well as business.

Signing of legal documents—even divorce papers—is subject to the most promising planetary direction.

Good news of some sort may be expected by the nation. Legislation assuring benefits appears to be foreshadowed at this time. Old age pensions will be discussed, but when granted will not assure an orgy of spending, it is prophesied.

Wholesale merchandising is under a benefic rule of the stars. Exporters should profit. This is a favorable day for seeking business in foreign countries.

Engineers and builders certainly will have a busy year. Projects of great importance are predicted and artists are to have an important part in the architecture of the future, it is prognosticated.

Death of a woman of high estate is to affect a ruler and bring into high place a young man, astrologers prophesy. On the map of the world many changes are to be marked.

The western coast of Canada under the rays of Mars and Uranus may expect a late spring and extension of the period of extreme cold. Communistic activities in British Columbia are forecast.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of pleasure and frequent messages bearing good news. Success is indicated.

Children born on this day probably will be fond of the good things of life. Many have great love of the beautiful and a rare power of expressing what they feel.

Ellen Terry, English actress, was born on this day, 1847. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Myron Hunt, architect, 1868, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, poet, 1807.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

HOW SHALL WE ANSWER QUESTIONS ABOUT BIRTH AND DEATH?

There are some questions which, because of their vast importance, tax the ingenuity of the parent to answer satisfactorily. One of these is the question, "Who is God?"; the second, "What is death?", and the third, "What is sex?" Each one serves to build up in the child that full rounded conception of birth, death and religion, which is the basis of their attitude toward life.

It is all too easy for people to say that true religion answers all of these questions satisfactorily. But small children do not understand the concepts of religion. And what religion tells them is believable only if the adults and children with whom the child is surrounded are likewise believers in exactly the same concepts and live up to their belief.

RECONCILE ACTS AND WORDS

We cannot say one thing to a child and act in a manner to deny that idea. Children cannot reconcile the hopeful tale of a life hereafter when the parent shows every evidence of hopeless grief at the death of a relative or friend.

The easiest answer of course for the limited understanding of a child is to explain that death is a long sleep. Even when we have told the child that, the most difficult task of all is then to explain to him why we feel so badly about it—why so much ceremony surrounds death and so much mystery and awe and gruesomeness. Children could not live in the world and not feel all of these emotions no matter what explanation we give for them.

PARENTS DISAGREE

It would be a queer adult indeed who had not suffered some of these emotions of fear and awe and shivery horror of death in his own youth and is thus in a better position to help the child to get a more wholesome idea.

How one can do this is also a controversial matter. Some parents believe that children should be exposed to the experience of death by allowing them to view death intimately whenever the occasion presents itself.

Other parents believe just as sincerely that the child should be spared all knowledge of death until he is compelled to come face to face with it.

YOU CAN NOT HUSH QUESTIONS

Just to indicate these varying beliefs is sufficient to reveal the complexity of the problem.

About all one can say with certainty is that one cannot hush a child's questions or ignore or sidestep them. One must formulate some ideas on these fundamental subjects, ideas which conform to one's religious beliefs or one's personal philosophy and then harmonize what one tells the child with one's own conduct. On that basis alone will the child be convinced of the sincerity and validity of what we tell him.

Mothers' Pension Inquiry Asked

C.C.F. Woman Member Proposes House Committee Make Investigation

A resolution for a committee of the Legislature to investigate the administration of mothers' pensions and recommend amendments to the act if necessary was moved yesterday by Mrs. D. G. Steeves, C.C.F., North Vancouver, and will be debated further by Mrs. Helen D. Smith at a later sitting.

"The superintendent of welfare is a capable man and could suggest many improvements in the act," said Mrs. Steeves. "He needs the direction and support of this House."

Mrs. Steeves claimed that while many "one-child widows" were now receiving pension, all should receive it as a matter of rule.

"There should be uniformity about granting money the same as there is about refusing it to divorced and deserted mothers," she said. "There is no uniformity about granting it, but a painful rigidity about denying it."

Interference by investigators was alleged by Mrs. Steeves, who claimed normal family life, which the act was designed to maintain, was impossible under supervision.

"The mothers should be allowed to spend their limited income in their own way," she said.

To Dr. Weir's suggestion that some of them were of low grade intelligence, Mrs. Steeves replied by suggesting enquiry into the intelligence of the "bridge-playing mothers" in well-to-do families who were subjected to no investigations because they happened to have a little money.

Mrs. Smith then adjourned the debate on the resolution.

NEW CABBAGE HAS NO SMELL

Cornell Laboratory Produces New Vegetable After Six Years

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Ithaca, N.Y., Feb. 26.—An odorless cabbage, something new in the vegetable world, was announced to-day at Cornell University.

It will not "smell up the house" while cooking; yet dietetically and gastronomically it is a perfect cabbage.

The way Prof. C. H. Myers of the department of plant breeding got rid of the odor proves the ladies have been right in turning up their noses at it.

The old, familiar "smell" turned out to have been only an evolutionary hang-over which disappeared when good breeding was introduced.

It took 4,000 cabbages and six years to produce the aristocratic vegetable. Each year Professor Myers uprooted a few of the most sturdy early Savoy cabbages in the Cornell experimental gardens and placed them in cold storage for about two months. This gave the young cabbages a "rest." It was part of the "hibernation" which many plants require to reach their best. Then he replanted the cabbages in greenhouses.

There was an expert substituted steel tweezers for bees, butterflies and other undiscriminating pollen-spreaders. He took pollen from the antler of one cabbage flower and placed it on the pistil of another.

Thus seeds were obtained perpetuating the best cabbage strains. This went on for five years with cabbages annually getting better.

This year, the sixth, the new quality appeared. The cabbages have lost their odor, but retained all the other qualities.

Opera Stars In Novel Show

Lily Pons and Other Noted Artists Sing "Minnie the Moocher" For Charity

Associated Press

New York, Feb. 26.—That soul-stirring beer hall ditty, "Minnie the Moocher," enjoyed a Broadway revival yesterday evening by a promising new "sister act"—none other than those melody girls, Lily Pons, Gladys Swarthout and Helen Jepson.

The "girls"—who have been getting top billing with Mr. Gatti-Casazza's Metropolitan Opera troupe—stopped the show at a benefit performance for the stage relief and Authors' League fund.

While the orchestra got hot, they went through the act—with gestures—of a sister crooning trio, and sang as if to-morrow's doughnuts and coffee depended on it.

The audience repeatedly called them back, and they went through entire chunks of "Minnie" again and again to cheers from in front and applause in the wings for such notables as Noel Coward, Beatrice Lillie and Jimmy Savo.

GIRL ORATOR WINS CONTEST

Miss Willena Graham Awarded Times Cup For Able Exposition of League

Miss Willena Graham of Oak Bay United Church, won the oratorial contest held by the Young People's Union of the United Church yesterday evening, and was awarded The Times Cup for her able exposition of the subject.

All six speakers took as their subject, "Can the League of Nations Establish World Peace?" Four of the orators — Miss Graham, Miss Joyce Curt, South Saanich Church; Douglas Hadden, James Bay United Church, and William Findlay, First United Church, declared the league could do so, while Jack Church, Metropolitan United Church, and Bernard Ennals, Centennial United Church, winner of the contest last year, argued that the league, founded on its present principles, could never accomplish this.

Norman Whittaker, M.B.P.; J. H. Hill and W. T. Cook acted as judges, and Mr. Whittaker, in presenting the cup to Miss Graham amid the applause of the big audience gathered in the First United Church schoolroom, complimented her on her voice, manner, presentation and the careful marshalling of her arguments. He also paid tribute to all the speakers, stating that the task of judging was no sinecure, so excellent were the addresses.

Declaring that the crusade for peace is the greatest crusade of all time, Miss Graham asserted that the only means to peace was through the League of Nations, which contained delegates representing four-fifths of the people of the world.

The league had already justified its existence, the speaker claimed, and pointed out that it had settled many international disputes and had even restored peace to countries that had already engaged in warfare. In conclusion, Miss Graham challenged the public to support the league in its efforts for world peace.

During the evening, Gil Margison entertained with violin solos; Miss Marian Mitchell sang two solos; Miss Elsie Robinson and Miss Lillian Robinson rendered a vocal duet, and Miss Catherine Craig contributed a piano solo.

Brian moved one hand disparagingly. "That's not the idea," he said. "She doesn't want to go at this as though it were charity. It isn't. She's got time on her hands and wants to find a way to use it to help someone else. She's just—well, trying to help out. I think myself it's a fine thing. We came to you because I couldn't think of anyone better to take her around and introduce her. Will you do that?"

Gale hesitated. She had remembered that afternoon in Brian's office when Vicky had opened the door and seen her weeping. Did Vicky remember? Had she recognized her? And what possible construction had she put on the situation? The thought made Gale uncomfortable, just as the sight of Vicky in her furs and her audacious hat, sitting in that shabby room with her knees crossed and swinging one French-heeled foot made her uncomfortable.

But Brian was waiting for her to say something.

"I'll be glad to do anything I can," Gale said. She studied the other girl. Vicky didn't look to Gale like anyone who could be very helpful in the mill village. She couldn't imagine her bathing the Dinwiddies' baby or sitting beside Grandpa Higgins, whose fondness for chewing tobacco was always evidenced by the spots on his shirt. Vicky didn't even look like a person who wanted to be helpful. Why had Brian done this?

Gale thought, all at once, that she understood. This was his way of bridging his world and hers. He had thought that if she and Vicky Thatcher were friends the rest would be simple. That was what Brian had said: "I know you're going to like each other, going to be friends."

"Oh, but that made all the difference in the world! Suddenly, Gale smiled. She said, "Everyone knows everyone else here. We're all neighbors. I'll take you anywhere you like. When shall we go? Of course, I'm at the mill most of the day—"

Vicky was not looking at her, did not seem to be listening. She said, "Oh, Brian—I must have left my purse in your car!"

"I'll get it," he said, on his feet. "Be back in a moment."

Vicky watched the door close behind him. She lifted her head slightly, smiled a sulky smile. "Brian's sweet, isn't he?" she said.

Vicky nodded. "Everyone thinks so," she agreed. "And so good-looking, too. I don't suppose I should tell you—but I'm going to. It's supposed to be a secret; and you must promise not to tell!"

She hesitated. Gale sat watching her. She didn't know what it was that had happened but suddenly she was afraid to move, afraid to breathe. There was something fearful in the air.

The other girl went on. "It's supposed to be a secret," she said again, "but I know you'll keep it for us. Brian and I are going to be married!"

Cold cruel eyes watched the other girl. "I've even set the date of the wedding," Vicky went on, mercilessly. "That is, it's going to be in June some time. I think June weddings are much the nicest, don't you?"

Gale's lips moved but no words came. She tried again and said, "Oh—oh, yes."

"I don't suppose anyone will really be surprised about it," Vicky went on. "That is, our friends, I mean." There was the faintest perceptible accent on the "our." "You see, it's really a boy and girl affair. Ever since we were children it's been taken for granted that this would happen some time. And the relatives—Brian's family and mine—are both so pleased."

Vicky stopped suddenly. "Why, for goodness sake," she explained, "you're white as a sheet! Is there anything wrong? You look as though you'd had a shock—"

"I'm quite all right," Gale said. The words sounded to her ears as though they came from a great way off. "I hope you'll be very happy."

"Well, thank you." Vicky was smiling again. "And I'm sure we will be. Everyone says we're so well suited to each other. It's on account of Brian that I'm here to-night. He's so wrapped up in the mill and I want to be interested in whatever he is. I think a husband and wife—of course we aren't that now, but we're going to be—should share the same life, don't you?"

Gale was spared from answering. The door opened and Brian reappeared. He said, "Sorry, Vicky, but I hunted all over the car and couldn't find that purse. You're sure you had it with you—?"

Vicky nodded. "Yes," she said. "I remember—" and then stopped. "Oh, Brian," she went on, "I believe I did leave it at home. I remember laying it on my dressing table and then coming downstairs. I must have forgotten to go up for it again. I'm terribly sorry!"

"Doesn't matter, so long as you're sure it isn't lost. Well, have you two girls got everything settled? Made all your plans?"

"I'm afraid not," Vicky told him, smiling. "We've been so busy chattering and getting acquainted. I'm afraid we did forget to talk about anything else. She turned toward Gale. "But you're going to let me come again, aren't you?"

"Come whenever you want to," Gale told her. "Come anytime."

"That's sweet of you!" Vicky got to her feet. "Don't you think we'd better go now?" she said to Brian.

"If you're ready."

"Then I'll say good night." Vicky pulled her coat together, put out one of her hands and took Gale's. She said sweetly, "I think you've been awfully nice and I'm sure we're going to be great friends!"

Gale's eyes avoided Brian. She said, "Good night" and heard the door close behind them. For an instant she stood, staring at the chair where Vicky had sat. There was a sound behind her and she turned. Brian stood in the doorway.

He said, "Gale, if I come back can I see you alone?"

"Please—" she said. "I wish you'd go away!"

"But Gale—?"

"Will you please go?"

She heard the door close for the second time.

CHAPTER XXXIII

The amazing fact to Gale was that everything went on the next day, just as it had. The sun shone brightly. Birds were singing as she walked to work—sharp, shrill notes that were a mockery. Two girls, standing beside Gale in the cloak room, laughed and joked as they hung away their coats and hats.

It was all just as it had been the day before.

And yet, how could it be? How could there be laughter and gaiety in the world? How could anything be the same when for Gale there was only blankness and emptiness everywhere? Standing before the pounding machines, staring at the blur of moving hands and jerking bobbins, Gale saw Vicky Thatcher again, drawing her beautiful fur coat around her. She heard Vicky, saying in low-pitched even tones, "It's supposed to be a secret but . . . Brian and I are going to be married. In June sometime. I think June weddings are the nicest, don't you?"

Yes, it was true—not a nightmare, not a hideous, fantastic creation of imagination that could be brushed aside and forgotten. Vicky had sat in the Hendersons' shabby living-room and said those words. She and Brian were going to be married.

Something tight clutched about Gale's heart, making her cold all over. She thought, "It's going to be like this from now on. It will always be like this—"

Once during that terrible, endless night Gale had pressed her hands together and buried her face in the pillow, sobbing in a muffled, smothered voice, "I can't go on! I can't!"

But she knew that she could. People did, somehow. People all over the world who were suffering and broken-hearted, for whom brief visions of happiness had suddenly shattered, managed to piece together their broken lives once more.

Gale thought, "It's better to know it now. I ought to be glad it happened this way."

She should have been, and yet the thought failed to comfort her.

She had rehearsed the same arguments the night before. Lying, wide-eyed, in the darkness, she had pictured again the scene with Vicky. She had gone over all that Brian had said Sunday—fragmentary sentences that had seemed so precious then. Why had he said them? Why had he said, "I love you, Gale. I think I've loved you since the first time I saw you."

Why? Because Steve had been right about Brian, and she had been wrong. Because she was a mill girl and Brian found it amusing to pretend he cared for her. Silly of her to suppose it had been more than that for one moment.

EINSTEIN WILL SPEAK ON AIR

Professor Albert Einstein, world famous scientists, is scheduled to be heard over a coast-to-coast network of the Columbia Broadcasting System, from 12.45 to 1 p.m., P.S.T., to-morrow when he addresses a meeting to be held in his honor by the Women's Division of the American Jewish Congress. The broadcast will originate in the ballroom of the Hotel Commodore, New York City.

The distinguished scientist, who rarely is heard on the radio, has consented to be guest of honor at the reception and broadcast in order to assist the American Jewish Congress in its work of protecting the rights of Jews.

Professor Einstein is honorary chairman of the executive committee for a World Jewish Congress and is one of the most outspoken opponents of the Nazi regime.

Stations will include KOL, KVI and KSL.

Radio Speaker 110 Years Old

Dr. Marie Davenport, To Be Heard Over KOMO To-morrow, Taught Pavlova, and Was Friend of Wagner

Dr. Marie Charlotte de Gollere Davenport, 110 years of age, the oldest woman ever to speak on the air, will be heard over an NBC nation-wide network at 1.30 p.m., P.S.T., to-morrow.

Her 110 years sit lightly on the slender shoulders of Dr. Davenport, who weighs eighty pounds and is as sprightly as a sixteen-year-old girl. She has very decided ideas about life and she will explain to the radio audience how they have kept her youthful for more than a century.

Dr. Davenport was the first dramatic teacher of Pavlova. She was a friend of Wagner and studied music under Liszt. At the age of sixty-one, she enrolled at the University of Vienna as a medical student, continuing at Heidelberg, where she received her degree. Dr. Davenport came to America more than forty years ago, and toured this country many times.

Stations in the west broadcasting this programme are expected to include KOO and KOMO.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE

As far as I am concerned, beef hash, made with plenty of gravy, onion and potato, is my idea of a dish that is fit to set before the king. But my family probably would strike if I gave them hash everytime we have a roast, and so I have worked out a whole procession of things that are interesting to do with left-over meat.

To begin with, there is rechauffee, which is, as it sounds, very, very French and pretty thrifty, too. To make rechauffe, you reheat slices of meat in left-over gravy or in a special brown sauce. As a seasoning for this sauce try Worcestershire, or one-fourth teaspoon each curry powder, mustard and paprika. Heat the sauce to the boiling point, add thin slices of meat and let stand over hot water until heated through. Serve at once.

STEW ADDS VEGETABLES

A stew is a rechauffee with vegetables. Make a stock from the bones of the roast and from this stock make a thin brown sauce. Add cubes of of cold meat of any variety. For each cup of cold meat add 1 cup pared and sliced potatoes, ½ cup each of cubed turnips and carrots and ½ small onion minced. Simmer until vegetables are tender and serve very hot.

A ragout is a rich stew in which the meat and vegetables both are cubed. The brown sauce in this case is highly seasoned with table sauce and onion juice and is slightly thickened. For vegetables try cooked celery and peas.

In making a fricassee the meat is cut in neat slices and rolled in flour. The floured pieces are sauted in butter or drippings until brown all over and served in a brown sauce. Points of toast or split baking powder biscuits are good to serve with fricassee.

CASSEROLE WITH BROWN SAUCE

A casserole is meat and vegetables combined in a brown sauce. The contents of the refrigerator will determine the ingredients. The casserole is baked, covered, in the oven for forty-five to sixty minutes. Two cups meat, 3 cups mixed vegetables and 2 cups brown sauce are good proportions to use.

Meat pie is a rechauffee covered with baking powder biscuit dough and baked in a hot oven until the crust is done. Sliced potatoes or other vegetables may be combined with the meat.

A way to serve left-over pork or beef is in tamale pie. Reheat the meat in a brown sauce with chili peppers, chopped ripe olives and raisins. Line a baking dish with cornmeal mush, put in the meat in its sauce and cover with mounds of mush. Bake thirty to forty-five minutes in a moderately hot oven. Serve from baking dish.

CABBAGE AND GRAPEFRUIT SALAD

New cabbage is in market now and grapefruit is at its best and cheapest. So by all means serve a cabbage and grapefruit salad with your stew, casserole, or whatever you made of it! Marinate the fruit in salad oil and let the cabbage stand in very cold water until crisp. Drain thoroughly. Drain the fruit. Pour the liquid over cabbage, season with salt, paprika and a little powdered sugar, add grapefruit segments and serve.

To-morrow's Menu

Dinner—Fricassee of veal with baking powder biscuits, scalloped tomatoes and corn, grapefruit and cabbage salad, dried peach up-side-down cake, milk, coffee.

MAIDEN WINS ARE RECORDED

Three Horses Register Initial Victories at Santa Anita Track

Los Angeles, Feb. 26.—Maiden victories were recorded yesterday by three horses at the Santa Anita track, with F. A. Carreaud's Cantino Lass winning the $1,000 California Handicap, one-mile feature of the racing programme, to chalk up her initial triumph in three starts.

The other maiden wins were credited to Bonagal, a bay gelding owned by the San Luis Rey Stable, and Sun Dad, who walked off with a three-furlong race for babies. Bonagal's win was a distinct upset, at the horse was a 30 to 1 shot.

A peculiarity of the mutuel pay-off on the California Handicap was the fact Cantino Lass paid more on place tickets than to win, $16.20 and $14.60, respectively.

Other winners were Night Jasmine, Can Ele, Straight Jacket and Porcodine.

Finland May Get Olympic Games

Oslo, Norway, Feb. 26.—While representatives of Italy and Japan engaged yesterday in an animated verbal dispute over which nation would be host to the 1940 Olympic Games, word spread through the committee chambers that the international classic may be awarded to Finland as a means of settling the contention between the Italians and the Nippons.

Several weeks ago Japanese officials announced joyously that Italy had withdrawn its bid to hold the games, but yesterday, as the international committee opened its session, Count Boacossa, the Italian delegate, said Italy was still a candidate.

SOCCER TEAMS BACK IN FOLD

Peace Again Reigns in Manitoba After Season of "Outlaw" Competition

Winnipeg, Feb. 26. — Peace reigned to-day in Manitoba soccer circles.

Operating all last season as an "outlaw" league, three senior soccer teams were back within the fold of the Manitoba Football Association as the result of a meeting, and another team was recognized.

Fort Rouge Rangers, Scottish and Telephones were re-instated by the M.F.A. after difficulties were ironed out. The Monarch Club, which never previously had been affiliated with the M.F.A., was granted membership as well. Return of the three clubs and admission of the four indicated the Manitoba Senior League this year would have about seven teams.

The committee's recommendation, adopted by the M.F.A. meeting, added: "In proposing the recommendation, your committee wishes it clearly understood that it is not meant as a whitewash or an acquittal for all those whom it considers guilty in various degrees. Your committee, however, feels that the greater aspect of the situation demands of us a broad and liberal treatment, and in recommending reinstatement of the Rangers, Telephones and Scottish clubs, officials and players, your committee feels that we are less likely to err by recommending suspended sentence."

British Movie Houses Bought

Producers Take Over Many Theatres to Bring Hollywood to Terms

Associated Press

London, Feb. 26. — The leading British movie producers have declared war on Hollywood competition, it was reliably indicated to-day, and are believed to be forging a powerful weapon to equal distribution of pictures with the United States.

The British International Pictures and Gaumont are reported to have spent $17,000,000 during the last week in a frenzied buying up of movie houses in England — Gaumont $12,000,000 and the B.I.P. $5,000,000. Both companies already own several hundred houses.

It is believed they are preparing to join forces in an effort to bring Hollywood producers to terms. One British official was reported to have said:

"Hollywood has, by its own greed, killed the goose that laid the golden egg. By demanding in many cases half of the theatre's revenue they have ruined many independent owners. We are grasping the opportunity to buy them out."

THE SCREEN

AT DOMINION

Walter Connolly and Robert Young have two of the leading roles in "Whom the Gods Destroy," which is now at the Dominion Theatre, as the second feature.

Schubert Story Here To-morrow

"The Unfinished Symphony," a Gaumont-British picture which creates a romantic suggestion of why Schubert's great work was never completed, is a veritable feast of Schubertian music and is coming to the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

Besides the delightful voice of Marta Eggerth heard in the "Serenade" and "Ave Maria" numbers, the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, the Weiner Saengerknaben (a boys' choir), the chorus of the State Opera, Vienna, and the Gypsy Band Gyula Rozsath combine in masterly renditions of the great composer's works, particularly the symphony, which gives the picture its title. This is the English version of the film which created a big sensation when presented at the Curzon Theatre, Mayfair, some time ago.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Lee Tracy creates one of Damon Runyon's best liked characters in Paramount's "The Lemon Drop Kid," which is at the Playhouse Theatre.

As the "Kid" of the title, Tracy's self-assured, fast-talking style fits in perfectly with Runyon's original conception, for the "Kid" is a race track insider who thinks he knows the answers to everything. As a matter of fact, he gets away with all his elaborate plans until a misplaced bet sends him scurrying to a small town where he intends to hide out until he can return safely to his old haunts.

Toronto, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press). —Operating surplus of the Canadian National Exhibition last year amounted to $152,594 compared with $168,594 in 1933, it was shown in the annual report submitted yesterday.

POPULAR STAR AT DOMINION

Ramon Novarro Has Leading Role With Fine Cast in "The Night Is Young"

Once more Ramon Novarro is appearing in romantic uniforms such as he wore in "The Prisoner of Zenda," "The Student Prince" and others of his outstanding successes. Tailors fabricated a series of elaborate outfits for him for his latest appearance in "The Night Is Young," glamorous romance of Vienna in which he and Evelyn Laye, British singing star, are lovers.

The new picture, now showing at the Dominion Theatre, is a glamorous story with haunting music, dealing with the Imperial Ballet in Vienna, and the love of a young archduke and a ballet dancer, these roles being played by the two co-stars.

With libretto by Oscar Hammerstein and music by Sigmund Romberg, the team that gave the theatre "Desert Song," "New Moon," and such hits, the picture is set in spectacular surroundings, such as the great Vienna Opera, the Royal Box, the Emperor's Palace, the famous Vienna Prater, or great amusement park, and in quaint Viennese wine gardens, cafes and other continental play spots.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Jack Oakie spent his childhood days in Oklahoma, and it was as "Oklahoma" that he was known while he was attending high school in New York some years later, though the name was sometimes shortened to "Oky." When he went on the stage, though his real name was (and is) Lewis Offield, he took the name of "Oakie," and just pulled the "Jack" out of the air, so to speak. Oakie is now appearing on the screen of the Columbia Theatre in the leading role of "Once in a Lifetime," Universal's hilarious satire on life in the Hollywood film studios.

MISSION PLAN IS SUPPORTED

Simultaneous Worship Here As Part of National Move For Evangelism

Simultaneous missions in Victoria and district to promote evangelism, as part of a national move among various denominations aimed at the evangelization of Canadian life, were supported by members of the Victoria Ministerial Association at a meeting yesterday. It was agreed the missions would be held during the coming autumn and winter. Rev. Dr. B. A. Henry presided.

Announcement was made that a delegation of Christian leaders would visit Victoria during the autumn, coming from other parts of the Dominion and Great Britain. About this time it is hoped to arrange a mass meeting of Christian people here to take part in a "service of witness" similar to that held recently in the Montreal Forum.

In the meantime individual city ministers will work towards increased spiritual life and church membership, taking advantage of the Lenten season to achieve this objective.

Arrangements were announced for a weekly service of prayer to be held every Friday at 12.30 o'clock. The first will be held in Bethany Church with Rev. Dr. G. E. Switzer as director.

The meeting heard an outline from Paul S. Elliott of the Institute of International Education, dealing with plans for the gathering in Portland from July 8 to 15, at which matters relating to peace among the nations will be discussed.

Rev. Hugh M. Rae, Vancouver, will address next Monday's meeting of the association in the Y.W.C.A.

EXPECT LATE CITY BUDGET

Victoria Awaiting Government Action Before Working on 1935 Estimates

Prospects of a late civic budget were seen at the City Hall to-day as conditions governing its passage were considered. Since tabling the original draft for 1935, submitted early in the year, the council as a whole has taken no action on the matter.

The parks committee is reported to be half-way through consideration of its estimates, but other committees have yet to deal with their sections, it was understood.

Definite action will be tied up until the close of the present session of the provincial legislature as members of the City Council desire to see what treatment they will receive from the provincial body.

The first reconsidered draft has also been tied up as a result of January floods. Kept busy attending to damages and general complaints occasioned by the deluges of last month, the city engineer has not been able to turn his attention to his estimates. When they are assembled the city comptroller will be able to present another draft within four days.

CHAIRMAN AWAY

As a further feature, speed on the budget is held up by the absence from the city of Alderman P. R. Brown, chairman of the finance committee, whose deliberations on the estimates carry exceptional weight.

Last year the estimates were approved on March 28. In good times they have been passed by the end of February.

According to the Municipal Act, the mill rate must be struck by May 15.

When the civic estimates finally do come down, their appearance will be largely colored by provincial government action, it is understood.

CUT TO BONE NOW

In previous years the council figures it has cut expenditures to the bone. The aldermen do not believe they can make further reductions. From consistent argument it has been gathered maintenance costs cannot be lowered, the usual run of repair work being at a minimum.

With relief costs declared static by the mayor, little hope is entertained for a reduction there, unless the provincial government assumes part, or all, of the burden.

By refunding and borrowing the council will again be able to maintain a mill rate of a similar nature to that of last year, it is forecast.

The question of a donation to the Tuberculous Veterans' Section will be considered by the Esquimalt Council at the same time as the general estimates, it was decided by the council at their meeting yesterday evening on receipt of a request for support from the section.

SENTENCED ON FRAUD COUNTS

Robert Orr to Be Imprisoned For Six Months on Local and Mainland Charges

A sentence of three months' imprisonment, to be served at the expiration of a three-months' term imposed on the mainland, was given Robert Orr, alias L. S. Hood, alias W. Holmes, alias F. Wood, by Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning. Orr admitted four charges of fraud in court appearances yesterday and on Saturday.

In two instances, where the accused received cash for worthless cheques, the magistrate imposed sentences of three months each, to run concurrently, at the expiration of the mainland terms. On two other charges, those of falsely obtaining board and lodgings from the Empress Hotel and defrauding the C.P.R. with worthless cheques, he was given two months each, to run concurrently with the three-months' term.

In commenting on the cases where the accused received cash, the magistrate stated he had not only defrauded the persons who had given him the money, but he had attempted to defraud the banks.

In both Victoria and on the mainland the accused admitted eleven charges of fraud, during which he victimized individuals, hotels and stores in this city, Vancouver and New Westminster.

DIFFICULT JOB, JUDGE DECLARES

Administering Cases Under Mortagors' and Purchasers' Relief Act Heard

"One of the most difficult things a judge has to do on the bench is to administer cases under this act," said Mr. Justice Robertson of the Supreme Court to-day when John L. Clay, counsel for Arthur Brooks Cotton, applied for leave to initiate foreclosure proceedings under the Mortgagors and Purchasers' Relief Act against Victoria Josephine Lancaster over residential property in the Fairfield district.

Mr. Clay said that Mrs. Lancaster was six months in arrears in taxes on the property on which Mr. Cotton had loaned $2,500 at 7 per cent, the capital sum of which she had reduced to $2,000 by paying off $500.

"Mrs. Lancaster is a large owner of property in Victoria, but she can't collect her rents," said F. J. Sinnott, counsel for Mrs. Lancaster. "Once she can get in payments owing to her on her properties she can soon clean up the interest and taxes owing to Mr. Cotton. This action, because of the expense it adds, only makes it more difficult for her. It is one of those cases where the judge can exercise his discretion and delay proceedings. Mr. Cotton is a man of considerable wealth and is not harmed much by a little delay."

Mr. Justice Robertson indicated how difficult it was to decide what should be done in such a case and announced he would think the matter over before giving a decision.

Bishop-coadjutor To Be Appointed

Thirty-fifth Meeting of the Anglican Synod Opens in City To-morrow; Church's Share in Evangelization of Canadian Life to Be Discussed

Appointment of a bishop-coadjutor as proposed by Rt. Rev. C. D. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, will be the main business to come before the thirty-fifth session of the Anglican Synod which will open to-morrow, meeting in the Memorial Hall. Bishop Schofield will preside.

Several names will be submitted by the nomination committee for the office of bishop-coadjutor, it is understood. The step was deemed necessary because of the impaired health of the bishop during the last few years. It is felt that he needs assistance in performing his duties as head of the diocese.

Other matters of direct importance to the church, including consideration of recommendations by a committee of laymen on the church's share in the Canadian-wide movement for "The Evangelization of Canadian Life," and the report of the Diocesan Board of Religious Education, will come up for discussion at the session.

Delegates to the synod, which embraces the clergy and representative laymen of Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands, by way of preparation convened this afternoon for "quiet hours" in Christ Church Cathedral and will attend evensong service at 8 o'clock this evening.

Rev. F. H. Wilkinson, rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, will preach at the evening service.

MANY PAY TRIBUTE

The funeral of Francis Hinds was held yesterday afternoon and was attended by a large number of friends, whose floral tributes were a silent testimony to the high esteem in which the late Mr. Hinds was held. Rev. James Hyde conducted the service, during which the hymns, "There's a Land That Is Fairer Than Day" and "Rock of Ages" were sung. Interment was in Colwood Burial Park. The following acted as pallbearers: D. A. Henry, R. Petticrew, W. Benson, S. H. Shaw, C. F. Banfield and A. Monteith.

TURN DOWN BERRY PLAN

Vancouver Island Exchange Disapproves of Proposed Marketing Scheme

The proposed marketing scheme to cover small fruits and rhubarb in the province, as drawn up by the British Columbia Coast Growers' Association, was turned down at an open meeting of the Vancouver Island Co-operative Exchange, yesterday evening at Keating.

A resolution which read as follows was unanimously passed:

"That this meeting of the Vancouver Island Co-operative Fruit Exchange does not approve of the marketing scheme for rhubarb and small fruits as submitted by the committee appointed at a meeting held in New Westminster on February 9, 1935, and also does not approve of the provisional board as appointed at that meeting."

The Vancouver Island Fruit Exchange also decided to withdraw from the British Columbia Coast Growers' Association.

The meeting was open to all interested, and a number of growers from the Saanich and Keating organizations were present, beside ninety-five per cent of the membership of the Vancouver Island Co-operative Fruit Exchange.

W. C. Kersey, president of the exchange, explained the various clauses in the scheme, and spoke of the drastic measures and levies that would have to be enforced. He declared that the plan would give immense powers to the local board which would be tantamount to a dictatorship.

The president stressed the fact that the local board also fixed its own remunerations.

Captain Livesey, chairman of the provisional board, addressed the meeting at some length. He explained some of the benefits to be obtained from the scheme.

In answer to a question, Captain Livesey stated that he thought the local board would cost about $14,000 to $16,000 a year.

H. C. Oldfield also spoke in favor of the scheme.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Scott, who passed away yesterday at her home, 1315 Vining Street, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Dr. A. S. Lamb, travelling provincial medical health officer and chest specialist, will hold a chest clinic in the Jubilee Hospital the week beginning March 4. Examinations at this clinic are free. Those wishing a consultation are asked to make arrangements through their family doctor.

OPPOSITION TO TAX SALE PLAN

Committee Members Disagree With Scheme to Collect Water and Light Rates

Strenuous opposition to a clause in the Municipal Act which makes property liable for tax sale because of non-payment of municipal electric light, water and power rates was expressed in the municipal committee of the Legislature this morning, led by Mrs. Paul Smith, Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard.

"If a municipality goes into the business of providing electric light and water services, it should do the same as a private business and take its chances of collection. It is unfair to an owner that his property should go to tax sale for unpaid rates charged against someone else," she said.

"What we have been trying to do lately is to make property owners more secure, not less secure. This seems like adding insult to injury," she declared.

The amendment in question was put into the Municipal Act last year but was unworkable in its present form and clarifications are proposed this year.

S. S. McKeen, Liberal, Vancouver-Point Grey, and R. H. Carson, Liberal, Kamloops, supported Mrs. Smith in her contention.

Mr. McKeen argued that the regular tax levies covered such standard services as police and fire protection, but electric light and water were services of a particular nature and should be treated as such.

Mr. Carson argued that in the case of regular taxes an owner had some idea at the beginning of the month what he would have to pay, but such things as water rates could vary tremendously and he would have no control over what a tenant might use.

R. R. F. Sewell, Saanich municipal clerk, appearing for the Union of B.C. Municipalities, said the committee members might be too exercised about protection of owners who were not occupants. In most municipalities by far the largest proportion of houses were occupied by their owners.

While the committee did not come to a final decision on the question, it was suggested that repeal of the clause might be considered.

The union concluded its submission to the committee this morning, dealing with a variety of proposed legislation passed at the last municipal convention.

Former Victorian Dies on Mainland

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Elgin M. Ferrier, aged forty-five, died suddenly on Friday afternoon at his residence, 3716 West Twenty-sixth. Mr. Ferrier, who was one of the oldest and most experienced electric refrigeration experts in B.C., was in good health during the day, but collapsed shortly after returning to his home from the office.

A native of eastern Canada, Mr. Ferrier resided in Victoria for some years before taking up residence in this city. As a youth he took part in the Rossland gold rush. During the war he was in charge of electrical work at Esquimalt.

PLAN BUREAU FOR SPEAKERS

New Service Announced By Y.M.C.A. at Board Meeting Yesterday Evening

A bureau to provide competent speakers on all subject is the latest service to be offered by the Y.M.C.A. Details of the new scheme were announced in the report of the educational committee submitted to the board of directors at their monthly meeting yesterday evening by E. G. Rowebottom.

The bureau would provide lecturers for club luncheons and similar functions, and also judges and critics for debates.

A committee was appointed yesterday evening to complete the organization of the new service. It is composed by Dr. A. M. Menzies, W. T. Cook and Frank Paulding, secretary of the "Y."

FINANCIAL REPORT

The healthy financial condition of the association was stressed in the financial committee's report presented by J. O. Cameron, treasurer. The budgeted deficit of $5,500 would not be exceeded, said Mr. Cameron. He also stated that the organization of the joint Y.M.C.A.-Y.W.C.A. financial drive, which is due to open March 11, was progressing favorably.

A letter from the national council of the Y.M.C.A. pointing out the need of further interest in the international work of the association, was referred to the religious and foreign committee, under the chairmanship of W. A. Jameson. In this connection Mr. Cameron gave an interesting account of a visit to the Togo branch of the "Y."

The physical committee report submitted by Dr. T. W. A. Gray pointed to increase participation in all activities over the same month of last year. Similar increase in club attendances was noted in the boys' work committee report, handed in by Ed. Dickinson.

Activity in the public speaking classes and in the recently formed Camera Club were also noted in Mr. Rowebottom's educational report.

H. B. Witter, president of the local branch of the "Y," was in the chair for the meeting.

Fifteen Tons For One Day's Food

Victoria consumes in the neighborhood of fifteen and one-half tons of oranges, bananas and vegetables every day.

This fact was revealed this morning when it was learned that 154 tons of produce, comprising the largest shipment local wholesalers have ever received in a two-day period, arrived in the city this morning.

These supplies will last for ten days, when the next refrigerator boat from California arrives in port. Due to the fact that most of their fruit and vegetables come by boat, and the service is not regular, city wholesalers have to anticipate three weeks ahead of time what the people are going to eat.

They point out that a few years ago the supplies used to travel by train to Seattle and then by boat to Victoria. In those days they could get their orders filled almost whenever they wanted, and had only to look ahead ten days. But now practically all vegetables and fruit travel by boat from the golden state to Vancouver Island, and the service is only weekly or every ten days.

The food, however, is preserved a good deal better on the refrigerator ships, wholesalers say, and it also costs a good deal less.

The huge shipment was made up of eighty-eight tons of citrous fruits, 90 per cent of which were oranges; fifty tons of vegetables, and sixteen tons of bananas. All the citrous fruits and vegetables were from California, while the bananas came from Central America. Seventy-two tons of this produce arrived on Saturday and kept wholesalers busy till late in the afternoon, while the rest of the supplies, eighty-two tons in all, were unloaded off one ship yesterday.

Included in the mixed vegetables were celery, lettuce, spinach, cauliflower and bunch carrots.

GROUP HONORS MISS C. E. FOX

Dickens' Fellowship Makes Presentation to Former Secretary

Miss Catherine E. Fox, who recently retired after many years in the office of secretary of the local branch of the Dickens Fellowship, was honored by members at a meeting of the organization yesterday evening.

A presentation to Miss Fox in the form of a scroll in token of the club's appreciation of her work and a plate of Crown Ducal ware, picturing a scene from the Pickwick Papers, was made by C. C. Pemberton, first president of the Victoria branch of the fellowship.

The signatures on the scroll were as follows: C. C. Pemberton, first president of the Dickens Fellowship, Victoria branch; H. L. Pensham, president, 1935; A. W. Arnup, second vice-president; Mrs. J. B. Kennedy, secretary; M. L. Gray, treasurer; Mrs. M. Chapple, M. C. Foulkes, Evaline M. Pemberton, Mabel E. Cheer, Jessie M. Gray, W. Dunsmore, J. M. Skidmore, J. P. Hibben, R. A. Donald, E. Pearson, M. Howarth and E. Pensham.

A presentation to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Llewellyn, who recently moved to Vancouver, was also reported to the meeting by the secretary, Mrs. Kennedy. Mr. Llewellyn was for three years president of the society. The token took the form of a Dickens plaque to him, and a hand-painted plate to Mrs. Llewellyn. The presentations were made personally by Mrs. Kennedy shortly before their departure.

WILL PRESENT SKETCH

Plans for the performance at next month's meeting of the club of a comic sketch from one of Dickens's books were taken up at yesterday evening's meeting. Those who will take part are: Mrs. M. M. Beasley, Mrs. A. Chapple, Mrs. J. Pearson, Mrs. M. Foulkes, Major J. P. Hibben, T. H. Laundy and Major R. A. Donald.

Literary features of the evening included the usual response to the roll call by members with suitable Dickens quotations, a reading by the president of a passage from "Pickwick Papers," and an interesting talk on Dickens's letters to his son in Australia, presented by Major Donald.

Mr. Pemberton gave some interesting information to the members on the subject of Bishop Bompas, Bishop of the Yukon from 1891 to 1906, and son of the Sergeant Bompas who was the prototype of Dickens's Sergeant Buzfuzz. Mr. Pemberton had personally seen the bishop somewhere near the turn of the century.

Major Donald told the meeting of the tribute paid to the humanitarianism of Dickens in the story of Ann Sullivan Macey, the wayward foundling who became the teacher of Helen Keller.

Major Hibben recalled how he had first became a member of the fellowship.

Death Removes Miss J. M. Leonard

There passed away yesterday evening at the family residence, 2616 Work Street, Miss Jessie M. Leonard, age forty-two years. Born in Winnipeg, Manitoba, she had been a resident of this city for forty-one years.

She is survived by her mother at home, one brother, Percy A. L. Leonard, in Montreal, and two aunts, Mrs. A. Vokes, at the family residence, and Mrs. M. Jeffries, Moss Street.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the chapel of the Sands Mortuary Ltd. Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the Colwood Burial Park.

The Burnside Ladies' Bowling Club will hold a bridge party at the Hampton Road Hall to-morrow evening, at 8 o'clock. Members are invited to attend.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

GENE SARAZEN predicts an annual pilgrimage of professional golfers to Australia as the result of the success of the troop movement in that direction last fall. Golfing fans in the United States are fed up on exhibitions, and there is no money in England for them. "Australia is the place to cash in on a British or an American open title," says the sawed-off Sarazen. "Galleries in Melbourne, Sydney and Adelaide will pay to see foreign champions."

California gold rush. The winter tour ended abruptly for him when he objected to the introduction of pari-mutuel betting in the Agua Caliente open. "When I stow away my clubs for keeps I want to feel that I've done my part toward keeping golf clean and honorable," declares Sarazen, in explaining his withdrawal from the competition in lower California. "My conscience couldn't stomach the pari-mutuel racket.

"Golf and public gambling don't mix. Golf is one game that has never been contaminated by the gambling element. It would lose its integrity if pari-mutuels became a feature of professional tournaments." Sarazen recalls vividly the scandal at Fresh Meadow in the 1932 United States open, when a gambling clique tried to hold up the club authorities for bookmaking concessions and resorted to sabotage on the greens after being refused. "Two big policemen were detailed to walk beside me on the final thirty-six holes as a precaution against troublemakers," recounts the former caddy who scaled the heights. "The presence of these uniformed guards upset my concentration. I played so poorly that the cops were withdrawn at the forty-fourth hole, when I appeared hopelessly out of the running. Immediately I relaxed, struck an unmistakable streak, and played the last twenty-eight holes in 100 strokes, to win."

Sarazen points out that golf would be the easiest of all games to throw or fix, and that the way to keep it free from vicious talk is not to permit anything that would give the slightest excuse for it. "Suppose I required a four to lead the field on a given day at the home hole under the pari-mutuel system of wagering on each round," asserts Sarazen. "Nobody could tell whether a hooked iron or a sliced putt was premeditated or involuntary.

"Let us say that I hooked my drive and missed a putt to finish with a six. I'm entirely capable of such errors, but weasel-minded gamblers might insinuate that I had thrown the medal deliberately, acting in cahoots with some betting ring. Even if my six was acknowledged to be accidental I might alienate a section of the public which had bet on me. Disgruntled losers might never forgive my mistakes. Once let the pari-mutuels get a foothold in golf and it no longer would rate the title 'ancient and honorable game.'"

Gerald Walker is now sought by the New York Yankees as well as by the St. Louis Browns. Walker, suspended by Mickey Cochrane, of the Detroit Tigers, early last season for stupid base running, showed how much he had improved by being caught off first base after delivering a heroic blow as a pinch-hitter in the world baseball series. Both Joe McCarthy and Rogers Hornsby have an idea that they can reform the Mississippi Rebel, however. "You can't be crazy on the bases without getting on," says McCarthy. "Walker gets to first base, which is something that cannot be said for some of the other outfielders drawing pay in the American League."

Brooklyn Dodgers Take Over Reading

New York, Feb. 26.—The Brooklyn Dodgers increased their minor league affiliations to three to-day by announcing they would take over the Reading club of the New York-Penn League this season.

Rob Quinn, Dodger business manager, who has been negotiating for the franchise for several weeks, said "from now on we are developing our own ball players."

The Dodgers already had working connections with Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League and Dayton in the Middle Atlantic League.

Up-island Clubs Must Have A.A.U. Cards To Compete

Blue Ribbons Are Cleared By A.A.U.

Basketball affairs on Vancouver Island were blown higher than a kite to-day with the announcement from Jack Taylor, president of the Victoria and District Basketball League, that local teams would claim island championships in three divisions: Senior B men, senior C men and intermediate A boys—unless contending teams from up-island could produce Amateur Athletic Union of Canada cards for their players.

This action followed the announcement made in Vancouver yesterday by Frank Filmer, chief commissioner of the Amateur Athletic Union of the B.C. branch registration committee, that the Duncan Union 76 senior B men's team were on the temporary suspended list for failure to take out amateur cards.

THREE HAVE CARDS

From information obtained to-day from Gordon Wooldridge, president of the B.C. branch of the A.A.U., it was learned that only three girls' teams in Nanaimo, namely: Nanaimo Yacht Club in the women's senior B division; Nanaimo Wide Awakes, in the intermediate A girls' division, and Nanaimo High School, in the intermediate B girls' section, were in possession of A.A.U. cards. If such is the case, it means that all other teams up-island, with the exception of the intermediate B boys' squads, which are not required to take out amateur cards, will be left out in the cold as far as Vancouver Island play-offs are concerned.

Wooldridge was in receipt of a wire to-day from Filmer to the effect that no more cards will be issued to basketball teams wishing to take part in island play-offs. This means that unless the island clubs have their cards they have no hope of getting them now.

As far as the Duncan team is concerned, they are definitely out, Wooldridge declared. The Duncan players have not got their cards, although they have been applied for. However, Duncan played against Ladysmith in the up-island play-offs and the latter players have no cards and have never applied for them.

President Taylor this morning wired Tom Lewis, president of the Vancouver Island Basketball Association, to the effect that Victoria would claim championships in the three divisions already mentioned, unless the amateur cards could be produced.

This action has been taken following the agreement reached by the British Columbia Basketball Association and the B.C. branch of the Amateur Athletic Union, several weeks ago, following a drawn-out controversy.

SAME OLD STORY

Speaking on the question of up-island teams and A.A.U. cards, Wooldridge said:

"It is the same old story. Teams up-island have been holding off getting their cards year after year, but this season we have decided to force them to come to time.

"In previous years the Victoria clubs and possibly two or three teams up-island have been the only ones to get their cards, but now we are determined that all teams competing in playoffs must be in possession of the cards.

"The up-island clubs have no alibis. They were warned weeks ago that they would have to get their cards and if they failed to do so they have only themselves to blame."

BLUE RIBBONS CLEARED

When questioned regarding the statement made by the Duncan team that the Victoria Blue Ribbons had outlawed themselves by playing against the touring House of David players, a professional team, Mr. Woodridge replied that the charge had absolutely no foundation.

In backing up his statement, the B.C. head of the A.A.U. produced the following letter from John Leslie, Edmonton, honorary secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada:

"Confirming our telephonic conversation to-night, I took it upon myself to grant permission for the House of David basketball team of Indiana, U.S.A., to play against the Blue Ribbon basketball team of Victoria, B.C., upon you having given the following undertakings:

"1. That the House of David basketball team of Indiana is not the House of David basketball professional team as mentioned in circular No. 1435, issued from this office January 28, 1935.

"2. That the said House of David team is an amateur team and are in possession of amateur cards issued by the Indiana-Kentucky Association of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States.

"3. That the said House of David team were not aware that international permits were necessary before they could play in Canada.

"4. That the House of David basketball team and the Blue Ribbon basketball team of Victoria were at the time of you telephoning me ready to take the floor; that the game had been previously advertised and that there was no opportunity to take the matter of an international permit up with the A.A.U. of the United States."

(Signed) "JOHN LESLIE,
Honorary secretary, A.A.U. of C."

Northwest Ball Loop Organized

Seattle, Feb. 26. — Bremerton, Bellingham, Yakima and the Seattle Gibsons were signed yesterday as the nucleus of a new Northwest Baseball League. Shelton, Olympia and Enumclaw were listed as prospective members.

Bellingham will start with week night games, with Sunday games late in the season. Bremerton will offer Saturday and Sunday afternoon games. Yakima will schedule Saturdays and Sunday nights and the Seattle team will have Saturday doubleheaders on weeks when the Coast League has no games here.

CENTRAL IN RUGBY LEAD

Hold Margaret Jenkins to Scoreless Draw to Head Standings; Oaklands Win

Holding Ernie Butterworth's hopefuls from Margaret Jenkins School to a scoreless draw, Boys' Central went into first place in the Colonist Cup rugby series in a game at Victoria High School grounds yesterday. At the same time, Oaklands whipped South Park 21 to 0 at the Athletic Park.

Central now stands with six points to its credit as the result of two victories and two draws. Oaklands and Margaret Jenkins are bracketed in second berth with two wins and one draw each. South Park and North Ward trail without a win in three starts.

At the High School ground a smart Margaret Jenkins team, showing very fair ball-handling ability and strong scrum work, were held by the aggressiveness of the Central boys to their scoreless draw. In the second half Central gained a larger share of the play, but could not make their attacks count.

OAKLANDS STARS ACTIVE

Once again Billsborough, Farmer and Joyce starred in Oaklands' win over South Park. Each of the three scored two tries, while Bowles added another to run the total up to 21 to 0. South Park, well below the standard of Bob McInnes's boys, battled all the way, but could not break through.

Next week Margaret Jenkins will play Oaklands in one of the features of the series, and North Ward will stack up against South Park. The results of the games should change the leadership and break two ties in the standings.

EQUIPOISE IS THROUGH

Great Thoroughbred Will Be Retired to Stud After Great Career

Los Angeles, Feb. 26.—Jack A. Healey, trainer for the Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney Stable, announced yesterday that Equipoise, seven-year-old champion and one of the greatest money-earning horses of all time, has run his last race and will be retired to stud.

Equipoise, said Healey, has developed a troublesome leg. Both a sentimental and a money favorite, Equipoise finished seventh Saturday in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, but Healey declared that both he and Whitney were well satisfied by the performance in view of his condition.

Equipoise has earned $334,110 in prizes and a victory Saturday would have placed him first in the list of equine money earners the world over.

Lew Rush Holds Fifth Position

San Francisco, Feb. 26.—Henry O'Brien, San Jose, and Jack Sheehan, New York, held a two-lap lead over the field at the twenty-seventh hour of San Francisco's six-day bicycle race at 11.30 o'clock yesterday evening. The leaders had pedaled 402 miles and three laps.

The standings (11.30 p.m.):

	Miles	Laps	Pt.

Echeverria-Lazaeolla	402	1	61
Gaetta-Panattieri	401	13	44

Walter Hagen Wins Florida Open Golf

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 26.—Walter Hagen, veteran of twenty-three years' campaigning of the links, won the Gasparilla Open at Palmaceia yesterday, his first victory in two years, and $700. "The Haig" negotiated the last two holes under par and posted a 280, even par, for the seventy-two-hole distance, three strokes ahead of a colorful field.

By GEORGE MAGUIRE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, Feb. 26.—A pronounced radical is what other major league goalkeepers term Davie Kerr, the miracle man of New York Rangers. But while other netmen—that is, the older generation—shake their heads in mild disapproval at his daring style, Kerr continues to mortify opposing sharpshooters with his spectacular stops and bring roars of glee from Madison Square Garden fans with his uncanny displays of puckblocking.

The former Montreal Amateur Athletic Association star is not likely to snare the job on the Canadian Press all-star ballot this year, but there are many who believe his performance rates above that of the several candidates for the honor.

Kerr, some are inclined to overlook, is performing for a team which is probably the greatest exponent of wide open hockey. It is seldom Manager Lester Patrick has his blue clad warriors playing a close knit defensive game for he believes—and if he didn't the Gotham fans would soon let him know—the hockey public wants the free-scoring game. So the Rangers play it.

KEPT PLENTY BUSY

This calls for double duty for Kerr, who figures he has had an easy night if his goal stops total no more than forty. Comparing his efforts with several other outstanding performers during the last twelve games the figures reveal the Ranger goaler has had twenty per cent more work to do than Lorne Chabot of the world champion Chicago Black Hawks and Alex Connell, Montreal Maroons.

Kerr turned from the so-called orthodox style of goalkeeping during pre-season training with the Maroons a year ago. He discovered the goal crease, just conceived about that time by the National League code makers, formed an ideal distance gauge for him.

"Before they put the crease in," he said, "I found it difficult to get my bearings out front and stayed pretty much at home in the goal. Now I can wander over that line and, in turning either direction to meet an incoming forward, know just about exactly what part of the net is left uncovered for him to shoot at without glancing back.

"You see my playing the way I do you force the puck carriers to shoot from angles that cut down the open space to the cage considerably."

YANKS LIKE CANUCK BOY

George Selkirk, Huntsville, Ont., May Get Regular Berth With Ball Club

New York, Feb. 26.—New York Yankees had the signed contract to-day of slugging George Selkirk and, if need be, the answer to the question mark born of Babe Ruth's uncertain frame of mind.

While no one seemed to know if the Babe would heed the order that he prove at the training camp the ability of his aging legs to patrol right field again, it was said Manager Joe McCarthy knew he would be satisfied to have Selkirk from Canada filling the Ruthian shoes.

Giving things a kite into the air was a report the Babe declared in an informal chat yesterday he had decided to play baseball several more years.

The success he had in poling out long ones during his recent tour in Japan was said to have convinced him there was no truth in the saying that "the old gray mare ain't what she used to be."

But come what may, Selkirk seemed certain of a place in the Yankee garden, at left or centre if the Bambino should come to terms.

PERFORMED WELL

McCarthy and a lot of American League pitchers were deeply impressed when the raw-boned big fellow from Huntsville, Ont., ambled over to New York from the International League late last season. George played forty-six games in a Yankee uniform, and over that stretch whaled the ball at a .313 clip, while committing but one error afield.

He stood up boldly at the plate as though he had used one to cut his first teeth on, and put into every swing the ample shoulder muscles wrestling at high school gave him. His hitting power and accuracy ran up five homers, seven doubles and a triple among his fifty-five safeties.

The contract he sent to Yankee headquarters yesterday showed his full name is George Alexander Selkirk, and that he is twenty-seven years old.

Behind him in service with the Columbus American Association club, and Rochester, Jersey City and Newark of the International. His record always has been good, but he is confident his best years are ahead of him.

"I'm in the major league for keeps," he said recently.

North Battleford In Hockey Victory

Saskatoon, Feb. 26. — Saskatoon Standards, successors to the Saskatoon Quakers, Allan Cup finalists in 1933, made their exit yesterday evening from the playdown trail as North Battleford Beavers defeated them on home ice 5 to 3 in two periods of overtime, to overcome a one goal deficit incurred Saturday night and win the round 7 to 6. Saturday Standards won at North Battleford 3 to 2. Beavers earned the right to meet Prince Albert Mintos to decide the northern title.

REGINA VICS WIN

Regina, Feb. 26.—Defeating their local rivals, the Aces, 5 to 2, Regina Vics yesterday evening qualified to meet Weyburn Beavers for senior southern Saskatchewan amateur hockey honors. Each team had previously won a game, Vics taking the third yesterday evening.

Gunners Prepare For Cup Feature

Norris Controls Chicago Stadium

Chicago, Feb. 26.—James Norris Sr., Chicago millionaire grain broker, yesterday became one of the heaviest property holders in sport when control of the Chicago Stadium, largest indoor sports arena in the United States, passed into his hands.

Norris is owner of the Detroit Olympic Arena and of the Detroit Red Wing team of the National Hockey League.

CALGARY AND EDMONTON OUT

Prairie Clubs of Northwest Hockey League Will Be Disbanded For Season

Portland, Ore., Feb. 26.—Dr. Gordon B. Leitch, president of the Northwest Hockey League, announced yesterday that the Calgary and Edmonton hockey teams will disband immediately and that the remaining games on the schedule will be distributed among the Seattle, Portland and Vancouver teams.

Dr. Leitch said the Calgary schedule had been cancelled and the team disbanded because of "uncertainty of weather conditions and attendance in Calgary."

"With Calgary out of the picture," the league president said, "it is impossible for Coast clubs to make the road trip to Edmonton alone, thus automatically cancelling the remaining Edmonton games as well, although the Edmonton Eskimos have an intact team and a mathematical chance for the playoff.

"Under these circumstances it will be necessary for the Edmonton club to disband."

President Leitch said it is uncertain what disposition of the Calgary franchise will eventually be made, but that there will be no chance in the Edmonton franchise.

MAY COME TO COAST

"It is possible," Leitch said, "that both Edmonton and Calgary franchises may be transferred to Coast cities for next season in order to have all units operating on artificial ice, the president said.

The Coast section of the Northwest League schedule will be played out and probably will be rearranged to eliminate idle spots caused by cancellation of prairie trips.

Seattle, Portland and Vancouver are in the thick of a fight for playoff berths and all are assured of making the grade, but in an order yet to be determined.

Leitch said that with rearrangement of the schedule, it is probable the playoffs will be started a week or ten days earlier than scheduled. An announcement on this will be made as soon as the board of governors can meet.

ADANACS LEAD CAGE SERIES

Defeat Varsity 39 to 21 in Third Game of Mainland Basketball Final

New Westminster, Feb. 26.—By virtue of their 39 to 21 victory over Varsity here yesterday evening, Adanacs now lead the students two games to one in the intercity basketball playdowns.

Adanacs won just as decisively as the students did in Saturday's game. They showered Varsity's goal with accurate shots, never permitting the students to cut into a wide margin which they held right from the opening minute of the game.

The Varsity team was unable to function on the large Queen's Park gymnasium floor with any success.

Adanacs led 28 to 10 at the breather through sterling play by Matthison and Mayers. After resumption of play Adanacs were content to ease the pace, both teams scoring eleven points in the second half. Matthison with nine and Mayers, Fraser and Wright with eight points each, were high men for the Adanacs while Henderson, the student pivot man, was high scorer for Varsity, scoring six points.

Fifth Brigade Ruggers Will Workout With Rep Men on Saturday in Preparation For Rounsefel Cup Game Here March 9

With the chance of securing valuable practice against the best of the rest, Fifth Brigade ruggers, senior champions of Vancouver Island and runners-up for the Barnard Cup, emblematic of the city championship, will work out on Saturday in preparation for their Rounsefel Cup match against Vancouver champions here on March 9.

The Gunners are expected to oppose either Varsity or the North Shore All-Blacks in the trophy engagement, a sudden death fixture for the club title of British Columbia.

The artillerymen stepped in to play the Rounsefel Cup final when the Navy, showing the same grace off the field as they did good rugby on it, relinquished their claim to play Vancouver titlists when the sailors' team was broken up by the annual cruise.

When the Gunners and the Vancouverites meet, they will offer followers of the game here one of the features of the local rugby season, which has been all too deficient in outside fixtures this year.

VICTORIA LINEUP

The Victoria team will line up for the big fixture with but one change from that which downed the Garrison in the Cowichan Cup final on Saturday. But the local boys will have to play a better brand of rugby against Vancouver than they did against the Tommies if they are to take the trophy.

Roddy McInnes will play fullback, Bert Simpson will return to a wing three-quarter berth on the opposite side to Chuck Copeland. Paul Rowe and Ken Fleming will play insides with Gordie Scott holding the stand-off half position and Wally Stipe looking after the scrum. The pack will include Bert Buller, Les Gray, Ed. deBlaquiere, Doug. Peden, Don Doswell, Harry Eastham, Alec Gaunt and Fiem Stewart.

On Saturday the boys will all take the field for a workout with other McKechnie Cup team candidates. The players will probably divide into two thirteen-men teams for a little round of Northern Union in order to give all a chance to get into first-class shape in the faster game.

Jack Hobbs Will End Great Career

Famous English Cricketer Announces His Retirement From First Class Competition; Has Scored 61,121 Runs, Including 197 Centuries Since 1905

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 26.—Jack Hobbs, for years the idol of the British cricket world, has decided to retire from first-class cricket. He is fifty-three years of age.

The famous international player, in a letter to the Surrey County Club, said he had regretfully come to the conclusion he must retire. He felt he had had a long innings and should make way for younger men.

Mainstay of Surrey batting for many years, Hobbs has a remarkable record. His career in first-class cricket started in 1905, and since that time he has scored 61,121 runs, including 197 centuries.

One of the greatest professionals in the history of the game, Hobbs is known as one of the most polished first-wicket players to have ever put a foot behind a cricket crease. For years his name has been associated with long opening partnerships in international tests against the cream of Australia's bowling strength.

FORMIDABLE PAIR

In later years Herbert Sutcliffe, Yorkshire, has usually been his partner in opening England's innings, and they probably made the most formidable pair since the game began.

As a sportsman, Hobbs has been held up to the youth of the United Kingdom as the exemplar of the highest ideals of sport.

In tribute to Hobbs new entrance gates to the Oval, Surrey's ground in London, are to be erected to commemorate his batting prowess.

During last season Hobbs was frequently missing from the county side. He had previously announced his intention of dropping quietly out of the team, and having become more or less a free agent, he played only when the weather was congenial and when he felt he was sufficiently fit to stand the strain of a three-day match.

He is the author of a number of books on cricket.

It is understood Hobbs will not be entirely lost to the game, but his appearances in future will be confined to club cricket.

'IP-ISLAND CLUBS MUST HAVE A.A.U. CARDS TO COMPETE

bubbled threateningly earlier in the season until officials of the provincial hoop body and amateur executives composed their differences over amateur cards, simmered anew yesterday as the amateur body announced temporary suspension of a Vancouver Island team and conceded that the entire Island may become involved.

Frank Filmer, chief commissioner of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada's British Columbia branch registration committee, announced to-night that the Duncan hoop team, Upper Island senior "B" champions, were on the temporary suspended list for failure to take out cards within a reasonable time. Some time ago, the British Columbia Basketball Association informed affiliated clubs that only teams entering play-offs would be required to take out amateur cards. The amateur body disagreed with this, and at a subsequent meeting with basketball officials, the matter was ironed out to the satisfaction of the union.

CARDS WITHHELD

Duncan teams had been advised of the necessity of taking out cards six weeks ago, Filmer declared, but they continued to play with the idea that only the champions would comply with the amateur ruling. Now, when they had reached the Upper Island play-offs, they had applied for cards, but these were being withheld, and there is no immediate prospect of their being issued, Filmer said.

The union has also requested that other Duncan teams which played during the season, take out cards now as evidence of their good faith and to comply with the regulations governing all players in organized amateur basketball.

The Duncan team has shown no desire to accede to the union's requests, Filmer added, and they have threatened to involve the Lower Mainland Basketball Association by charging that Victoria Blue Ribbons have outlawed themselves by playing against professionals.

The Duncan contention is that when Blue Ribbons played against the touring House of David team last week, they were playing against a professional team. Filmer admitted that the tourists were classed as "B" professionals by the British Columbia branch of the Amateur Union.

And if Blue Ribbons are brought into the picture, it is quite possible they will reply with similar charges against Lower Mainland teams where, basketball officials admit, there is ground for protest against a number of irregularities, technical at least.

LIONS SCORE OVERTIME WIN

Defeat League-leading Seattle Sea Hawks 3 to 2 in Northwest Hockey

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Vancouver Lions yesterday boosted their second victory over the league-leading Seattle Sea Hawks since the current Northwest league hockey season opened, as a result of a 3 to 2 overtime verdict here yesterday evening.

Despite the fact that Lions are certain of a playoff berth since the announcement that the Calgary and Edmonton clubs were dropping out of the loop for the remainder of the season, the Vancouver club played heads-up hockey to crawl back into a tie with Portland Buckaroos for second place.

Bobby Kirk's first period goal on a pass from Doug Brennan gave the Lions an early lead, but the Sea Hawks tied it up in the second when Sammy McAdam scored the only tally of that session.

Midway through the third, Tony Hemmerling put his team ahead with a solo effort, but Tip O'Neill and Clint Smith combined, with Tip taking the pass, to tie the count before the period ended, and send the game into overtime.

WINNING GOAL

With just six minutes of the extra session gone, O'Neill sped down the ice, drew the Seattle defence out of position and passed to Hank Dyck, who flipped the winning counter past Emmett Venne in the Seattle goal.

Lineups follow:

Charlie Conacher Still Well Ahead

Star of Toronto Maple Leafs Appears to Have Cinched Scoring Title in National Hockey League; Has Eight-point Lead Over Frank Boucher

Montreal, Feb. 26.—Possibility of Charlie Conacher, Toronto Maple Leafs, being overtaken by any other marksman before the National Hockey League season ends appeared remote yesterday evening, the official figures showing him with eight points more than has Frankie Boucher, New York Rangers' centre, his nearest rival.

Conacher scored two goals and one assist during the week ended Sunday night to bring his total to forty-five points, including twenty-five goals.

Boucher added but one assist in the week for ten goals, twenty-seven assists for thirty-seven points, just holding his second place in the whole league over Harvey Jackson, Toronto left winger, who has 20-16-36.

Lorne Chabot, playing sound hockey in Chicago nets, leads in the race for the Vezina Trophy with seventy-one goals against, compared with seventy-eight which have passed Alex Connell, Maroons, the shut-out leader. No other goalie is even close.

MAROONS WILL MEET RANGERS

New York Club Must Win at Montreal to Protect Slim Hockey Lead

Lester Patrick moves his New York Rangers and their single-point leadership in the National Hockey League's American division into Montreal to-night, while Bruins are making an effort at Boston to rob them of their hard-earned advantage.

Maroons, quite possibly Rangers' opponents in the playoffs, present a problem for the New Yorkers, who must defeat them to be sure of retaining their narrow margin. Should they lose and Bruins beat St. Louis Eagles the teams managed by the brothers Patrick, Lester and Frank, would be tied again.

Stew Evans, out of the game for a week with a skate cut, will return to the Maroon lineup but Tommy Gorman's team will be lacking another star defenceman, Lionel Conacher. The "Big Train" is in Toronto nursing a broken thumb.

New York Americans, who still have a chance for a playoff spot, and Detroit Red Wings, who are conceded none whatever, clash at New York in the third game of the night.

Toronto Leafs and Black Hawks were scheduled to meet in Chicago to-night but the game was played earlier in the season on Hawks' request.

Frank Boucher Gets Offers From Europe

New York, Feb. 26.—Not satisfied with trying to lure a couple of major league hockey teams abroad to show the British and Europeans how hockey is really played, several institutions have made overtures to some of the stars to go abroad and teach the youngsters over there how it is done.

Frankie Boucher, the great playmaking centre of New York Rangers, has been approached with offers from London and European capitals for his services as a coach. But the offers are merely being filed away for possible future reference.

Selling Flurry In Carriers Disturbs Wall Street List

Canadian Press

New York, Feb. 26—A selling flurry in the rails unsettled the stock market to-day after the list had displayed a fairly steady tone in early dealings. A number of the carriers dropped a point or more to new lows for the past year or longer. There were scattered specialty gainers, however, and the close was irregular. Transfers approximated 970,000 shares.

The best showing among equities probably was made by the sugar company shares which, in recent sessions, have been edging forward.

Among shares of Canadian companies, International Nickel was a trifle lower, while Dominion Stores, Dome and Canadian Pacific got up minor fractions. On the curb, Hiram Walker and Lake Shore ruled steady. Canadian funds held unchanged at 100.00 cents.

Various sugar stocks were thought to be reflecting the steady advances of futures and granulated. The price of hogs, which rose at Chicago to the highest since August, 1930, broadened the hopes of those who believe more money in the farm belt is necessary to bolster the recovery movement.

The assault on the transportation section was comparatively brief, but there was a sharp expansion in the trading volume while it lasted. There was no particular piece of news to account for the renewed weakness in this department, although freight car loads and January earnings figures were far from impressive. There were also rumors that various roads would have to "go through the wringer."

Among the principal rail share losers were Santa Fe, N.Y. Central, New Haven, Delaware & Hudson and Union Pacific. The preferred stock of Wilson & Co., got up a point and the common advanced fractionally. The company declared an initial dividend on both the new common and preference issues.

MINE SHARES UP IN EAST

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 26—Falconbridge and Base Metals Corporation contributed to the mining share market volume to-day at steady prices. Elsewhere the main volume was in Siscoe, God's Lake, Pickle Crow, McWatters, Coniarum and McMillan.

McWatters spurted to 1.15 around mid-day but encountered selling in volume and it settled back again to 1.07. San Ontonio was slightly stronger and God's Lake, Central Patricia, Pickle Crow, Buffalo-Ankerite and prospectors Airways worked narrowly higher. Coniarum had a gain of about 15 cents and Little Long Lac lost five.

Noranda dropped 75 cents to $2.75. Bear Exploration was soft in the silvers and Eldorado dropped two.

WALL ST. BOARD ELECTION SOON

Canadian Press

New York, Feb. 26.—Demands that the New York Stock Exchange's public relations policy be changed to assure confidence in the "big board" have been placed before the committee which will nominate candidates for the forthcoming election.

Urging that adverse criticism be met with facts instead of a lackadaisical attitude, E. A. Pierce, president of the big brokerage firm bearing his name, proposed that a nationally known man be obtained to head the exchange. He suggested a man of ex-President Coolidge's type.

Pierce addressed a meeting of the committee with 350 members and their office partners last night. It was the first time non-member partners had been invited to present their views to the committee.

FARM LOANS FOR ONTARIO WORKERS

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 26. — Hon. Duncan Marshall, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, has announced the province will adhere to its policy of issuing farm loans under the direction of the agricultural development board, and will not avail itself of the federal farm loans system, as was considered possible.

"They wanted to play too many politics with us," Mr. Marshall stated, "so we are going to issue loans as we have always issued them, only they will be at 4 per cent, while Ottawa will be charging 5 per cent."

Mr. Marshall said the federal government had refused to co-operate with Ontario in the matter.

Premier Pattullo with a large number of the members of the B.C. Legislature, visited the Victoria offices of the Columbia Oils Limited yesterday afternoon, to view the motion pictures showing oil drilling operations which are being carried on in the Flathead Valley, southeastern British Columbia. The Premier expressed his appreciation of the work which is being done, and was very much in sympathy with this important development.

MISSIONARIES MISSING IN CHINA

Associated Press

Sian, Shensi, China, Feb. 26. — A search for Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Prencham, Australian missionaries who were reported kidnapped by bandits in southwest Shensi province, to-day failed to reveal any trace of their whereabouts.

Chinese officials at Hangchung, north of the Ninkiang mission from which the young Australian missionary disappeared, said they were unable to find him.

Vancouver Chinese Guarded By Police

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Woo Lum, Chinese, has sought police protection, claiming he has been threatened as the result of a civil court action for $400 which he recently won.

The Oriental told police a compatriot from Victoria had told him a certain Chinese society was not satisfied with the outcome of the action and would "probably take action" on its own account.

Overseas Upturns Sustain Futures In Winnipeg Pit

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Feb. 26.—Strength at Liverpool sustained wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. After another quiet session values closed ⅛ cent higher, May at 83⅝ and July 82⅞ cents.

Prices in the English market closed strong, ⅝ to ¼d higher, and aided local futures in resisting the reactionary tendency of Chicago, where values slipped from earlier gains of nearly a cent.

Steadier offers from Argentine wheat exporters, coupled with unfavorable crop reports from the United States southwest, accounted for the upturn at Liverpool, it was reported.

Cash and coarse grains showed no improvement over the past few days of desultory markets.

Chicago, Feb. 26. — Wheat prices firmed to-day, with buying prompted largely by government and private reports of a serious deficiency in subsoil reserve moisture in broad areas of the western United States grain belt, where drought has cut wheat production for two consecutive seasons.

Wheat closed unchanged to ¾ cent higher, compared with yesterday's finish, May 97⅛ to 97¼, and corn was ⅜ lower to ¼ up, May 84⅝ to 84½. Provisions were firm.

FARMER'S PROFIT ON COW 19 CENTS

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—One farmer in Alberta has an idea of how to teach his children what hard times mean. He is a neighbor of G. O. Coote, United Farmers member for MacLeod. Mr. Coote told about him in the House of Commons yesterday.

The farmer sent a cow to the Calgary market and after paying all charges was told his net return would be nineteen cents. The agent who sold the cow received seventy-five cents commission. The charge for the hay the cow ate at the market was thirty-five cents. He was asked to call in for his money as the amount was too small to pay by cheque, but the farmer wanted a cheque.

He said he proposed to have it framed so if at some time in the future his son complained of poor prices he could shown him what really low prices were.

FARM LOANS ARE DEBATED

Lowest Possible Rates Urged on Government; Fund to Be $90,000,000

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Hope of 5 per cent money under the Dominion Farm Loan Board was held out in the House of Commons yesterday by Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes. The present interest rate is 5½ per cent.

The Finance Minister said he had an open mind on a suggestion from opposition members that the government pay administration costs under the Farm Loan Act, which would reduce interest rates to 4 or 4½ per cent. At the same time, Mr. Rhodes said he would oppose a rate of 3½ per cent—actual cost of money to the Dominion treasury—on the ground it would dry up private loan sources.

Notice was given by the Finance Minister of several amendments to the government bill which would increase to $90,000,000 the fund available to the Farm Loan Board and extend its operations to every province. The bill was in committee stage most of the afternoon and for an hour in the evening, but no progress was made, the Finance Minister finally moving it out.

The first amendment would extend to farmers who already owe money to the Farm Loan Board the reduced rates now going into effect. Some farmers have loans bearing interest as high as 6½ per cent, but the rate will be cut to 5½ and perhaps to 5.

Another amendment would permit loans to be made up to 30 per cent of the value of lands and buildings on a farm. Under existing laws the 50 per cent limit applies to land, but is only 25 per cent on buildings.

There was only one verbal outburst yesterday and that came from the Finance Minister. It was prompted by Progressive members who accused the government of creating low farm prices by a steady policy of deflation.

RAISING OF PRICES

G. G. Coote, U.F.A., Macleod, urged the rate of interest be made not more than 4 per cent. If it was in the national interest that Canada's dollar be kept at a par with United States funds in order to meet obligations, it was equally in the national interest that farm prices be raised.

Mr. Rhodes said he would not be drawn into a discussion of inflation. It had nothing whatever to do with farm loans. He said distant pastures always looked green and Mr. Coote might be unduly impressed with the inflationist tactics in other countries.

The reason credit sources had been closed to farmers was because of the drop in farm prices, said G. G. Coote.

Mr. Coote said had it not been for the moratorium laws enacted by the provinces there would have been riots in Canada as in some rural sections of the United States because prices were so low the farmers could not pay their debts.

The government could have done something for the farmers a few years ago by monetary action as had been done in Australia. It had refused.

RATES CONTRASTED

Hon. J. C. Elliott, Liberal, West Middlesex, Ont., former Public Works Minister, said it would cost $100,000 a year if the government assumed administrative costs of the Farm Loan Board.

This sum, he said, was "a mere bagatelle" for the treasury, but its assumption would be a great boon for farmers.

"It would be no more charity for farmers," said Mr. Elliott, "to reduce the interest rate from 5 to 4 per cent than it was charity for the bankers in allowing them to reduce the interest rate on deposits from 3 to 2 per cent."

C.N.R. REVENUES

Montreal, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—Gross revenues of the Canadian National Railways for the week ended February 21, were $3,069,173, as compared with $3,078,000 for the corresponding period of 1934, an increase of $109,973.

SELLING IN BOND MARKET

Associated Press

New York, Feb. 26.—The bond market encountered scattered selling to-day, both in the low-yield groups and in more speculative categories.

Light selling was in evidence in the federal list.

Communications issues stiffened somewhat while foreigns were mixed. British 5½s rose ½ to 114½. German Government's softened, with the Young Plan loan touching 35.

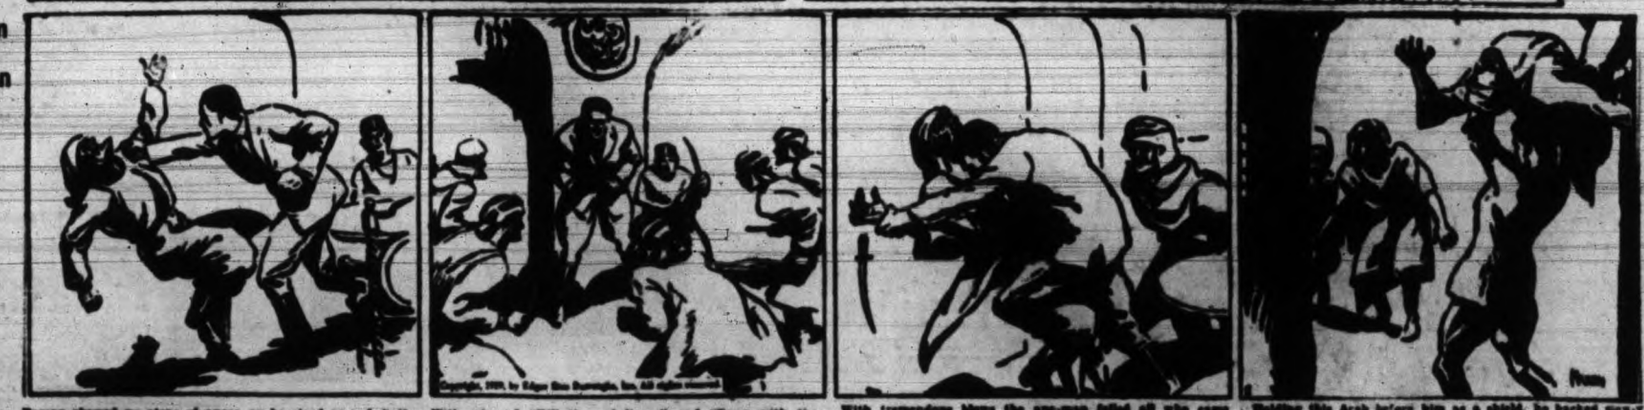
Return Of Tarzan



Tarzan showed no signs of anger as he stood up. A half smile played about his lips, but of a sudden a great fist shot into the face of the scowling Arab and back of it were the mighty muscles of the ape-man. At the instant the fellow fell, a dozen fierce plainsmen, sprang into the room.

With cries of "Kill the unbeliever" and "Down with the Christian dog," they made straight for Tarzan. Other Arabs in the cafe sprang forward to join in the assault upon the unarmed white man. Tarzan was rushed backward before the numbers opposing him. With drawn knife Abdul fought by his side.

With tremendous blows the ape-man felled all who came in reach of his powerful hands. So closely pushed was the howling, cursing mob, that no weapon could be used. Finally Tarzan succeeded in seizing one of the nearest attackers, and, with a quick wrench, disarmed him.

Holding this Arab before him as a shield, he backed slowly toward the little door leading into the courtyard. At the entrance he paused an instant, and lifting the struggling fellow above his head hurled him, as from a catapult, full in the faces of the surrounding mob.

The Gumps

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Three years ago a mature woman of twenty-six and myself made an agreement to live together. We have not been together all of that time, but have traveled from coast to coast. I now find myself in love with a wonderful girl and I wish to get rid of the other woman, but she is not willing to give me my freedom and threatens me if I leave her. How can I free myself of her, or have I committed such a crime by traveling with her, although she went of her own free will and accord, that I can never be rid of her? I feel she was as much to blame as I and that in fairness to the girl I love and who loves me something should be done. But what? M. O.

Answer—Better consult a lawyer and let him settle with your ex-sweetie for you the best he can. Traveling around with lady loves adds up to an expensive pleasure trip, and the fact that they go willingly does not affect the crime nor the penalties therefor. The Mann Act is the final gesture of chivalry that still clings to the unfounded belief that no woman would do wrong unless some villain enticed her into it.

But whatever you do, clean up the whole mess before you marry the girl with whom you are in love. You haven't any right to drag her into it and humiliate her by making her hear all the episodes of her husband's past if they are publicized by a jealous woman seeking revenge.

But your problem is a vivid illustration of a truth that men ignore only too often, and that is that in an illicit love affair it is not alone the woman who pays and pays and pays. The man also has to pay, and often enough his part of the debt bankrupts him in heart and soul to settle it.

Of course, every man who enters into a liaison has the thought in the back of his mind that when he gets tired of the woman, or if he sees somebody who looks better to him, he will kiss and ride away. A few tears perhaps, a little consolation money, and it's heigh-ho for fresh adventures and a new love! He thinks it will be as easy as that. Otherwise, he would marry the woman. For say what you will, a settled home is more comfortable than a precarious love nest. A wife whom you are proud of is a greater asset than a mistress you are ashamed of, and it does no man's standing any good at the bank or with his firm to be a Don Juan.

But when a man comes to put his amorous theories into practice he finds it is much easier to get into a love affair than it is to get out of it, and that when he gets ready to leave his light-o'-love she bars the door and will not let him go. Sometimes she loves him and she clings to him with the desperation of one who has only one source of happiness in the world and who feels that if that is gone, all will be gone. Sometimes she is a gold-digger who is hanging on with both hands to a good thing. But in any event she is considering only her own welfare, and she has no foolish altruistic ideas about sacrificing herself for the man's happiness and no shame in holding a man against his will.

So the man who is weary of his mistress finds it even harder to rid himself of her than he does of a wife of whom he is tired. Most any man with a little ingenuity can manoeuvre his wife into getting a divorce, as Mr. James Branch Cabell points out in his entertaining book about Eve, but the lady love occupies a strategic position from which it is hard to oust her without scandal and paying through the nose.

Of course, in these sophisticated days in which every woman of twenty-four has a road map of the primrose path, and knows what she is about when she elects to walk it, she should be a good enough sport to say goodby prettily when she and her partner come to the parting of the ways. But she seldom does, and then it is up to the man to pay for his part of the excursion. Which serves him right, of course.

• • • • • • •

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—What is to be done when a mother is so wrapped up in her daughter that she cannot bear for the girl to be out of her sight? I am thirty years old and my mother has never left me alone one moment since I was born if she could help it, and I get so fed up with her company that I go nearly crazy. She wants me right at her heels all of the time and gets furious if I go out alone. She will not go out to any place because she does not want to leave me at home alone. She expects to be my only pal and my heart just yearns for friends of my own age. I am only allowed to have one date a week, and that provided I get home by 11 o'clock. Then I have to spend the following two hours listening to my mother tell how lonely she was without me and how selfish I am to leave her alone. I have never had any normal girlhood. Is there anything I can do about it?

A SUPPRESSED DAUGHTER.

Answer—There is no reason why your whole life should be sacrificed to a neurotic woman's mother complex. The only possible way in which you can save yourself is to leave home. Get a job in another city even if you have to do housework. Do anything that will take you away from home, away from your mother's crushing monopoly of you and that will give you a chance to meet new people and make fresh social contacts.

You are just like a bird in a cage now, and unless you get out of your prison soon you will get warped in disposition and have the prison pallor on your mind and character.

It is a strange thing that mothers so seldom realize that the worst thing that they can possibly do to a child is to monopolize it and to give it too much of their society. Yet you see women continually doing this. They never set their children free of their apron strings. They never let them have any companions of their own age. They read with them, talk with them, play with them, take them places. They make themselves old women of the sea around their children's necks that they can never get rid of even for a minute.

I never hear a mother boast that she is her daughter's best friend and chum or that she is her boy's pal without shuddering, for well I know how bored the poor girl or boy are with Mother; how they long to be rid of her; what a skeleton she is at all their feasts. For the young and the old cannot possibly be congenial. They don't think the same thoughts, they don't want to do the same things, they don't enjoy the same amusements. Each wants companionship of its own generation. If you doubt this, watch the perfunctory play of children when their parents are around. It is dull, pensive, quiet. But let these same children be off by themselves and there are howls of laughter and screams of excitement and joy is unconfined.

Mothers should have enough sense to know that we love our children much more than they ever love us; that they are much more necessary to our happiness than we are to theirs; that we are much more interested in them than they are in us, and that the only way we can hold their love is not to make too great demands upon it.

As for a woman not giving her daughter of thirty any personal liberty and not permitting her to have dates and requiring her to be in at 11 o'clock, that is rank tyranny and the girl is silly to submit to it. It is time for her to stage a rebellion and demand personal freedom. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily And Tommie Kat

By HOWARD R. GARIS

One day in the hollow stump bungalow Uncle Wiggily's rabbit lady wife said to him:

"Aren't you going adventuring this afternoon?"

"Oh, yes," he answered.

"Then it is time you started," she told him. "It is getting late. Nurse Jane and I are going to the movies while all the children are at school."

"Hop along," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "I hope you have a nice time, my dear. Hop along."

"Well," said Mrs. Longears, "aren't you going out? Nurse Jane and I want to lock the bungalow when we go out, but we can't if you are still in it. And you may go out before we get back."

"Very likely I shall," said the rabbit gentleman. "I'm waiting here for Tommie Kat."

"Why are you waiting for the puzzy boy?" asked Nurse Jane, who had finished the bungalow work and was all ready to go to the movies with Mrs. Longears.

BAD PERFECT LESSONS

"I promised to take Tommie Kat adventuring," said Uncle Wiggily. "He doesn't need to go to school this afternoon on account of having his lessons so perfectly yesterday. So I promised to wait here for him until he has his lunch. Then he and I are going adventuring."

"That's very nice of you, Wiggy," said Mrs. Longears. "I hope Tommie Kat doesn't keep you here waiting for him until it is too late to go looking for adventures."

"He won't," said the rabbit gentleman. "Tommie Kat is always on time. I'll wait here for him. Hop along, you and Nurse Jane."

"I will," promised Uncle Wiggily. "And I have my key to get in with in case I get back before you and Nurse Jane come from the movies."

So the muskrat lady and the rabbit lady hopped along to the movies and Uncle Wiggily sat in his easy chair waiting for Tommie Kat to call so they could go adventuring together.

It was very still and quiet in the bungalow and, before he knew it, Uncle Wiggily had fallen asleep. He didn't have to fall very far, for he was almost asleep when his wife and Nurse Jane went out. And so, while the rabbit gentleman was asleep, along came Tommie Kat, all ready to go adventuring.

Tommie rang the bungalow bell, but no one answered. Then he knocked on the door, but no one answered. Uncle Wiggily was still sound asleep. Then Tommie Kat scratched on the door, but Uncle Wiggily didn't hear that.

UNCLE WIGGILY ASLEEP

"Maybe he's gone and forgotten to wait for me," said Tommie to himself. "That's too bad." He tried the door and, as it wasn't locked, he opened it, and went softly inside. He saw Uncle Wiggily asleep in the easy chair near the fire. "I'm glad he didn't go without me," said Tommie. Then he shouted very loudly: "Wake up, Uncle Wiggily! Wake up and take me adventuring as you promised. Wake up!"

All of a sudden Uncle Wiggily jumped out of his chair. He ran at Tommie, caught him by the tail and cried: "Out out! Get out!"

"Oh, my goodness, Uncle Wiggily! What's the matter?" moved poor Tommie. "Let go my tail, please! Don't you know me? Oh! Oh!"

Uncle Wiggily opened his eyes and when he saw he had hold of Tommie's tail he quickly said, "Oh, Tommie, excuse me! I had a funny dream. I dreamed the Bob Cat got in and when I heard you tapp I thought you were the Bob Cat. That's why I grabbed you. Excuse me!"

"I will, thank you," said Tommie, laughing. Then Mr. Longears took him adventuring in the nearby woods and they had a fine time. And if the rubber ball doesn't get to Bow Wow, or the bird's song doesn't get to Tweet Tweet, or the bee's song doesn't get to Buzz Buzz, I'll tell you more about Uncle Wiggily's adventures next time.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parkelat (double strength), and add to it a pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

TOURIST MOVE IS SUPPORTED

Northern Pacific Railway Company Officials Pledge Co-operation With Plan

A. C. Stickley, general agent, Northern Pacific Railway Company, Victoria returned yesterday from Seattle, where he attended a conference of the officials and representatives of the passenger department of this railway, located in the Pacific Northwest and California.

E. E. Nelson, passenger traffic manager; L. L. Perrin, advertising assistant to the passenger traffic manager, and M. E. Harlan, assistant general passenger agent, all from the St. Paul general office, were in charge of the conference.

Mr. Stickley spoke at length about the extensive campaign that the Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau was making to induce tourists to come to Victoria, and he was assured by Mr. Nelson and the officials from the east and California that they would do all in their power to interest train passengers in having their tickets routed via Victoria.

Mr. Nelson stated that he would issue a circular to all of the Northern Pacific passenger representatives calling their attention to the attractions of Victoria and Vancouver Island, and also that he would see that an article would be published in the monthly bulletin, the North Coaster, about Victoria. This publican not only is sent to Northern Pacific representatives, but to ticket agents of all other railways in the United States. Mr. Nelson is an enthusiastic booster for Victoria and spends his vacation here practically every year.

Mr. Nelson emphasized and described in detail the new North Coast Limited trains, which will be put in operation early in May. Approximately 100 new and completely remodeled cars will be needed for the fleet. All cars, including the Pullman sleeping cars, tourist sleepers, coaches, observation and dining cars will be air-conditioned, assuring pure, fresh air at just the right temperature, regardless of the weather outside—clean quiet, comfortable travel in all seasons. This system is controlled thermostatically to maintain uniform temperature, and any temperature may be selected to meet weather conditions.

The cars are practically sealed, which assures that they will be clean and quiet in operation. New coaches are being built for this train, which have the nef individual upholstered parlor car type chairs, with ladies' lounge and large men and women's wash rooms and all of the latest improvements for the comfort of the passengers. Not only are the cars of the North Coast Limited roller bearing, but announcement was made that ten new roller bearing locomotives are being brought out to power the North Coast Limiteds.

While Mr. Stickley was in Seattle he inspected the first of the air-conditioned standard sleepers which left Seattle on the North Coast Limited yesterday evening.

The low round trip summer tourist farces to Eastern Canada and the United States will go in effect on May 15, and on May 1 for passengers en route to the Old Country, and Mr Stickley has been assured that the new air-conditioned equipment will be in operation on the North Coast Limited between Seattle and Chicago by that time.

SEWER FRONTAGE REVENUES DOWN

A reduction of $2,184.10 in the net revenues from sewer frontage rates and rentals in the municipality of Esquimalt is estimated in a report submitted to the Municipal Council at their meeting yesterday evening. The total figure is $8,938.91.

The assessment roll shows a total assessable frontage of 154,549.8 feet, representing, at a rate of 8 cents per foot, a revenue of $12,363.90. From this is deducted the sum of $4,444.08 for reverted lots, leaving $7,919.91. To this sum is added $1,019 for sewer rentals, giving the final net revenue.

William Schupp, President of Whaling Companies, Says Prices of Whale Oil Twice as High This Year; Victoria and Seattle Craft to Leave in Few Weeks

Seattle, Feb. 26. — Whale oil prices 100 per cent. better than last year made harpooners jubilant instead of superstitious yesterday as they whetted their weapons and outfitted thirteen vessels for a cruise in the dangerous Bering Sea, to battle the monsters of the deep.

"We bagged 814 whales last year," said William Schupp, whaler, "and this year prices are twice as high. We are not a bit superstitious when we send thirteen craft north, for we are going to make some money."

"Don't forget, though, that we have been losing. It has cost my two companies $130,000 in the last four years, and we shall only be making up for lost time. The price of whale oil is variable, considered in relation to the price of cottonseed oil, the coconut oil, fish oils and tallow. Right now it is seven cents bid. Last year it was four and a half—so you see we have a right to be optimistic."

SIX FROM VICTORIA

Seven vessels—the Kodiak, Unimak, Paterson, Aberdeen, Moran, Westport and Tanginak—are being outfitted to-day in Seattle, for sailing in a few weeks. Six more will come from Victoria, B.C. Bases of the fleet will be at Port Hobren on Kodiak Island, Akutan, Aleutian Islands; Rose Harbor and Naden Harbor, in the Queen Charlotte group.

Formerly a whaling ship was no bed of roses, so far as smell was concerned. Now they are clean as battleships, because instead of cutting the slain whale to bits and boiling out the oil on ship, they let the whale bases do the dirty work.

"Thar she blows!" comes the ancient cry from the crow's nest, but there the resemblance of old times ends. Instead of a whale boat putting out to harpoon the monster by hand, a gun on the ship booms, and a harpoon, aimed by a Norseman who draws a regular salary and a bonus of $7.50 to $15 for each whale, thuds into the monster.

When it is dead air is pumped into the whale and it is towed to the works on shore for extraction of oils.

The ships are faster, and there is not so much danger to the crew, except from the sudden storms of the North Pacific Ocean and the Bering Sea, but the sturdy, blunt nosed little vessels will disregard weather when prosperity seems in sight.

Schrupp, operating an American and a Canadian whaling company, said he produced 36,000 barrels of whale oil last year, and expects to do better in 1935, with prices doubled.

THOUGHT LOST IN CARIBBEAN

Twenty-two Persons Still Missing After Excursion Boat Met Disaster

Castries, St. Lucia, Feb. 26.—Searching craft combed the shark-infested Caribbean waters to-day for the bodies of twenty-two holiday-makers believed to have perished with six others in the capsizing of a heavily-laden Sunday excursion boat three miles offshore.

Six dead lay in the little village of Laborie, taken out of the water near the overturned hull of the thirteen-ton motor launch St. George, and seventy-four survivors of what had been a rollicking band of excursionists waited in the village for news of the missing friends who had set out with them from Choiseul Sunday.

There was virtually no hope any would be found alive, aside from the bare possibility a few may have been imprisoned above water in the vessel after she turned turtle from a sudden rush of passengers to her port side. What caused the fatal rush was not made clear. It was almost certain the missing had met death by drowning or from the sharks.

Among those unaccounted for was Henry Eudoxie, a graduate in agriculture of Macdonald College, Ste Anne de Bellevue, Que.

Disaster struck the little ship just three miles off the village, as she headed back for Choiseul, on the southwest coast, after a day of holiday-ing. Residents on shore, powerless to aid, could see the vessel lurch and saw her passengers plunged into the water and try to climb back up her slippery bottom.

MAN LOSES HIS FIGHT FOR LIFE

Tyler, Texas, Feb. 26—W. A. Strange—the man who "died" and was revived five minutes later with an adrenalin injection into his stilled heart—died yesterday, five days after first being pronounced "dead."

The seventy-one-year-old former sheriff of Smith County had been kept alive meanwhile by use of an oxygen tent.

WILL APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT

Edmonton, Feb. 26.—Appeal in the MacMillan-Brownlee damage action will not be carried direct to the Privy Council in London, but probably will be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada. This became apparent yesterday when the time limit for the direct appeal had passed without commencement of action by Neil D. MacLean, K.C., counsel for Vivian MacMillan and her father, A. D. MacMillan of Edson, in their action for damages against John E. Brownlee, M.P.P., former Alberta Premier.

Court rules on direct appeals to the Privy Council call for application to the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta within three weeks of the filing of judgment by that body. Three weeks ago Saturday the appeal court rejected the appeals of Miss MacMillan and her father from an adverse lower court decision.

CANADA SEIZED 581 VESSELS

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—From 1930 to the end of 1934 a total of 581 vessels were seized for violation of customs law, a return tabled in the House of Commons said. Of these, 144 were sold, forty destroyed, 348 released on penalty, forty-six released without penalty and six have not yet been disposed of.

NEW CAPTAIN FOR EMPRESS

Capt. W. T. Kinley to Succeed Capt. H. James on Ss. Empress of Russia

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Canadian Pacific Steamship circles announced yesterday that Capt. W. T. Kinley, staff captain on R.M.S. Empress of Canada, will succeed Capt. H. James as commander of R.M.S. Empress of Russia shortly. Capt. James, recently appointed to the transpacific liner, will reach the age limit in a few weeks and will be retired after completing the present voyage and the next scheduled.

Capt. Kinley has been an officer with the Canadian Pacific Steamship service since 1916.

The Empress of Canada sails to-day from Hongkong en route here. On board will be Capt. A. J. Holland, marine superintendent, and R. R. Liddell, superintendent engineer for Canadian Pacific Steamships Ltd. at Vancouver.

Grain trading at the Merchants' Exchange was quiet yesterday but a total of 2,000 tons space was booked at 17 shillings.

Danish East Asiatic Ms. Java, at present at Tacoma, will make a call at Ocean Falls when she enters Canadian waters. It will be the first time that vessels of this line have called at the paper port, where she will load 1,500 tons of paper for the Orient.

Ms. Bonnington Court of the Vancouver-St. Lawrence Line will sail from here March 30, first ship loading on this Coast for Montreal. Ms. Lycia of the Vancouver-West Indies Line will sail March 15 for West Indies on the 114th sailing of the service.

The deepest port of Stockton, Calif., seventy-seven miles inland from San Francisco on the San Joaquin River, has added to its port industries in the past few weeks. A branch packing plant of a large European vegetable canning organization will be erected following the purchase of an eight-acre site. A San Francisco company is building a bean-cleaning plant and a lumber depot with a perpetual stock of 2,000,000 feet of fir and other lumber is approaching completion.

Members of the Municipal Council of West Vancouver yesterday announced that ferry No. 5, sunk in the First Narrows after a collision with Ss. Princess Alice several weeks ago, will not be repaired and negotiations have been opened for purchase of Mv. Norval, owned by the Powell River Co. Ltd. The Norval at present is being used by directors between here and Powell River. Although considerable reconstruction would be necessary to convert it into a ferry it would be the largest and fastest of the municipal fleet.

REAR-ADMIRAL EXONERATED

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Portsmouth, Eng., Feb. 26.—An Admiralty courtmartial to-day found Rear-Admiral Sidney Robert Bailey, the first officer of his rank to go on trial since the Great War, not guilty of responsibility for the recent collision of the battlecruisers Hood and Renown.

A court of nine naval officers, ranging in rank from captains to admirals, exonerated the commander of the battlecruiser squadron from the charge of having "hazarded" the two big warships during manoeuvres off the Spanish coast in January, when both were damaged.

Captain F. T. B. Power of the Hood and Captain H. R. Sawbridge of the Renown are also to face courtmartial.

Rear-Admiral Bailey, first to be charged as the courtmartial opened with full ceremony, pleaded not guilty. The charge was that negligently or by default on January 23 he suffered the Hood and Renown to be "hazarded."

Nine officers, ranging in rank from admirals to captains, formed the court. All were seated at a huge oval table while the courtroom accommodated 300 spectators, half naval men and the rest the public.

Paymaster Siddals was judge advocate, Vice-Admiral James, known in the navy as "Bubbles," was the "prisoner's friend," and Rear-Admiral J. A. Troup, navigation expert, was the prosecutor.

The proceedings were taken under the Naval Discipline Act of 1866. First a letter from Troup was read, in which it was stated that Rear-Admiral Bailey appeared to blame in that having ordered the Renown too close on the Hood during manoeuvres he failed to take action to prevent development of a situation in which risk of collision arose.

Commanding Officer E. V. Lees, navigating officer of the 42,000-ton Hood, testified that orders of the Admiral were to be obeyed absolutely. When the signal was hoisted to form single line ahead he estimated the Renown was some nine cables length from the Hood. But before the collision he heard no orders from Admiral Bailey to the flag-captain in charge of the Hood.

As near as he could judge, Commanding Officer Lees added, two minutes elapsed between the order for the Hood to turn from the Renown and the actual collision. The captain was then in charge of the ship.

ELEVEN BOYS WENT TO SEA

Report of Commanding Officer of Rainbow Sea Cadets Tells of Splendid Work

Eleven members of the Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps of Victoria were found berths on deep-sea vessels during last year, and there is a possibility of another being placed in the near future, the report of Lieut-Commander F. W. Tribe, read to the annual meeting of the Victoria and Island branch of the Navy League of Canada yesterday evening, showed. Two boys also joined H.M.S. Conway in England.

The attendance during the year was very good, the report said, the average being 88 per cent. The two gigs were in good shape, and were ready for service as soon as the weather permitted. He suggested in his report that the matter of obtaining a larger boat should be considered, as owing to the greatly increased strength of the corps the two small gigs were inadequate.

GOOD TRAINING

The band made steady progress during the year, the report noted. Steady progress was made in all subjects, including bends and hitches, knots and splices, compass, lead lines, anchors and cables, rule of the road, seamanship, signals, general seamanship, and shooting. Signal practice was carried out under the supervision of C. Wilson.

The corps took part in the St. George's Day ceremonies at the Drill Hall; the Remembrance Day ceremonies at the Parliament Buildings, and the service at Christ Church Cathedral, and the Trafalgar Day ceremonies at the Parliament Buildings and the Drill Hall.

Special mention was made at the meeting of the recent victory of the cadets in winning the King George V Marksmanship Cup, denoting superiority in the Dominion of Canada and Capt. Walter Brown, instructor, was congratulated on the success of his boys.

SAYS GOLD STILL HAS BIG FUTURE

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Johannesburg, South Africa, Feb. 26.—The confident assertion that gold will retain a high value whatever monetary standard the nation may fix, was made yesterday by John Martin, president of the Transvaal Chambers of Mines.

Addressing the fifth Imperial Press Conference now sitting here, he said the dangers of a monetary standard that could be effectively divorced from gold were not imaginary, but even if more countries or all countries, should leave the gold standard at its old parity, the part gold would play in the monetary affairs of the world would still be pre-eminent.

RESCUE CREW IS HONORED

New York, Feb. 26.—Herbert L. Satterlee, president of the Life Saving Benevolent Association of New York, pinned gold medals on Capt. J. G. P. Bisset and Lieut. Pollitt of the Cunard-White Star liner Ascania last Wednesday for the part they played in rescuing the captain and eight members of the crew of the Ss. Unworth in midatlantic on December 14.

To the members of the boat crew which performed the rescue, Mr. Satterlee presented $100 to each in cash, in addition to a bronze medal. The presentations were made on the deck of the Ascania. With Mr. Satterlee during the ceremonies were: Sir Gerald Campbell, British consul-general in New York; Robert H. Blake, general manager of the Cunard-White Star Line; William D. Winter, vice-president of the Life Saving Benevolent Association; Rev. Harold H. Kelley, superintendent of the Seamen's Church Institute; Capt. Marcus H. Tracy, Benjamin Merkelen Jr., and Capt. Henry C. McConkey, superintendent of the Cunard-White Star Line.

Capt. Bisset, in replying, said that he and his men only did what any men of the sea would have done under the circumstances and said it was an honor to be in a position to render the services for which they were so highly rewarded by a representative American body.

Mr. Blake said: "The Cunard-White Star Line is very proud of its seagoing staff officers and men. For nearly 100 years men of the Cunard and White Star Lines have been sailing the seas and have been called upon to meet every sort of condition and emergency. Always they have done so with courage, efficiency and devotion to duty."

HERE ON TRIP FROM ENGLAND

N. B. Perkins, Member of Lloyd's of London, Arrives By Ms. Pacific Reliance

Norman B. Perkins, prominent business man of London, and a member of Lloyds, was a visitor to Victoria yesterday evening, accompanied by Mrs. Perkins. They arrived by the Furness motor-liner Pacific Reliance, on which they are making the round trip from England and return, via the Panama Canal.

Mr. Perkins is connected with the firm of Robert Gardner, Mountain and Company of 3 Old Broad Street, London. He has traveled widely and will be back in Victoria in September, to sail by the motorship Aorangi on a business visit to Australia.

The Pacific Reliance, with Capt H. J. Young on the bridge, reached the Ogden Point piers yesterday evening at 7.15 o'clock, coming here from the United Kingdom, via the Panama Canal, California ports and Seattle. She proceeded to Vancouver shortly after midnight, after discharging 150 tons of cargo here and loading some lumber for London.

In the cargo left at Victoria was a large parcel of fresh fruits and vegetables from southern California.

Passengers aboard from England, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Perkins, were: Charles H. Beadnell, Harry Head and Guy F. W. Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon P. Fay of Los Angeles were also aboard, making the round trip to ports in the Pacific Northwest.

Annual Meeting Marked By Enthusiasm as Reports Show Splendid Work Done; Capt. R. W. McMurray and Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown Added to Executive

Affairs of the Victoria and Island Division of the Navy League of Canada are in excellent shape and the boys of the Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps, who are sponsored by the branch, have acquitted themselves honorably in their various activities, it was shown at the annual meeting held yesterday evening in the clubrooms of the Naval Veterans' Branch, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. A drop in membership was the only unsatisfactory item noted in the annual reports.

Commander C. H. R. Slingsby, R.N., vice-president, in the absence of Col. F. A. Lindsay, president, occupied the chair and read the president's report, which noted that the annual assessment to headquarters of $200 had been reduced to $100, thanks to Admiral Story's efforts at the annual meeting of the Dominion Council. The Sea Cadets had been inspected during the year, the report said, by Capt. E. MacBrayne, district cadet officer; Commander G. C. Jones, R.C.N., commander-in-charge at the Esquimalt Naval Station, and Major-General E. C. Ashton, D.O.C. Military District No. 11.
